

A HOUSE AT STONY HOLLOW

THE RURAL POOR: Helpless - Hopeless

By RAY TYSON
First of Three Articles

December has arrived and the perennial promise of a hard winter lies ahead.

Already snow caps the mountains and more will fall in the months to come—accompanied by howling winds and sub-freezing temperatures.

For most it is the month of roast duck, piping hot puddings, mistletoe, fir trees and Christmas. The cold is obliterated in a steaming swirl of Yuletide punch. But if you are poor, especially rural poor, it can be hell.

Ulster County, like most upstate sections, has its cavities of poverty. Along smooth surfaced highways, behind manicured forests, aside majestic hills, people reside in sordid squalor. Their plight is seldom seen; it is often never heard.

Stanley Leyton, director of Ulster County's Community Action, estimates between 17 and 18 per cent of the area's residents are presently living in poverty. He says two-thirds this figure are rural poor. Others believe his estimate too moderate.

Categorically, the disinherited fall into three classifications—the old, the former small farmer, and the traditional laborer whose occupation has been eased-out. Each is beset by singular problems, governed by assorted variables and share a common fate—poverty.

The elderly are the most pathetic of the lot. Shattered by fixed incomes, little savings and too often dependent upon overburdened children, many seniors are forced to face their remaining days shrouded in despair and poor health.

According to Leyton, complicating this condition is fierce pride. He notes, "For the greater majority these persons are conservatively oriented. They don't want to go on welfare and they are not familiar with the various agencies and programs that will alleviate some of their misery."

Typical Case

Such a case is an old couple who reside in a converted barn along Route 44-55 in the Town of Clintondale. For identification purposes this article will call them Mr. and Mrs. Jones, although that's not their real name.

The Jones' have entered the December of their years. Both are near eighty, if not older, sick and impoverished. They

City Sales Tax Starts in '68

By HUGH REYNOLDS

With only three aldermen opposing, the Kingston Common Council last night approved a two per cent city sales tax, effective March 1. The passage was considered a major victory for Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, who, only last Friday afternoon, sent the aldermen a communication asking for the two per cent levy.

Chamber of Commerce President S. James Matthews Scores Council's Action. Also, the County Supervisors may Look Into A County Tax. See Stories on Page 13.

All three "no votes" came from Republicans. These included Aldermen Robert Schantz (Second Ward), John Naccarato (Third Ward) and John Machione (12th Ward). Also voicing opposition were Peter O. Allen, executive vice-president of the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce, speaking on behalf of Chamber President S. James Matthews; and Stanley London, vice-president of the Uptown Businessmen's Association.

Allen said a Kingston city sales tax would do "irrefutable damage" to the city's retail trade. He noted that the Chamber condemnation of Garraghan's sales tax proposal had "been done in a rather hurried manner but this entire piece of legislation had the looks of a rush job."

Allen said his organization could look favorably on a regional sales tax which would include neighboring counties.

Allen noted that the chamber can understand Garraghan's arguments that the city needs more money and would give serious consideration to modifications of the sales tax plan. He asked that the sales tax plan be held in abeyance and alternatives considered.

Unfair Tax: London

London then took the floor asking for "fair and equitable treatment with our competition." He said, "We're now fighting for our lives. Passing this city-only sales tax will be like stepping on the fingers of a man who is hanging from a cliff."

The owner of London's on 33 North Front Street continued, "A Kingston-only tax is an unfair tax. It's like cutting off your nose to spite your face. Uptown Kingston is a highly valued piece of real estate as witnessed by the millions of dollars poured into the area by federal, state and local agencies for urban renewal."

"Gentlemen, I ask you to reconsider before you blithely sign this legislation into law," London concluded.

Naccarato attempted just that by offering a motion to table the resolution. Said the three-term Third Ward alderman and president of the Central Broadway Businessmen's Association, "No one can vote intelligently on this proposal. We've only had it since Friday. We need more time to study it."

There's a lot of questions to be answered."

Naccarato's motion was seconded by Schantz and defeated by a 9-6 vote.

That vote went smoothly and the fate of the motion had been decided by the time it got to Machione. He took the floor and said, "I have just one question. How much is Garraghan going to lower the general tax rate with this two per cent sales tax?"

T. Robert Gallo (D-Ninth Ward) chairman of the Finance Ways and Means Committee, by way of answering Machione's questions said, "I don't attempt to speak for Mayor Garraghan. However, at a Finance Committee meeting Mr. Machione said he had no questions."

Machione interjected, "I just asked how much this is going to lower the tax rate."

Gallo: "According to Mayor Garraghan, this two per cent sales tax will bring in some $800,000 in revenue. He expects his budget to rise between $10 and $14 a thousand of assessed valuation. Mr. Machione was a chairman of the Finance Committee. Let him figure it out."

Machione repeated his question and was answered by Koenig who explained that every dollar on the tax rate represents $40,000 that has to be raised.

The vote to consider the motion then was taken, being the same as that to pass it, 10-3. The council recessed returning to hear City Clerk Thomas R. Lyle read most of the 28-page resolution. The reading took almost two hours and Lyle's voice faltered halfway through

Dutchess Lawyer's Hat in Ring

The first commitment to seek a Congressional nomination in the 28th District in 1968 came today from Poughkeepsie lawyer, G. Gordon Liddy, a Republican.

It was the first officially announced candidacy, Republican or Democrat, to come forth since Democrat incumbent Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick declared in early November that he would seek the senatorial seat now occupied by Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Liddy, a 37-year-old former FBI man is one of a long list of already-mentioned GOP hopefuls who have been thought to be actively interested in the Republican nomination.

No Democrats Yet

The Democrats, with an equally lengthy list have yet to have one of their number make formal announcement.

In declaring his candidacy, Liddy said he intends to "fill the huge Congressional leadership vacuum in the 28th District."

"I intend to represent," he said, "that great, unorganized majority; those men and women who are so busy working hard for a living, in shops, stores, farms, plants and offices, that haven't the time nor the inclination to parade around with self-pitying signs. The people who work and wash; who are sucked dry by taxes, victimized by coded criminals, given a big smile on election day, and then contemptuously ignored for the next two years."

The father of five, Liddy was a supervisor at FBI National Headquarters in Washington and has been an attorney for the past ten years. He practiced international trademark law in New York City prior to embarking on a public career two years ago.

As a prosecutor in the Dutchess County District Attorney's office, he has been concentrating on the suppression of illicit drug traffic in the Mid-Hudson area.

Liddy is a member of the Rotary, American Legion, National Rifle Association, American Bar Association and a society for former FBI agents.

At least eight other Republicans in the five counties of the district are reportedly being "considered" as possible contenders.

Fish Ranks High

Ranking high on the list is the GOP's last and unsuccessful Congressional candidate, Hamilton Fish Jr.

Fish's opposition in the primary for that race, Alexander Aldrich, also appears again as a possibility this time around. Aldrich is head of the Hudson River Valley Commission and a cousin of Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Both Fish and Aldrich are Dutchess County residents, as is Sen. Jay Rollison, another man thought to be interested.

Out of counties to the north come Charles Clay, of Greene, who served as a Constitutional Convention delegate, and John Barry, a former campaign manager for Fish and owner of public relations firms in Poughkeepsie and Catskill.

In the Ulster County area the name of S. James Matthews keeps cropping up. Matthews, a Kingston attorney, was a delegate to the Constitutional Convention and has been busily filling many speaking engagements in Ulster and Dutchess County in recent months.

Then there is city businessman George Svirsky, who was campaign manager for the GOP mayoral nominee, C. John Bechtold, and assistant district attorney, Robert MacKinnon.

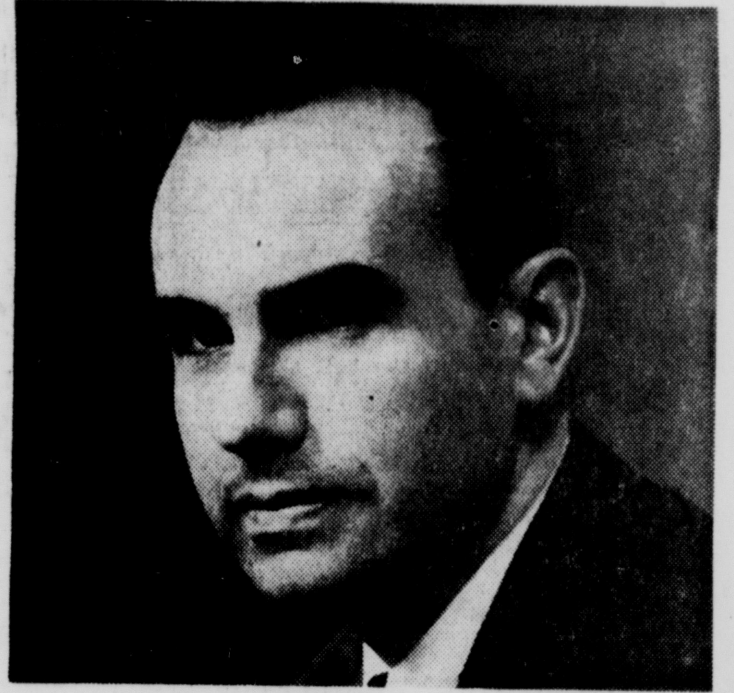

The Democrats too, have an impressive number of possible contenders from a variety of counties.

Eric Lindbloom, Liberal, peace candidate in the last Congressional race, is reported to be interested in trying again.

He is reportedly joined by another Dutchess County resident, Poughkeepsie Mayor Horace Graham, a perennial favorite.

Then there is Hillary Masters of Columbia County, a twice defeated Assembly candidate and three men from Ulster County whose names have been advanced. Peter Rakov of Woodstock, assistant to the president of Rotron Inc., has enjoyed Congressman Resnick's favor; Roger Mabie, minority leader on the Ulster County Board of Supervisors is well thought of and Glenn Van Bramer, former Resnick aide and candidate for the Constitutional Convention is a likely contender.

The City of Kingston's two-time mayor, Raymond A. Garraghan, fresh from an overwhelming victory at the polls last month also comes up as a bright possibility on the Democrat horizon.

Teeming Rain and Heavy Fog Bring the Miseries to Ulster

By JEAN F. DOLAN

Teeming rain and banks of fog shrouded Ulster County today causing some minor flooding in isolated areas.

Throughout the county streams were running high, though not at flood stage, with the accumulated melting snow and steady rain which has plagued the northeast since Sunday.

Predictions are for possible thundershowers today before a clearing trend makes its presence known, hopefully late today.

Some Flooding

In the city, the Department of Public Works had several reports of flooded catch basins. Deep puddles were noted along a number of lower roadways. The Rondout Creek, swollen by rain, hit a really high tide at 10:22 this morning.

The Sawkill and streams in the Mink Hollow area were running swift and high this morning with rain showing no sign of abating immediately.

At the city's Cooper Lake

Reservoir accumulated rainfall was registered at 1:43 inches at 8 a. m. Estimates placed the total at twice that by the end of this particular storm.

Guarded Optimism

In assessing the overall water picture for the year, Edmund Cloonan, superintendent of the city water department, spoke with guarded optimism. He noted that as of December 11, 29.83 inches of rain had been recorded, down approximately five per cent from the 45 year average of 43.64 for the 11-month period.

Rainfall amounts were down for eight of the eleven months during 1967 with only June and July registering above average amounts of water.

Rainfall during the month of December up to this morning has been 2.88 inches. Average for the entire month was 3.92 inches.

Ironically, heaviest rainfall for the holiday month was recorded in 1957 at the beginning of the drought which has been the bug-a-boo of the northeast for the past several years. December rainfall that year was 10.43 inches.

Yearly average is 47.56 inches, based on recordings over the past 45 years.

Water Supply Full

Cloonan said the city's water supply at Cooper Lake has been full since last November with only a few weeks at three feet below maximum capacity during the year.

With today's damp, dank adding to existing supplies, December should make the grade water-wise, even if the Santa Claus crowd does have some worried moments about a white Christmas.

Speech Phoned to Grossinger's

Mideast Policy Vacuum Risk: McCarthy

By LYNN MULVANEY

GROSSINGER—Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy last night requested a reduction in U.S.-Soviet tensions as a means of solving the problem of enduring peace in the Middle East.

Speaking via telephone from New York City's Plaza Hotel, the Minnesota Democrat told a huge delegation of Mizrahi Women at Grossinger's Hotel, "The U.S. policy vacuum in the Middle East is a grave risk, not only to Israel but to American security."

Bad Weather

Sen. McCarthy had been scheduled as keynote speaker at a dinner planned in his honor by the women's Zionist organization but was forced to cancel due to weather.

"Tension is greater because of the war in Vietnam," he claimed.

"We simply do not have the means; not the physical means—with most of our military might tied up in Southeast Asia; not the diplomatic means—with much of our government committed to devising plans for remaking an Asian Society in an American image.

"Nor do we have the moral energy—we are dissipating it in Southeast Asia."

McCarthy, who plans an anti-war campaign challenge to President Johnson in four 1968 primaries, attacked the administration for distributing arms throughout the Middle East region and justifying it to the American public as a policy helpful to Israel. "It is difficult to see how arming the Arabs is going to help Israel," he said.

The recipient of the Mizrahi 1967 American-Israel Friendship Award, Sen. McCarthy received the honor as "a person of Jewish faith who has contributed most deeply to understanding between the peoples of the United States and Israel. Former winners include Eleanor Roosevelt, Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas and former President Harry S. Truman.

Suez Use

McCarthy, who suggested Sunday that the United States concede some areas of South Vietnam to the Viet Cong in a bid to generate peace talks also asked last night that the U. S. unequivocally affirm the international character of the waters of Akaba and The Strait of Tiran. He also advocated the U. S. assert, support and assure the right of all nations to use the Suez Canal.

He would have the U. S. work toward assuring Israel's right to life and existence and have it recognized by all nations.

He asked that there be renewed vigor in working toward a solution to the Arab refugee problem.

And, "We should support," he said, "with other nations, if possible, the border adjustments necessary to assure Israel the security to which that nation has the right and also to give assurance and stability to those Arab nations which have shown an interest in peace and order."

McCarthy suggested a treaty with other powers and the support of the United Nations.

Cuban Crisis

Going back four years to the Cuban crisis, he reminded the women that there was hope for an easing of tensions between the U. S. and the Soviet in the wake of the Cuban missile crisis.

"This was the period that saw the conclusion of the nuclear test ban treaty and the promise held out by President Kennedy's speech at American University which looked forward to a new era in U. S. relations with the Soviet Union." Today much of this has been lost, he lamented, and tension is greater because of the war in Vietnam.

Council Gives City Clerk Endorsement, Ovation

Interpreted as Critical
Lyle's endorsement followed an afternoon newscast which some aldermen apparently interpreted as critical to Lyle. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan reportedly said in the interview that Lyle was getting a lot of trouble from the Council and should quit because of it. This was apparently interpreted to mean that Garraghan wanted Lyle to resign.

Lyle was appointed by former Mayor John J. Schwenk and took office Dec. 27, 1965. Said Schwenk at the time of the appointment, "I am looking forward to working with Mr. Lyle. He is an industrious man, highly efficient and well qualified for the post of city clerk." Lyle replaced Walter S. Foster.

Last night, the aldermen concurred with Mayor Schwenk. Praise for Lyle came from both sides of the aisle. Said James Howard (D-10th Ward), majority leader, "Bud

THOMAS R. LYLE

Lyle has done a tremendous job as city clerk. Both the city and the council have benefitted from his performance as city clerk."

Available to Both

has been equally available to both parties. Anytime I've called him for information or help on something he's always been most cooperative and courteous."

Francis R. Koenig, council president: "Gentlemen, this may be out of order, but I think under the circumstances it's allowable. (The council president does not comment on motions or resolutions from his chair). "I too have nothing but the highest praise for Bud Lyle. He is indeed an outstanding public servant, a credit to the council and the city."

'Progress Is Never Expensive:' LBJ

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today, in dedicating a new junior college, that "the time has come for these Americans who believe in progress to convince the doubters."

Johnson said the quest for educational excellence, abolition of poverty, better health, economic stability and world peace will succeed—"if we stay on the course."

His remarks were prepared for ceremonies at Central Texas College.

The President, who flew to Killeen from his ranch near Johnson City, was headed back for Washington after the dedication. AFL-CIO officials hoped he would stop off at their convention in Miami Beach, Fla., on the way. There was no official word on the plan.

The AFL-CIO gave cheering support Monday to Johnson's Vietnam policies.

At the dedication, the President noted the expansion of educational facilities and opportunities. "Yet still," he said, "there are those who oppose this kind of growth...There are some who tell us that it is too expensive; that it is too dangerous; that the effort cannot succeed."

Johnson argued that progress

in America can never be too expensive. He said: "It is sickness and ignorance and discrimination and crime which cost too much...It is not action but inaction that costs too much."

The President said colleges like Central Texas are being established at the rate of one a week.

"In the past six years," he said, "the number of young people going to college from poor homes has risen by more than 12 per cent."

"In those years, the number of high school dropouts has dropped—from 25 per cent to only 18 per cent of young people between 16 and 24 years old."

Johnson said that these years, like those of growth on the frontier, "are noisy with the sound of controversy." But he said: "That should not daunt us—any more than it daunted the settlers of yesterday who sought a newer world."

Tobin Is Speaker At NAACP Meeting

James Tobin, director of Kingston Consolidated Board of Education, also participated. During the discussion period a question was raised by Mrs. Leonard VanDyke of 12 Stuyvesant Street as to why there was no Negro culture course offered in the schools.

The reply was that it was not known if there were a Negro culture course offered but it could be put into the curriculum as an elective. Reynolds took the floor and advocated a history course that incorporated all the contributions of all groups, be they Negro, Polish, Irish or any nationality or ethnic group. Reynolds' statement that each group has made contributions to the American way of life and should receive proper recognition was applauded by those in attendance.

The meeting was chaired by NAACP president Everett Hodge. Milton Reynolds, recently reelected member of the

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two more servicemen from Upstate New York have been killed in the Vietnam war.

Lt. Col. Domingo I. Aguilar of Ithaca, commander of the Army's 299th Engineering Battalion, died Saturday of injuries suffered when struck by a helicopter rotor, his parents have learned.

Aguilar, 39, entered the Army in 1948 after graduation from the Rochester Institute of Technology. He had been in Vietnam since September.

He leaves the widow, Shirley, and their eight children, all of Miami, Fla., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Domingo S. Aguilar of Ithaca.

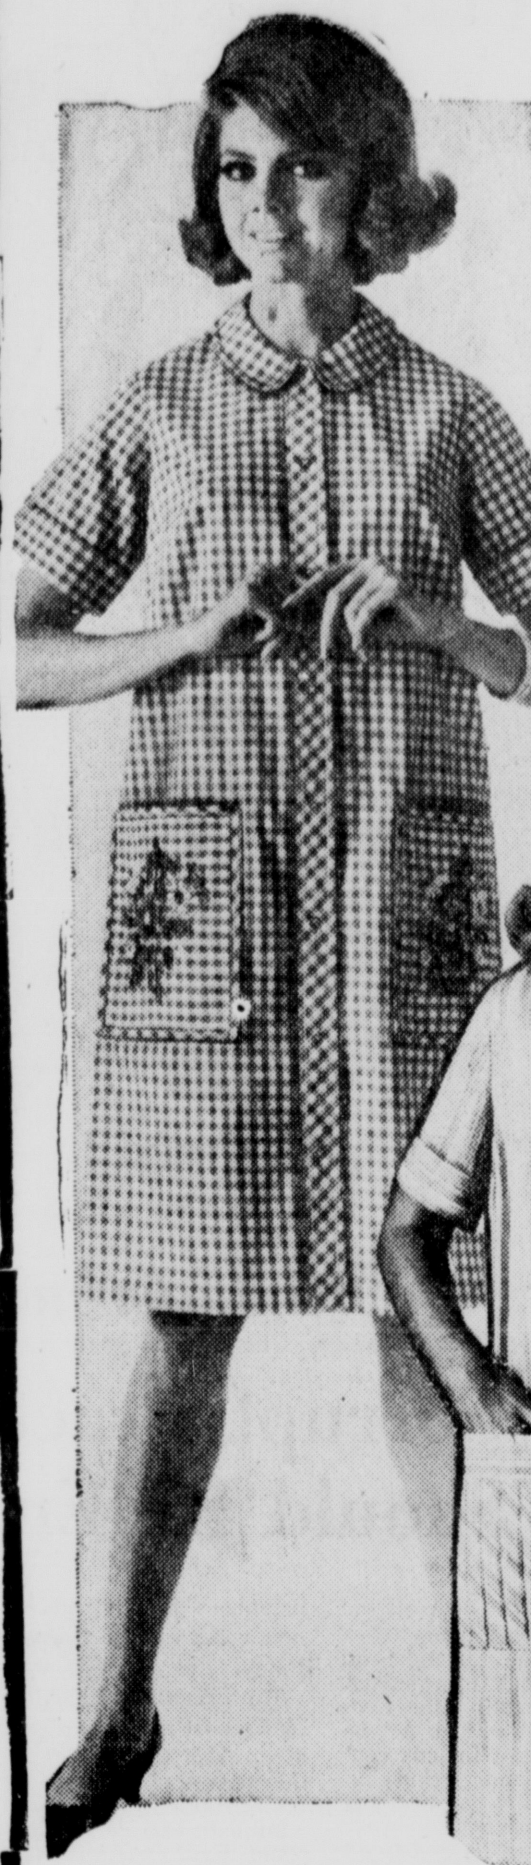

Army Pfc. Mark Cullen, 19, of Niagara Falls, was killed Friday by a sniper's bullet, his parents said.

He joined the Army after graduation from high school in June 1966 and was sent to Vietnam last October as an automatic rifleman with the 173rd Airborne Brigade.

Cullen was born in Auburn, where his grandparents live. His father, James J. Cullen, is a U.S. Immigration officer.

He leaves his parents, grandparents, three brothers and three sisters.

Council Gives City Clerk Endorsement, Ovation

Interpreted as Critical

Lyle's endorsement followed an afternoon newscast which some aldermen apparently interpreted as critical to Lyle. Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan reportedly said in the interview that Lyle was getting a lot of trouble from the Council and should quit because of it. This was apparently interpreted to mean that Garraghan wanted Lyle to resign.

Lyle was appointed by former Mayor John J. Schwenk and took office Dec. 27, 1965. Said Schwenk at the time of the appointment, "I am looking forward to working with Mr. Lyle. He is an industrious man, highly efficient and well qualified for the post of city clerk." Lyle replaced Walter S. Foster.

Last night, the aldermen concurred with Mayor Schwenk. Praise for Lyle came from both sides of the aisle. Said James Howard (D-10th Ward), majority leader, "Bud

THOMAS R. LYLE

Lyle has done a tremendous job as city clerk. Both the city and the council have benefitted from his performance as city clerk."

Available to Both
John Machione (R-12th Ward), minority leader: "Bud

dy has been equally available to both parties. Anytime I've called him for information or help on something he's always been most cooperative and courteous."

Francis R. Koenig, council president: "Gentlemen, this may be out of order, but I think under the circumstances it's allowable. (The council president does not comment on motions or resolutions from his chair). "I too have nothing but the highest praise for Bud Lyle. He is indeed an outstanding public servant, a credit to the council and the city."

'Progress Is Never Expensive:' LBJ

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

KILLEEN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today, in dedicating a new junior college, that "the time has come for these Americans who believe in progress to convince the doubters." Johnson said the quest for educational excellence, abolition of poverty, better health, economic stability and world peace will succeed—"if we stay on the course."

His remarks were prepared for ceremonies at Central Texas College.

The President, who flew to Killeen from his ranch near Johnson City, was headed back for Washington after the dedication. AFL-CIO officials hoped he would stop off at their convention in Miami Beach, Fla., on the way. There was no official word on the plan.

The AFL-CIO gave cheering support Monday to Johnson's Vietnam policies.

At the dedication, the President noted the expansion of educational facilities and opportunities. "Yet still," he said, "there are those who oppose this kind of growth. There are some who tell us that it is too expensive; that it is too dangerous; that the effort cannot succeed."

Johnson argued that progress

in America can never be too expensive. He said: "It is sickness and ignorance and discrimination and crime which cost too much...It is not action but inaction that costs too much."

The President said colleges like Central Texas are being established at the rate of one a week.

"In the past six years," he said, "the number of young people going to college from poor homes has risen by more than 12 per cent."

"In those years, the number of high school dropouts has dropped—from 25 per cent to only 18 per cent of young people between 16 and 24 years old."

Johnson said that these years, like those of growth on the frontier, "are noisy with the sound of controversy." But he said: "That should not daunt us—any more than it daunted the settlers of yesterday who sought a newer world."

Tobin Is Speaker At NAACP Meeting

James Tobin, director of Kingston Consolidated Board of Pupil Personnel in Kingston Schools Consolidated, was the featured speaker at a meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People last night at the New Central Baptist Church, 236 East Strand.

Tobin's theme was progress through education and he spoke at length of the programs Kingston schools have to help the underprivileged. He outlined programs from the three-year old Headstart Project which upgrades pre-kindergarten children to Kingston's comprehensive high school.

The meeting was chaired by NAACP president Everett Hodge. Milton Reynolds, recently reelected member of the Kingston Consolidated Board of Education, also participated.

During the discussion period a question was raised by Mrs. Leonard VanDyke of 12 Stuyvesant Street as to why there was no Negro culture course offered in the schools.

The reply was that it was not known if there were a Negro culture course offered but if sufficient interest were shown it could be put into the curriculum as an elective.

Reynolds took the floor and advocated a history course that incorporated all the contributions of all groups, be they Negro, Polish, Irish or any nationality or ethnic group. Reynolds' statement that each group has made contributions to the American way of life and should receive proper recognition was applauded by those in attendance.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, DECEMBER 12, 1967

Inclusive War Machine

"I submit that there is almost no major corporation that is not contributing in some way to the Vietnam war regardless of the points of view of its executives," Thomas Watson Jr., president of International Business Machine Corporation, wrote in a letter published in The Brown Daily Herald, student publication of Brown University, his alma mater.

I.B.M. itself produces bomb sites for B-52 bombers, for instance. Supplies for modern war are so varied every major firm in the United States is involved in war production of one form or another. To single out any one of them for demonstrations and to try to interfere with them is patently unfair and discriminatory.

Watson was concerned with the fact that the Brown action council had begun a drive asking alumni to withhold contributions to the university until Brown drops its investment in Dow Chemical, because it manufactures napalm for use in Vietnam. This followed demonstrations on campuses across the country to evict recruiters from Dow.

To suggest that a manufacturing company should, by itself, circumvent the democratic process and refuse to sell one of its products to its own government is "ridiculous in the extreme," Watson said. Brown student action amounts to discrimination against public officials and privately-owned companies simply because they might hold views that differ from those held by some students.

"This is ominously reminiscent of similar interferences abroad years ago, which though relatively unimportant in the beginning ended with profound restrictions of human rights and other dire results," Watson wrote. This was a reference to strongarm interferences that brought on totalitarian states in the Soviet Union, Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy.

With labor loyal to the country, students are being stirred indirectly to interfere with production for the war. It is a nefarious attempt which can only prolong the war and add to the cost in human lives.

U.S. Meat Standards

Within the next two years, all meats sold in this country will be inspected to federal standards, whether in interstate trade or not. This was assured when Senate and House conferees agreed on a meat inspection bill that will extend federal standards to all meat packing and processing plants.

It was the first change in meat inspection in 60 years. Passed by overwhelming majorities in both houses, it was a great victory for American housewives, aroused over the intelligence that many plants that rendered meats for interstate trade distributed unclean and adulterated products dangerous to public health.

The bill stemmed from disclosures over the years of unsanitary conditions and adulterated meat in some 15,000 plants selling wholly within the states and thus outside federal jurisdiction. These plants produce 9 million pounds, about 15 per cent of all slaughtered meat, and 25 per cent of all processed meat. Federal inspection covers the 85 per cent of meat moving in interstate commerce.

The bill authorized matching Federal grants to states to enable them to make their state inspection systems for intrastate plants at least equal to federal standards. States will have two years to comply, with the Secretary of Agriculture empowered to step in and impose federal standards where necessary.

The federal inspection service now costs $47 million a year. The new extension will add from $30 million to $50 million a year. It is a very small price to pay to protect people from bad meat and assure every American family that the meat on their table will be safe and fit for human consumption.

In 1942, The Wall Street Journal pioneered the newsstand price of 10 cents per copy for its nationally distributed newspaper. Effective January 1, the newsstand price will go to 15 cents. Newspapers laboring under increased cost of production wonder if again this will set a new ceiling on the newsstand price for daily newspapers in the country.

On the 50th anniversary as an independent republic, Finland stressed friendly relations both with East and West. President Urho Kekkonen, who said his country has no unsolved problems, said it looks forward toward the future, "as far as it depends on our own decisions." The point is Finland has in its short independence fought Russia twice, losing heavily both times, but exacting heavy tolls.

A new act of Congress prohibits discrimination against an individual solely because of age. It provides for penalties against employers who refuse to hire, or discharge or discriminate against persons between the age of 40 and 65. It is a tardy recognition of the new vitality brought on by extended life expectancy.

Corrupt Practices Act Should Be Enforced

WASHINGTON — Has the AFL-CIO become virtually a part of the Democratic party's political mechanism, and if so, shouldn't the Federal Corrupt Practices Act be enforced, since it forbids contributions of any kind by Labor Unions or corporations to a political party?

"Contributions" are defined in the law not merely as money but as "anything of value." This includes the time spent during regular office hours by union or business executives in helping to make political and congressional nominees. It is significant that neither the National Association of Manufacturers nor the U. S. Chamber of Commerce nor any other business organization takes such a part in political campaigns as does the AFL-CIO through the medium of an organization known as "COPE" — The Committee on Political Education.

During the meeting of the executive council of the AFL-CIO held at Miami in the last few days—which had on its program an address delivered in person by President Johnson — several utterances of political significance were heard. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, through a spokesman revealed the substance of his remarks on Saturday at a closed meeting of top labor leaders. He conceded that President Johnson could be defeated in 1968 without the 14 million members of the labor federation. Hence, he implied, it becomes important for labor-union members to go out and work among their neighbors and friends to solicit votes for the Democratic Party.

The executive Council's formal report made as cogent an analysis of the political situation that confronts the Democratic Party as anybody in the administration or in Congress could have written. It said that "public hostility toward legitimate Civil Rights progress will almost certainly stiffen as a result of urban violence." The existence, moreover, of "lethargy and fatalism" was noted, especially in the big population states "where there are decisive blocs of the electoral votes" as well as "important 1968 statewide elections and a considerable number of close House races."

While our involvement in the Vietnam war is pointed up as "a disturbing and divisive issue," public sentiment, according to the report, is equally divided between those who do and do not feel they have "a clear idea of what the Vietnam War is all about."

The Republicans, it is stressed, gained 47 seats in the 1966 elections for the House of Representatives, nearly all of the victors defeating "Liberals." So the report says:

"The luck of the draw is with Conservatives in 1968 as a larger number of Liberal incumbents will be running for statewide election in very marginal situations."

What should be done about it? The report advises that, each labor union member should help win support among the organizations to which he belongs, such as "social, religious, civic or neighborhood groups, in addition to his work-related associations." Likewise, the document emphasizes that "a successful political operation must comprise a number of simultaneous operations, tailored to fit the interests of the major groupings within the labor movement." The concluding statement reads as follows:

"We are resolved to marshal our forces more vigorously and efficiently than ever before so that we may more truly serve the best interests of all our own constituents — young and old, urban and suburban, black and white, affluent and poor."

These are legitimate aims, but is the method legal? If the Federal Corrupt Practices Act is not being violated, then the door should be opened to businessmen to address their employees or canvass them through a separate organization and present the other side of the case so that the citizen may make up his own mind how to vote.

Plainly, the Federal Corrupt Practices Act should be enforced or its provisions amended so that corporations can without fear of punitive measures set up associations or units in close relationships with the parent companies just as the labor unions do. The management of every business enterprise or professional firm has a right to support a "committee on political education" to work in a state and a community in order to reach everybody of voting age, including members of labor unions.

Drew Pearson Says

United States Lets Down Its Favored OAS Candidate

WASHINGTON—The hassling over a new Secretary General of the Organization of the American States highlights one of the most significant changes in Pan-American history.

In the old days the United States picked the Secretary General from a friendly Latin country and made sure he got elected. This time the United States has supported a man from the most anti-United States nation in South America, but hasn't lifted a finger to get him elected.

Of all South American countries, Ecuador has been the most anti-American. President Otto Arosemena Gomez flatly refused to sign the Summit Conference agreement between Pan-American presidents last April. He delivered a tirade against the United States to President Johnson's face, then last October booted out U. S. Ambassador Wymberly Coerr, giving him only 48 hours to pack up. Coerr, an able diplomat, had merely delivered a constructive speech regarding the Alliance for progress.

Despite this, the United States gave its blessing to an ex-president of Ecuador, Galo Plaza Lasso, to be the new Secretary General, choosing him because Plaza is by far the most experienced diplomat in the Western Hemisphere. He has represented the United Nations in the Congo, in Cyprus, and in Lebanon when Eisenhower landed troops there in 1957.

Galo Plaza has such experience and prestige that as Secretary General he would be just as likely to crack down on the United States as not. Despite this, and despite the unjustified high-handedness of Galo Plaza's country toward the United States, the State Department chose him for the most important diplomatic post in the Western Hemisphere, and has continued to back him.

No Wire-Pulling

It did not, however, engage in a lobbying campaign to put him across. The Johnson administration knows how to lobby when it wants to. During the Dominican crisis it pulled wires frantically and effectively to line up Latin votes to support an OAS police force. It sent Assistant Secretary Lincoln Gordon to Brazil, Ambassador Averell Harriman to Argentina, and Deputy Secretary Tom Mann to Mexico, to line up votes.

In the case of the current election to pick a Secretary General of the OAS, however, the United States expressed its support for Galo Plaza as the best man but engaged in no wire-pulling to elect him.

In contrast, the most vigorous pressure campaign in Pan-American history has been waged for other candidates, chiefly by Venezuela, Panama and certain representatives of the Dominican Republic.

Enrique Tejera-Paris, erudite ambassador of Venezuela, has been busy in Washington planting newspaper stories favorable to his candidate, ex-Foreign Minister Falcon Briceno. Ex-President Betancourt of Venezuela, who has just returned from Naples with his new wife, sent a cable to President Johnson almost demanding to know why the United States did not support Falcon.

The ex-minister of interior, Leandro Mora, flew to La Paz to line up the Bolivian vote, even though Venezuela for a long time refused to recognize the Bolivian government.

He landed at the airport, interviewed Foreign Minister Walter Guevara Arze, and thought he had Bolivia pledged to the Venezuelan candidate. Then he flew to Chile, to line up Chile's vote.

Venezuela Loses Out

But Panama was smarter. Not only did President Marco Robles get on the telephone to President Barrientos of Bolivia, but he sent to Bolivia former Foreign Minister Alberto Boyd, close friend of Barrientos. When President Barrientos has passed through Panama he was a guest at Boyd's home.

Ex-Foreign Minister Boyd did not merely stop at the La Paz airport. He drove into the city, spent some time with President Barrientos. In the end, Bolivia switched back to the Panamanian candidate. Bolivia has now switched its vote four times.

Venezuela's wire-pulling, however, was mild compared to the vote-lobbying of Ambassador Eduardo Ritter-Aislan of Panama. His president, Marco Robles, got on the telephone, not only to Barrientos of Bolivia but to various Latin American presidents, urging that they vote for Ritter. The president of Nicaragua, General Tachito Somoza, one of the few remaining Central American dictators, made a public statement demanding that all Central Americans support Ritter.

Ambassador Ritter himself flew back to Panama after four votes in the OAS still resulted in a deadlock. He addressed the Panamanian Assembly, claiming that the American press was prejudiced against Panama and him.

Earlier, Panama's deputy ambassador to the OAS had inferentially accused the United States of pressuring for votes, when absolutely no such pressure was being exerted.

Busy Dominican

Most flagrant pressure, however, was exerted by the No. 2 man in the OAS, Luis Raul Betances, a Dominican, who was decorated by Panama, and has a pledge from Panamanian Ritter that if he is elected, Betances will keep his job.

To rally votes for Ritter, Betances phoned Dominican Ambassador Enrique del Rosario, demanding that the Dominican Republic vote for him. Betances even threatened to intercede with President Balaguer to get Rosario fired if he did not vote for Ritter. Finally he told the Dominican that he had a gun in his drawer, insinuating that he might be compelled to use it if Rosario didn't change his vote.

Incensed at this threat, Ambassador Rosario summoned a meeting of OAS ambassadors to protest. Dr. Jose Mora, retiring Secretary General of the OAS, promptly fired Betances as No. 2 man in the OAS.

Meanwhile, the Dominican Republic, which has so much foreign aid money from the United States that it can't spend it all, had been voting against the candidate of the United States, Galo Plaza.

So goes the campaigning to elect a man who could serve as a constructive leader of the Western Hemisphere or become a glorified bureaucrat drawing a fat tax-free salary.

Republicans Are Working On Party's Campaign Themes

By JAMES MARLOW

AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We can do it better."

This is the basic argument of Democrats and Republicans in any presidential election year, like 1968, but right now the Republicans are trying to figure out what it is they can do better.

They're under a handicap since they don't know what it's going to be like in 1968. "Vice, Vandalism, and Vietnam" is one Republican's simplified answer for his party's campaign themes. It came from Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee.

It's too simplified since in politics one word leads to another, and by the time the campaign is half over—and probably before it gets started — Republicans and Democrats will be off in all directions.

But the Republicans are busy trying to set up some starting points, at least.

Republican governors met at Palm Beach, Fla. today to begin some campaign planning session, with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who insists he's not a presidential candidate to report on an in-depth study of possible issues.

Last month at Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met with a 15-member Republican task force on national defense policy to discuss GOP campaign tactics for next year.

Charting Strategy

Vietnam Costs

Editor, The Freeman:

Recently it has been suggested that the salary of the mayor of Kingston be raised by $5,000. Some people might object to this cost, but split up by the population of Kingston (about 25,000), it comes to less than two bits apiece.

The Administration is currently spending about 30 billion dollars a year for its actions in Vietnam, which comes to about $150 apiece when divided by the population. Let us suppose that, instead of wasting this money in Vietnam, these billions were used to benefit the people. If it was split up by population, then New York, with a population of about 16 million, would receive about two and a half billion dollars. In other words, without Vietnam, this money would have meant that there would have been no need for the recent bond issue. And that's just for this year.

I believe that the supporters of the Administration's actions in Vietnam are not interested in economy in government, no matter what else they might say. Conservatives please note.

Sincerely,
RONALD SOBIERAJ

Inclusive War Machine

"I submit that there is almost no major corporation that is not contributing in some way to the Vietnam war regardless of the points of view of its executives," Thomas Watson Jr., president of International Business Machine Corporation, wrote in a letter published in The Brown Daily Herald, student publication of Brown University, his alma mater.

I.B.M. itself produces bomb sites for B-52 bombers, for instance. Supplies for modern war are so varied every major firm in the United States is involved in war production of one form or another. To single out any one of them for demonstrations and to try to interfere with them is patently unfair and discriminatory.

Watson was concerned with the fact that the Brown action council had begun a drive asking alumni to withhold contributions to the university until Brown drops its investment in Dow Chemical, because it manufactures napalm for use in Vietnam. This followed demonstrations on campuses across the country to evict recruiters from Dow.

To suggest that a manufacturing company should, by itself, circumvent the democratic process and refuse to sell one of its products to its own government is "ridiculous in the extreme," Watson said. Brown student action amounts to discrimination against public officials and privately-owned companies simply because they might hold views that differ from those held by some students.

"This is ominously reminiscent of similar interferences abroad years ago, which though relatively unimportant in the beginning ended with profound restrictions of human rights and other dire results," Watson wrote. This was a reference to strongarm interferences that brought on totalitarian states in the Soviet Union, Nazi Germany and Fascist Italy.

With labor loyal to the country, students are being stirred indirectly to interfere with production for the war. It is a nefarious attempt which can only prolong the war and add to the cost in human lives.

U.S. Meat Standards

Within the next two years, all meats sold in this country will be inspected to federal standards, whether in interstate trade or not. This was assured when Senate and House conferees agreed on a meat inspection bill that will extend federal standards to all meat packing and processing plants.

It was the first change in meat inspection in 60 years. Passed by overwhelming majorities in both houses, it was a great victory for American housewives, aroused over the intelligence that many plants that rendered meats for interstate trade distributed unclean and adulterated products dangerous to public health.

The bill stemmed from disclosures over the years of unsanitary conditions and adulterated meat in some 15,000 plants selling wholly within the states and thus outside federal jurisdiction. These plants produce 9 million pounds, about 15 per cent of all slaughtered meat, and 25 per cent of all processed meat. Federal inspection covers the 85 per cent of meat moving in interstate commerce.

The bill authorized matching Federal grants to states to enable them to make their state inspection systems for intrastate plants at least equal to federal standards. States will have two years to comply, with the Secretary of Agriculture empowered to step in and impose federal standards where necessary.

The federal inspection service now costs $47 million a year. The new extension will add from $30 million to $50 million a year. It is a very small price to pay to protect people from bad meat and assure every American family that the meat on their table will be safe and fit for human consumption.

In 1942, The Wall Street Journal pioneered the newsstand price of 10 cents per copy for its nationally distributed newspaper. Effective January 1, the newsstand price will go to 15 cents. Newspapers laboring under increased cost of production wonder if again this will set a new ceiling on the newsstand price for daily newspapers in the country.

On the 50th anniversary as an independent republic, Finland stressed friendly relations both with East and West. President Urho Kekkonen, who said his country has no unsolved problems, said it looks forward toward the future, "as far as it depends on our own decisions." The point is Finland has in its short independence fought Russia twice, losing heavily both times, but exacting heavy tolls.

A new act of Congress prohibits discrimination against an individual solely because of age. It provides for penalties against employers who refuse to hire, or discharge or discriminate against persons between the age of 40 and 65. It is a tardy recognition of the new vitality brought on by extended life expectancy.

"Can't Understand It---His Brand Had 10 Per Cent Less Nicotine!"

David Lawrence Says Corrupt Practices Act Should Be Enforced

WASHINGTON — Has the AFL-CIO become virtually a part of the Democratic party's political mechanism, and, if so, shouldn't the Federal Corrupt Practices Act be enforced, since it forbids contributions of any kind by Labor Unions or corporations to a political party?

"Contributions" are defined in the law not merely as money but as "anything of value." This includes the time spent during regular office hours by union or business executives in helping to mobilize political strength for presidential and congressional nominees. It is significant that neither the National Association of Manufacturers nor the U. S. Chamber of Commerce nor any other business organization takes such a part in political campaigns as does the AFL-CIO through the medium of an organization known as "COPE" — The Committee on Political Education.

During the meeting of the executive council of the AFL-CIO held at Miami in the last few days—which had on its program an address delivered in person by President Johnson — several utterances of political significance were heard. George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, through a spokesman revealed the substance of his remarks on Saturday at a closed meeting of top labor leaders. He conceded that President Johnson could be defeated in 1968 without the total political support of the 14 million members of the labor federation. Hence, he implied, it becomes important for labor-union members to go out and work among their neighbors and friends to solicit votes for the Democratic Party.

The executive Council's formal report made as cogent an analysis of the political situation that confronts the Democratic Party as anybody in the administration or in Congress could have written. It said that "public hostility toward legitimate Civil Rights progress will almost certainly stiffen as a result of urban violence." The existence, moreover, of "lethargy and factionalism" was noted, especially in the big population states "where there are decisive blocs of the electoral votes" as well as "important 1968 statewide elections and a considerable number of close House races."

While our involvement in the Vietnam war is pointed up as "a disturbing and divisive issue," public sentiment, according to the report, is equally divided between those who do and do not feel they have "a clear idea of what the Vietnam War is all about."

The Republicans, it is stressed, gained 47 seats in the 1966 elections for the House of Representatives, nearly all of the voters defeating "Liberals." So the report says:

"The luck of the draw is with Conservatives in 1968 as a larger number of Liberal incumbents will be running for statewide election in very marginal situations."

What should be done about it? The report advises that each labor-union member should help win support among the organizations to which he belongs, such as "social, religious, civic or neighborhood groups, in addition to his work-related associations." Likewise, the document emphasizes that "a successful political operation must comprise a number of simultaneous operations, tailored to fit the interests of the major groupings within the labor movement." The concluding statement reads as follows:

"We are resolved to marshal our forces more vigorously and efficiently than ever before so that we may more truly serve the best interests of all our own constituents — young and old, urban and suburban, black and white, affluent and poor."

These are legitimate aims, but is the method legal? If the Federal Corrupt Practices Act is not being violated, then the door should be opened to businessmen to address their employees or canvass them through a separate organization and present the other side of the case so that the citizen may make up his own mind how to vote.

Plainly, the Federal Corrupt Practices Act should be enforced or its provisions amended so that corporations can without fear of punitive measures set up associations or units in close relationship with the parent companies just as the labor unions do. The management of every business enterprise or professional firm has a right to support a "committee on political education" to work in a state and a community in order to reach everybody of voting age, including members of labor unions.

And his most recent public appearances seem to underscore this.

As he swings from low to high estimates of what he might achieve next year, the senator manages to befuddle many Democratic professionals and others. Says one in the Midwest:

"I don't think Gene really has thought this thing through very clearly."

At the minimum he seems anxious to offer himself as the focus of antiwar opposition. Yet he has learned from talking with Democratic politicians in many places, that he needs to make a broader attack on Johnson if he wishes to be much more than what one party leader calls a "campus figure."

Already printed elsewhere is the fact that in closed-door meetings with Democratic regulars in various states, McCarthy has indeed widened his assault, picturing the President as a destroyer of his party, of the Senate, the Supreme Court.

Not previously stressed is the further fact that on at least three of these occasions and probably more, he has wound up on a note of strong personal bitterness—presenting Johnson as a man who broke his word to McCarthy in 1964 by withdrawing what the senator thinks was a pledge to make him his running mate.

"If I had to pick one thing that has pushed Gene this far," says a fellow Democrat, "I'd say it was his personal feeling toward LBJ."

Drew Pearson Says United States Lets Down Its Favored OAS Candidate

WASHINGTON—The hassling over a new Secretary General of the Organization of the American States highlights one of the most significant changes in Pan-American history.

In the old days the United States picked the Secretary General from a friendly Latin country and made sure he got elected. This time the United States has supported a man from the most anti-United States nation in South America, but hasn't lifted a finger to get him elected.

Of all South American countries, Ecuador has been the most anti-American. President Otto Arosemena Gomez flatly refused to sign the Summit Conference agreement between Pan-American presidents last April. He delivered a tirade against the United States to President Johnson's face, then last October booted out U. S. Ambassador Wymberly Coerr, giving him only 48 hours to pack up. Coerr, an able diplomat, had merely delivered a constructive speech regarding the Alliance for progress.

Despite this, the United States gave its blessing to an ex-president of Ecuador, Galo Plaza Lasso, to be the new Secretary General, choosing him because Plaza is by far the most experienced diplomat in the Western Hemisphere. He has represented the United Nations in the Congo, in Cyprus, and in Lebanon when Eisenhower landed troops there in 1957.

Galo Plaza has such experience and prestige that as Secretary General he would be just as likely to crack down on the United States as not. Despite this, and despite the unjustified high-handedness of Galo Plaza's country toward the United States, the State Department chose him for the most important diplomatic post in the Western Hemisphere, and has continued to back him.

No Wire-Pulling

It did not, however, engage in a lobbying campaign to put him across. The Johnson administration knows how to lobby when it wants to. During the Dominican crisis it pulled wires frantically and effectively to line up Latin votes to support an OAS police force. It sent Assistant Secretary Lincoln Gordon to Brazil, Ambassador Averell Harriman to Argentina, and Deputy Secretary Tom Mann to Mexico, to line up votes.

In the case of the current election to pick a Secretary General of the OAS, however, the United States expressed its support for Galo Plaza as the best man but engaged in no wire-pulling to elect him.

In contrast, the most vigorous pressure campaign in Pan-American history has been waged for other candidates, chiefly by Venezuela, Panama and certain representatives of the Dominican Republic.

Enrique Tejera-Paris, erstwhile ambassador of Venezuela, has been busy in Washington planting newspaper stories favorable to his candidate, ex-Foreign Minister Falcon Briceño. Ex-President Betancourt of Venezuela, who has just returned from Naples with his new wife, sent a cable to President Johnson almost demanding to know why the United States did not support Falcon.

The ex-minister of interior, Leandro Mora, flew to La Paz to line up the Bolivian vote, even though Venezuela for a long time refused to recognize the Bolivian government.

He landed at the airport, interviewed Foreign Minister Walter Guevara Arze, and thought he had Bolivia pledged to the Venezuelan candidate. Then he flew to Chile, to line up Chile's vote.

Venezuela Loses Out

But Panama was smarter. Not only did President Marco Robles get on the telephone to President Barrientos of Bolivia, but he sent to Bolivia former Foreign Minister Alberto Boyd, close friend of Barrientos. When President Barrientos has passed through Panama he was a guest at Boyd's home.

Ex-Foreign Minister Boyd did not merely stop at the La Paz airport. He drove into the city, spent some time with President Barrientos. In the end, Bolivia switched back to the Panamanian candidate. Bolivia has now switched its vote four times.

Venezuela's wire-pulling, however, was mild compared to the vote-lobbying of Ambassador Eduardo Ritter-Aislan of Panama. His president, Marco Robles, got on the telephone, not only to Barrientos of Bolivia but to various Latin American presidents, urging that they vote for Ritter. The president of Nicaragua, General Tachito Somoza, one of the few remaining Central American dictators, made a public statement demanding that all Central Americans support Ritter.

Ambassador Ritter himself flew back to Panama after four votes in the OAS still resulted in a deadlock. He addressed the Panamanian Assembly, claiming that the American press was prejudiced against Panama and him.

Earlier, Panama's deputy ambassador to the OAS had inferentially accused the United States of pressuring for votes, when absolutely no such pressure was being exerted.

Busy Dominican

Most flagrant pressure, however, was exerted by the No. 2 man in the OAS, Luis Raul Betances, a Dominican, who was decorated by Panama, and has a pledge from Panamanian Ritter that if he is elected, Betances will keep his job.

To rally votes for Ritter, Betances phoned Dominican Ambassador Enrique del Rosario, demanding that the Dominican Republic vote for him. Betances even threatened to intercede with President Balaguer to get Rosario fired if he did not vote for Ritter. Finally he told the Dominican that he had a gun in his drawer, insinuating that he might be compelled to use it if Rosario didn't change his vote.

Incensed at this threat, Ambassador Rosario summoned a meeting of OAS ambassadors to protest. Dr. Jose Mora, retiring Secretary General of the OAS, promptly fired Betances as No. 2 man in the OAS.

Meanwhile, the Dominican Republic, which has so much foreign aid money from the United States that it can't spend it all, had been voting against the candidate of the United States, Galo Plaza.

So goes the campaigning to elect a man who could serve as a constructive leader of the Western Hemisphere or become a glorified bureaucrat drawing a fat tax-free salary.

Republicans Are Working On Party's Campaign Themes

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — "We can do it better."

This is the basic argument of Democrats and Republicans in any presidential election year, like 1968, but right now the Republicans are trying to figure out what it is they can do better.

They're under a handicap since they don't know what it's going to be like in 1968. "Vice, Vandalism, and Vietnam" is one Republican's simplified answer for his party's campaign themes. It came from Rep. Bob Wilson of California, chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee.

It's too simplified since in politics one word leads to another: and by the time the campaign is half over—and probably before it gets started — Republicans and Democrats will be off in all directions.

But the Republicans are busy trying to set up some starting points, at least.

Republican governors met at Palm Beach, Fla. today to begin some campaign planning session, with New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, who insists he's not a presidential candidate to report on an in-depth study of possible issues.

Last month at Gettysburg, Pa., former President Dwight D. Eisenhower met with a 15-member Republican task force on national defense policy to discuss GOP campaign tactics for next year.

Charting Strategy

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

Dec. 12, 1947—A new organ was being installed in the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church.

The YWCA of Kingston opened a cafeteria to operate Tuesdays and Thursdays during the noon hour.

Dec. 12, 1957—A tax hike of more than $150,000 to cover the 1958 budget was proposed by the county board of supervisors. The budget for '57 had been $5,814,000.

Albert J. Cawein, executive secretary to the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce, resigned due to a reported lack of time to properly do the job.

getting ideas together, examining issues.

You don't have to be a mindreader to know the Republicans are going to try to get as much mileage as they can out of the discontent over the war in Vietnam.

But on this, which may be the biggest issue, they're under a bit of a handicap starting out. Their main point, of course, will be the one contained in the first paragraph above.

Some insight into this was given Thursday by the two Republican leaders in Congress, Sen. Everett M. Dirksen and Rep. Gerald R. Ford.

They argued a new Republican president would be in a better position than President Johnson to settle the war.

Vietnam Costs

Editor, The Freeman: Recently it has been suggested that the salary of the mayor of Kingston be raised by $5,000. Some people might object to this cost, but split up by the population of Kingston (about 25,000), it comes to less than two bits apiece.

The Administration is currently spending about 30 billion dollars a year for its actions in Vietnam, which comes to about $150 apiece when divided by the population. Let us suppose that, instead of wasting this money in Vietnam, these billions were used to benefit the people. If it was split up by population, then New York, with a population of about 16 million, would receive about two and a half billion dollars. In other words, without Vietnam, this money would have meant that there would have been no need for the recent bond issue. And that's just for this year.

I believe that the supporters of the Administration's actions in Vietnam are not interested in economy in government, no matter what else they might say. Conservatives please note.

Sincerely,
RONALD SOBIERAJ

Timely Quotes

When the last bar of gold goes, the United States taxpayer can breathe as sigh of relief, because he will no longer be wasting resources by trying to maintain the price of a noninterest-bearing asset like gold.

—Rep. Henry Reuss, D-Wis.

Our children and grandchildren will have to decide whether each American has the irrevocable right to drive his automobile to wherever he wants to go. . . . The urban America of tomorrow must come to grips with the automobile. It shouldn't be outlawed. It should be integrated into a balanced urban transit system which will offer real and recognizable choices to people.

Many Questions, But Few Answers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Curiosity about what the turn of the calendar may reveal becomes almost unbearably persistent at this time of the year and, in response, the economic seers rush to assuage the anxiety. But do they?

Here are some questions for which nobody seems to have the answers:

Will Gen. Charles de Gaulle's anger and frustration with the United States provoke him into stiff regulations against American investment in France? What will be the extent of such controls? Would he seize American plants?

Little Evidence

There is little hard evidence that such thoughts are being considered seriously by de Gaulle. However, evidence of a sort is provided by de Gaulle's consistency. On several other matters his rather mild feelings, as first revealed, were escalated steadily. Consider how he threw out the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

—Will President Johnson seek from Congress rigid controls rather than voluntary restraints, on wages, prices, interest rates and rents?

This is a possibility, but judging from Johnson's inability to get his way with Congress so far, it is unlikely that he could obtain such powers. Nevertheless, the need of either fiscal restraint or controls is there.

Complicating this question is the nation's gold loss problem. The less the dollar buys domestically because of inflation the weaker is its value also in the eyes of foreign holders. They'll want to convert dollars to gold. The pressure definitely is on. It could result in higher taxes, less spending, a combination of the two, or rigid controls such as the nation has had in other wars.

—As its gold supply diminishes, will the United States remove the gold cover on domestic currency?

This is a very real probability for the gold now available for redeeming foreign-held dollars is growing very small. Foreign claims, if exercised, would deplete the supply.

At the present time the United States has less than $13 billion of monetary gold, and $10 billion of that is legally frozen in order to back domestic currency. It simply must remain buried at Ft. Knox.

Many financial authorities, including Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, now feel that this gold should be made available to stave off attacks on the dollar by foreign speculators.

If the gold cover is removed, it will be an historic step in freeing mankind from what many consider a medieval fixation on gold, which is really just a little bit different chemically from lead.

—Will Britain weather her problems? Will she be able to take advantage of devaluation to put her finances in order? Devaluation, which makes a country's goods more attractive for a limited period of time. After that its own costs begin creeping up and so does the price of its goods.

Britain must really create a surge in exports along with sharp cutbacks in its intake. Only in this way can it sell more abroad than it consumes at home and thus pay its international bills.

There are some indications, however, that the world isn't going to be able to buy those British goods for 14.3 per cent less. Some of the 14.3 per cent is being kept by British producers rather than being passed on.

Talented Students

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — Dr. James L. Price, a Duke University dean, says student activists at Duke come from highly educated upper middle class families and are among the most academically talented students.

Price, speaking at a meeting of Duke's alumni leaders, the University National Council, said it would be a mistake to dismiss the activists as alienated hippies or a handful of lawless, undisciplined "kooks."

The dean termed the activists' presence at Duke "an embarrassment of riches," and recommended giving students the opportunity to participate in university policymaking and planning.

Fledgling Navy

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Malaysia's fledgling navy will get its second frigate, complete with anti-aircraft guided missiles, in May 1969, the new chief of naval staff announced today.

Commodore K. Thanabalasingam said the frigate is being purchased for $11.3 million from Britain. It is to be launched in Portsmouth later this month. The navy now has 3,000 officers and men, one frigate, 20 patrol craft and eight minesweepers.

Action Against County

Robert Holtz, Ellenville, has brought an action for automobile negligence in Supreme Court against the County of Ulster. The action was taken up for trial Tuesday before Supreme Court Justice Roscoe V. Elsworth and a jury. Weinsoff and Weinsoff appear for plaintiff and Richard Overbach appears for the county. The action arises out of a snow-plow accident between Ellenville and Spring Glen.

To Work With Lepers

MONTREAL (AP) — Paul-Emile Cardinal Leger, who resigned last month as Archbishop of Montreal, left for Africa Monday to work with lepers.

"When I first made my decision, I felt all alone," he said Monday before departing from Montreal International Airport. "But in a month it has become apparent that I have obeyed God's will."

Cardinal Leger, 63, has received more than 6,500 letters from persons wishing him luck, including one from Pope Paul VI, who said "we have the heartfelt need to inform you of our profound emotion . . . in this serious and noble decision you have made."

The Rural Poor . . .

have no real means of support and were just recently reached through community action.

Their home, a drab and colored barn, contains a few sparsely furnished rooms and a tiny heater. The floor emits a leg numbing cold. The Jones' are troubled by arthritis.

Mrs. Jones continues to keep her house neat and clean. But the old woman is ill. Her hands tremble and her voice is barely audible. In addition she is plagued by a hacking cough and complains of pains in her chest.

Mr. Jones is worse off. Crippled by arthritis and nearly an invalid, he personifies the blight of the aged.

"I don't know what to do anymore. Can't get around, insurance ain't paid up, me and the woman sick. I just don't know."

"They (denoting community action) brought me some forms for medicare but I ain't filled them yet. We've got some children but only one daughter cares. Maybe she'll fill the forms," he said.

But the forms won't be filled. The old man won't ask. Leaving, a social worker said, "Their whole life is the television. Aside from that they might as well be dead. They haven't transportation to get to health facilities or food center, and I'm afraid if we didn't bring them clothing they'd freeze."

Hovel in Woods

Not too far away, across Route 299 in the Town of Lloyd, rests a hovel on the edge of a woods. A sign greets you "God Is Alive," and several feet onward another reads "Jesus Saves, Prepare Yourself for Heaven."

This is the residence of a retired Methodist minister and neither the prosperity of Heaven nor the salvation of Christ has seemingly touched this land in years.

However, both intangibles have filled the minister. He is stately, dignified, intelligent and poor. Hungering for conversation, he entered a monologue on Britain's devaluation of the pound.

Impressive was the old gentleman's grasp of world affairs. He stated that his entire existence was currently dedicated to reading. And a well stocked library bore this out.

He explained that social security kept him going but that electricity bills and food put him in the arrears. To compensate he hardly uses lights and as a result he is gradually going blind.

Progressing Blindness

Community action sees to it that the minister periodically receives new glasses. But the miracles of optometry will not keep up with progressing blindness born from inadequate light. His is an especially sad case.

So, too, is it with the former farmers. Once the backbone of American life, slowly they have been relegated to pasture and into the twilight zone.

The zone is a dream that someday things will be better. Conditions will improve and

Bert Weber

Bert Weber, 73, of 15 Ulster Avenue, Saugerties, died Monday night at Kingston Hospital following a long illness. A native of Vienna, Austria, he was born Aug. 12, 1894. No Ready Cure

Equally hopeless is the laborer, the railroad and the ballbearing specialist, whose former task has been eased out by automation and hard times. His numbers are not excessive, but like the others he hasn't any ready made cure. He will continue to take odd jobs as they come along and his days are filled with nostalgia of running trains, the St. Louis Ltd., and bread for his family.

And thus a selected minority has entered the winter of its discontent. Cold winds will permeate shoddily built shacks and dreams will serve as a substitute for pumpkin pie. Roast duck won't grace every table.

Next: Some Typical Problems

Draftee Cleaned Up

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Leland Elliott Montauk, 20, of Portland, reported Monday to the armed forces examination station to take his physical examination for the military draft. He was wearing hip boots.

He pulled off the right boot and out ran quantities of red paint.

He pulled off the left boot and out poured green paint. And as he turned around his back displayed in black letters an uncompromising, obscene comment about the Army.

Deputy marshals took him to the federal courthouse where paint remover cleaned him up. He then went before a U.S. Commissioner who set a hearing on a charge of willful injury of less than $100 to government property.

Not All Wizards

TORONTO (AP) — Not all the members of the Rothschild family are financial wizards, says Baroness Alix de Rothschild.

In an interview Monday, the member of one of Europe's richest families said: "The majority of Rothschild women keep themselves busy with social work and special hobbies."

She herself combines the offices of mayor of Reims, a French hamlet on the English Channel where she has a farm, the presidency of Youth Aliyah of Europe and board memberships in several Paris art galleries, museums and the Rothschild Foundation.

She is here to speak on Israeli youth to a council meeting of 65 chapters of Hadassah, a Jewish organization.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

By JIM GILPATRIC

Santa Claus or one of his assistants MAY answer this letter. If this happens, a reply will appear here next week. Watch for it. It may be interesting!

Dear Santa Claus:

Everyone knows you get around more these days than you did in the past. We're always amazed how your time and schedule works out. But, somehow it does . . . It has been a long time, Santa, since we wrote you a letter. Years ago, when we wrote, we asked you to pack this or that in your sack and to be sure you brought it to the right house. We've grown up since then. Now, after all these years, and with nostalgic recollections, here is a "different" kind of letter. This is a "Thank You" letter, much too delayed, to say thanks for your past presents and presence at so many merry Christmases. Incidentally, Santa, we wonder how many "Thank you" letters you receive AFTER Christmas compared with your stupendous sacks of mail before Christmas?

Because you meet so many people in so many places, we wonder if you or any of your assistants would care to write us a letter and relate some of your observations? We would especially like to have your impressions of differences between past and present customs. We would appreciate it immensely. Thank you, and here's hoping you have the most meaningful, memorable and merry Christmas ever . . .

Many Questions, But Few Answers

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Curiosity about what the turn of the calendar may reveal becomes almost unbearably persistent at this time of the year and, in response, the economic seers rush to assuage the anxiety. But do they?

Here are some questions for which nobody seems to have the answers:

Will Gen. Charles de Gaulle's anger and frustration with the United States provoke him into stiff regulations against American investment in France? What will be the extent of such controls? Would he seize American plants?

Little Evidence
There is little hard evidence that such thoughts are being considered seriously by de Gaulle. However, evidence of a sort is provided by de Gaulle's consistency. On several other matters his rather mild feelings, as first revealed, were escalated steadily. Consider how he threw out the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

—Will President Johnson seek from Congress rigid controls rather than voluntary restraints on wages, prices, interest rates and rents?

This is a possibility, but judging from Johnson's inability to get his way with Congress so far, it is unlikely that he could obtain such powers. Nevertheless, the need of either fiscal restraint or controls is there.

Complicating this question is the nation's gold loss problem. The less the dollar buys domestically because of inflation the weaker its value also in the eyes of foreign holders. They'll want to convert dollars to gold. The pressure definitely is on it could result in higher taxes, less spending, a combination of the two, or rigid controls such as the nation has had in other wars.

—As its gold supply diminishes, will the United States remove the gold cover on domestic currency?

This is a very real probability, for the gold now available for redeeming foreign-held dollars is growing very small. Foreign claims, if exercised, would deplete the supply.

At the present time the United States has less than $13 billion of monetary gold, and $10 billion of that is legally frozen in order to back domestic currency. It simply must remain buried at Ft. Knox.

Many financial authorities, including Federal Reserve Chairman William McChesney Martin, now feel that this gold should be made available to stave off attacks on the dollar by foreign speculators.

If the gold cover is removed, it will be an historic step in freeing mankind from what many consider a medieval fixation on gold, which is really just a little bit different chemically from lead.

—Will Britain weather her problems? Will she be able to take advantage of devaluation to put her finances in order?

Devaluation, which makes a country's goods more attractive, can be an advantage only for a limited period of time. After that its own costs begin creeping up and so does the price of its goods.

Britain must really create a surge in exports along with sharp cutbacks in its intake. Only in this way can it sell more abroad than it consumes at home and thus pay its international bills.

There are some indications, however, that the world isn't going to be able to buy those British goods for 14.3 per cent less. Some of the 14.3 per cent is being kept by British producers rather than being passed on.

Karn, a former deputy sheriff and well-known in athletic and sports circles in Dutchess County, will succeed Edward C. Schueler who was appointed to fill out the unexpired term of the late Charles E. Wise. Karn will take over the office on Jan. 1, 1968.

The new GOP chairman is a former town of Poughkeepsie police officer and has held office in the Dutchess County Police Officers' Association.

Others elected at last night's meeting were Margaret Hansen, secretary, and William Sedore, treasurer.

Why We Say--

"IN THE SOUP"

HOSPITALS: This expression was started by a newspaperman, James Greenwood, in London. Investigating the hospital free ward setup, he wrote that one patient was bathed in the same water used for the person before him. When it came to the last person the bath looked more like soup than water. The expression became popular immediately after.

Rocket Set For Sun Orbit In New Attempt

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A robot "interplanetary weatherman" named Pioneer 8 is poised to rocket into orbit around the sun Wednesday as the prime payload of a tricky two-in-one launch attempt.

En route to the solar orbit, a second spacecraft—called TTS for test and training satellite—is to pop off the side of Pioneer's sleek Delta booster rocket and become a satellite of earth, where it can serve as an orbiting radio relay station to test gear in America's Apollo man-in-space tracking network.

Pioneer 8, scheduled to blast off at 9:08 a.m. EST Wednesday, could provide the best information yet on how great a danger the sun's radiation poses to astronauts. The drum-shaped spacecraft is to zip into a sun-circling orbit between that of Earth and Mars, where its instruments can radio information about the solar wind, cosmic rays and magnetic and electric fields in interplanetary space.

Planners of the nation's man-to-the-moon program are primarily interested in the solar wind, a great radiation storm that originates from huge thermonuclear reactions that erupt beneath the seething surface of the sun.

These solar flares send tremendous streams of radiation,

Teaming up with other radiation studying craft, including Pioneer 6 located about 144 million miles ahead of Earth and Pioneer 7, about 68 million miles behind this planet, Pioneer 8 is to help develop a solar-flare warning system so manned flights can be scheduled around these deadly eruptions.

Admiral Says Bad Weather Helping Hanoi Repair Damage From Bombs

ABOARD THE RANGER (AP) — The northeast monsoon weather now sweeping North Vietnam has given Hanoi a breather from the heavy U.S. air attacks of the early fall and is enabling the Communists to repair damage or get supplies moving southward, Vice Adm. William F. Bringle said.

"As soon as it breaks, even for a short period, we'll have to go in and restrike probably some of the areas we have already hit," the commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet told a news conference aboard this aircraft carrier in the Gulf of Tonkin. Bringle said new A7 Corsair II fighter-bombers recently delivered to the carriers off North Vietnam will enable the Navy to drop more bombs more efficiently on North Vietnamese targets. The Corsair, which can carry twice the bomb load of the A4 Skyhawk bomber now used, will get its real test as soon as there is a break in the monsoons. The bad weather has kept Navy bombers away from the port city of Haiphong for more than a month.

There is only one squadron of 14 A7s striking North Vietnam now. But virtually all of its 100 missions since the Corsairs went into combat for the first time Dec. 4 have been against secondary targets in the central portion and southern panhandle of North Vietnam stretching from south of Hanoi to the demilitarized zone. The real plums are targets in Haiphong and its environs, including four major railroad and highway bridges over which military supplies flow southward for Communist forces fighting in South Vietnam. these bridges late in October and causing a massive jam-up. Bringle said in an interview were at work repairing the Navy bombers delivered a and reported all had been of military supplies from Communist North Vietnamese probably much of the backlog of supplies.

ABOARD THE RANGER conference aboard this aircraft carrier in the Gulf of Tonkin. Bringle said new A7 Corsair II fighter-bombers recently delivered to the carriers off North Vietnam will enable the Navy to drop more bombs more efficiently on North Vietnamese targets. The Corsair, which can carry twice the bomb load of the A4 Skyhawk bomber now used, will get its real test as soon as there is a break in the monsoons. The bad weather has kept Navy bombers away from the port city of Haiphong for more than a month.

There is only one squadron of 14 A7s striking North Vietnam now. But virtually all of its 100 missions since the Corsairs went into combat for the first time Dec. 4 have been against secondary targets in the central portion and southern panhandle of North Vietnam stretching from south of Hanoi to the demilitarized zone. The real plums are targets in Haiphong and its environs, including four major railroad and highway bridges over which military supplies flow southward for Communist forces these bridges late in October and causing a massive jam-up. Navy bombers delivered a concentrated series of blows on knocked out, isolating the port-munist-bloc nations.

Bringle said in an interview before his news conference the bridges and likely had eased North Vietnamese probably much of the backlog of supplies.

It's the spirit that counts,

Senate Passes Federal Aid To Education Bill, 71-7

By JOE HALL.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration pledge to revise procedures for cutting off funds to segregated schools spurred Senate passage of the $14.2 billion federal aid-to-education bill.

The 71-7 Senate vote Monday sent the measure to a conference with the House, where further attempts to water down an integration procedure are expected.

Southern senators dropped stalling tactics and permitted final action on the measure.

Largest aid to education authorization in history—once the pledge arrived in a letter from Secretary John W. Gardner of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Democratic leaders said they hoped a quick conference could be held on it and a compromise version sent to President Johnson before Congress adjourns for the year, probably at the end of this week.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., manager of the bill, told reporters it was particularly important to act on the bill because it changes the formula for distribution in the current year of grant funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

About $1.2 billion of federal money is being made available to school districts over the nation under Title I for the present year. It covers aid to improve educational opportunities for children of low-income families.

The main provisions of the bill would extend for three years, starting next July 1, the authority for aid under all sections of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

Extended for the same period would be the impacted areas program of grants to school districts with enrollments swollen because of nearby federal facilities.

Gardner, in his letter to Morse, said school districts would be given ample advance warning before each school year to school districts over the nation under Title I for the present year. It covers aid to improve educational opportunities for children of low-income families.

Stokely Back, Congress Considering Penalties

NEW YORK (AP) — Black Power militant Stokely Carmichael was back in the United States today, his passport in the hands of federal officials and his presence stirring Congress to consider penalties for U.S. citizens who travel to forbidden nations.

A Supreme Court decision on passports earlier this year left the State Department without the power to seek criminal penalties for unauthorized visits to countries to which travel had been restricted.

Katzenbach said that although Carmichael's passport has been officially revoked, "no penalty today can be applied to him for the fact that he visited Hanoi."

Five-Month Trip

Carmichael, whose five-month trip included calls in Vietnam, flew into Kennedy airport Monday and was met by a cheering group of his admirers and by U.S. marshals.

U.S. Atty. Joseph P. Hines of Brooklyn said Carmichael's passport—issued with the proviso that he not go to either Cuba or North Vietnam—was seized by a marshal executing a formal search warrant.

Shortly before Carmichael arrived, the State Department in Washington asked Congress to authorize penalties of up to one year in prison and $1,000 in fines for unauthorized travel by U.S. citizens to forbidden countries.

Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach termed lifting of a passport to prevent repeated violations of travel restrictions "inadequate to secure the foreign policy interests which are at stake."

Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, said "the Carmichael case points up the need to invoke criminal penalties for forbidden visits."

"Carmichael has made statements which have given great aid and comfort to our enemies in Vietnam, Cuba and elsewhere. Those statements well high border on treason," he said.

"It would be most anomalous if a great country like the United States did not protect itself against flagrant violators of passport laws by desperadoes like Carmichael," Celler said.

Mundt in Favor

Sen. Karl E. Mundt, R-S.D., a member of the Foreign Relations Committee to which the administration bill was referred, said he favored legislation of that kind.

He said Carmichael's trip had "dramatized the fact that this country is pretty defenseless to protect itself" against activities of this nature.

Mau, Mau Chants

When Carmichael arrived at Kennedy airport his supporters chanted "Mau, Mau! Mau, Mau!" Among those greeting him was Charles Kenyatta, head of the Harlem group known as the Mau Mau.

Together they drove to the Harlem branch of the YMCA where Carmichael met with H. Rap Brown, his successor as head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Carmichael refused to talk to newsmen, saying only that he "felt good." He had been out of the country since last July when he started the trip with a visit to England.

Later, when Carmichael was in Fidel Castro's Cuba calling for "urban guerrilla warfare within the United States," the British Home Office barred him from any return to England.

During his subsequent visit to North Vietnam Carmichael said the United States was "the greatest destroyer of humanity." He also made stops in Algeria, Guinea, France and Sweden.

Accused of Coat Theft at Caldor's

Accused of taking a coat from Caldor's shortly after 6 p. m. Monday, Michael Provenzano, 34, of 176 Sunset Drive, Port Ewen, was arrested for petit larceny, according to Herbert O'Brien, manager of Security police at the store.

O'Brien said Provenzano allegedly took a coat valued at $69.97 and put it on under his topcoat and then left the store where he was picked up by a woman store detective. Arraigned before Ulster Town Justice Arthur A. Reilly, Provenzano pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and given a 100-day suspended sentence.

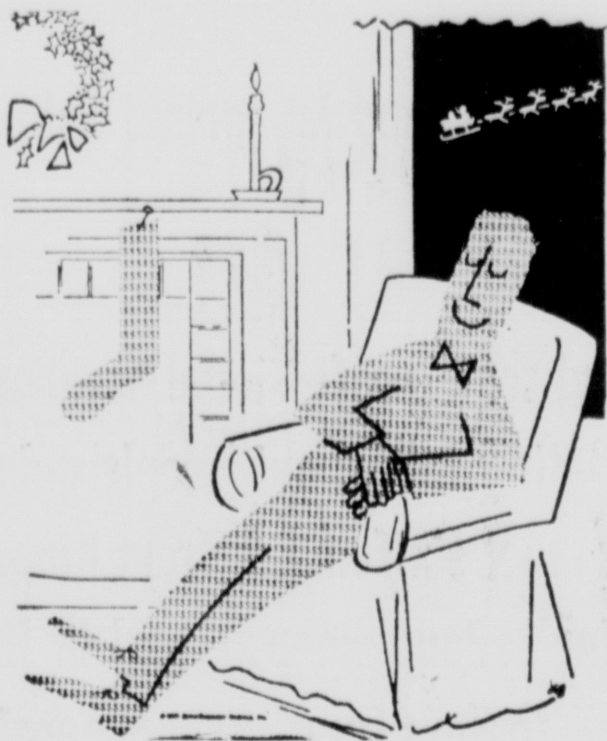

State Trooper Carl Van Wageningen assisted in the arrest.

Accord Man Hurt, Auto Slams Tree

Clifford W. Alexander, 48, of Accord, was injured at 3:15 p. m. Monday when his car went out of control and hit a tree off the Granite Road, Town of Rochester, according to Ellenville State Police.

Sergeant Henry S. Rhodes said Alexander was cited by Trooper James Kelly for driving while intoxicated and operating a car with unsafe tires. The trooper reported the car driven by Alexander was traveling south on the road when it left the pavement and hit a tree. Alexander was taken to Ellenville Community Hospital by the Kerhonkson Rescue Squad and treated for injuries while intoxicated and operating of the chest, right leg and arm, and abrasions and contusions.

Senate Passes Federal Aid To Education Bill, 71-7

BY JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration pledge to revise procedures for cutting off funds to segregated schools spurred Senate passage of the $14.2 billion federal aid-to-education bill.

The 71-7 Senate vote Monday sent the measure to a conference with the House, where further attempts to water down anti-segregation procedures are expected.

Southern senators dropped stalling tactics and permitted final action on the measure—largest aid-to-education authorization in history—once the pledge arrived in a letter from Secretary John W. Gardner of the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Democratic leaders said they hoped a quick conference could be held on it and a compromise version sent to President Johnson before Congress adjourns for the year, probably at the end of this week.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., manager of the bill, told reporters it was particularly important to act on the bill because it changes the formula for distribution in the current year of grant funds under Title I of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

About $1.2 billion of federal money is being made available to school districts over the nation under Title I for the present year. It covers aid to improve educational opportunities for children of low-income families. The main provisions of the bill would extend for three years, starting next July 1, the authorization for aid under all sections of the Elementary and Secondary School Act.

Extended for the same period would be the impacted areas program of grants to school districts with enrollments swollen because of nearby federal facilities.

Gardner, in his letter to Morse, said school districts would be given ample advance warning before each school year about whether they were considered in compliance with provisions of the 1964 Civil Rights Act banning federal grants to public agencies practicing racial segregation.

Gardner pledged that any districts considered not in compliance would receive a warning by March 1, about six months before the start of each school year.

If followup negotiations didn't resolve the issue the districts would be told by Sept. 1 they could have a hearing on the alleged noncompliance, he said.

Unless these notices were given, Gardner promised, there would be no cutoffs or denials of federal aid during the succeeding school year except under circumstances where the district clearly showed bad faith in meeting desegregation commitments.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-

Ga., dropped plans to offer an amendment to prevent any cutoffs during a school year, saying the Gardner pledge removed his objections.

But Southerners in the House are believed determined to hold out for a provision of the House-passed version that would strip the government of its power to defer approval of aid from districts believed to be practicing segregation.

GOP Senators Want 'Lulu' Eliminated

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Five Republican state senators say they want to "restore public confidence" in the Legislature by eliminating the "lulu."

The word "lulu" long has been used at the Capitol to describe the lump-sum allowance paid to lawmakers "in lieu" of a detailed accounting of expenses. Each senator and assemblyman now draws a $3,000 "lulu" in addition to his $15,000 salary.

The senators proposed Monday to pay legislators a $40 per diem allowance for lodging, meals and other expenses, and reimburse them for travel expenses "actually and necessary incurred." The per diem payment would be made while members were attending sessions of the Legislature or committee meetings outside the home districts.

The senators, in introducing the bill, observed that the "lulu" had acquired an unpleasant connotation in recent years.

Cartoonists, for example, have depicted "lulu" as a flashily dressed young woman extending a flirtatious invitation to greedy legislators.

A travel-expense proposal was written into the revised state constitution that was rejected last month by New York voters. No per diem allowance was suggested.

The plan, similar to one offered last year by the same senators without success, is sponsored by Sens. H. Douglas Barclay of Pulaski, D. Clinton Dominick III of Newburgh, John R. Dunne of Garden City, Dalwin J. Niles of Johnstown, and Whitney North Seymour of Manhattan.

High School Student Able to Do Self-Testing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new self-testing system offers encouraging prospects for the high school student who can't decide what he wants to do after graduation.

The self tests, developed by Edward C. Wilkinson, associate director of the U.S. government-backed Upward Bound educational development plan at the University of Wisconsin, permit students to actually see themselves in jobs they may be considering.

Basically, the self tests let the students explore their own futures.

Wilkinson, with help from ALP Educational Publications of Milwaukee, has issued a series of informative books on a number of vocations and professions ranging from the insurance business to nursing.

Concise Language

Experts in each field covered by the books have provided essential information so that the high school student who is interested in a career in insurance, for example, can read in concise language exactly what is involved in working for an insurance company.

He sees for instance what a claims adjuster is, what the requirements are for the job, what the outlook is for promotion and what the pay level is for this job in most insurance firms.

Next to the description of each key job in insurance is a list of questions which inquire into the student's scholastic ability, social, mechanical and aesthetic outlooks, physical ability, personality traits, interests and needs. All that's needed to answer each question is a check in one of four circles lined up beside each query.

The student replies to the questions on a clear, plastic scale lined up next to the list of questions.

Teachers place the plastic answer sheet over a key list of answers provided with each job description. On the key, circles which should be filled in if the student has a clear aptitude for the particular job in which he is interested are recorded in black.

The teacher sees at a glance whether the student's answers correspond. If they do, then the student can be fairly confident he has some basic aptitude for the job.

If this system is properly used, Wilkinson says, "the student can see that there are a many more careers open to him than he may have expected."

Essentially, the system is an exploration device, not a means of making a definite choice. It offers the student a chance to see himself in a cross section of businesses and industries.

Wilkinson has introduced the system in 500 high schools across the United States. There has not been time for a full evaluation of results, he says. But where counselors have had time to study the results, the system has proved helpful.

The system, called the Sextant Series for Exploring Your Future, is designed primarily for use in high schools.

Wilkinson says there also is a possibility it may soon be introduced into junior high schools.

Finally, the program may be used for vocational retraining of adults who may feel they have been misplaced through the use of other guidance programs.

Medical Scout Unit Planned

A meeting to organize a Medical Services Explorer Post under the Rip Van Winkle Council Boy Scout program has been scheduled for Thursday, 8 p.m., at the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing Auditorium.

The Post, sponsored by the Medical Society of the County of Ulster, will be open to boys 14 through 17 years of age, who are in the 9th grade or higher, and who are interested in careers in medicine or related fields including dentistry, pharmacology, biological science and veterinary medicine. Boys need not have had previous Boy Scout experience to be eligible for membership.

Thursday's meeting will be an orientation for interested boys and their parents. Invitations have been sent by Dr. Francis LoGalbo, president of the Medical Society, to boys whose interest in general medical services was known to area high school guidance departments. Others interested may also attend.

The Exploring program will include educational meetings at hospitals, the laboratory, and other field trips. The Post is part of the new special interest exploring program of the Boy Scouts of America for high school age boys. Rip Van Winkle Council's Exploring chairman is Ross Johnson.

Dr. James R. Clarkin is the institutional representative, serving as liaison between the Medical Society and the Scout Council. Members of the Post Committee are: Dr. William E. Askus, chairman; Drs. Roberto Benitez, Elbert H. Loughran, Michael Diacovo and Jeffrey Wiersum, physician; Gilbert F. Hoppenstedt and Clement I. Angstrom, veterinarians.

Most advisors will be Dr. Peter O'Hara, associate radiologist at the Kingston Hospital. Associate advisors are Dr. Donald F. Abernathy, dentist, and David B. Van Eiten, pharmacist.

Although Medical Services Exploring has been a part of the Boy Scout program for less than four years, it has proven extremely popular across the country. "Hospitals," the Journal of the American Hospital Association, reported that "of more than 20,000 explorer posts, over 500 focus on medicine and its allied health fields. They are the most popular, showing yearly increases in members from 12 to 22 per cent." Demands for health services far exceed the number of trained persons now in the field, the same magazine points out.

CRASHES ON ROUTE 213 — The two vehicles shown above were involved in separate highway accidents within a short distance of each other between Rifton and St. Remy. Salvatore E. Oliveri, 32, of Route 2, Box 211-c, Saugerties, was operator of the VW suburban (L) which was involved in a collision Sunday night with vehicles driven by Francis J. Roberts, 51, of New Paltz, and William C. Ashcroft, 19, of Rifton. Oliveri sustained cuts over his right eye. Dean G. According to the sheriff's office, Oliveri was taken to a hospital here by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale. Oliveri was cited for passing in a no-passing zone. Douglas Freeman, 17, of Broadway, Port Ewen, escaped serious injury Saturday night when his car (R), overturned as he swerved and applied the brakes to avoid a deer. BOY SCOUT NEWS

Milton Scouts

Recap 1967 Year Events

The Town of Milton, now the scene of the annual Boy Scout fund drive, has 64 boys in two Scouting units.

The two are Pack 73 and Troop 73, both sponsored by the Milton Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. There are 39 boys in Pack 73, and 25 in Troop 73.

Troop 73 participated in the Fall Conservation Camporee at Camp Tri-Mount; the Trail-blazer's Camporee at Lake Awosting and the Yukon Derby in New Paltz. The troop won first place in the camping award for the Fall 1967 Camporee.

During the year, Pack 73 had 19 achievements, while Troop 73 had 12 advancements and 49 merit badges that were given out.

Pack 73 planted trees in Milton as part of a conservation project, and Troop 73 helped in a district clean-up project along the Minnewaska Trail.

is seeking funds in its annual campaign to keep pace with a new high in membership.

"We'll close this year with a new high in boy memberships," said Oliver Tweedy, the Council president. "We hope to increase these memberships still further next year, but that will be impossible unless we receive support from the public in our current annual campaign."

Serving as chairman of the Rip Van Winkle Council campaign for 1968 operating funds in Milton is William Freer.

More Draft Arrests

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arrests for draft law violations increased more than 300 per cent in eastern Pennsylvania this year, says U.S. Atty. Drew J. T. O'Keefe.

Fifty men have been indicted this year on Selective Service law violations such as failing to report for duty or failure to notify their draft boards of their status, O'Keefe reported.

This, he said, is a 321 per cent increase over 1966 when only 15 indictments were processed, and a 408 per cent jump over 1965.

Now Official

Proposed Constitution Beaten by 3-1 Margin

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York voters defeated the proposed new state constitution last month by more than two million votes and by a margin approaching 3-1, the official canvass of the Nov. 7 election showed today.

At the same time, the canvass showed that Gov. Rockefeller's transportation bond issue gained approval with a majority of 789,000 votes.

These and other official results of the balloting were certified by the State Board of Canvassers today at its customary post-election meeting.

High Turnout
The board reported that there was an unusually high turnout of voters—5,661,412—for the off-year election, which offered no contests for major statewide offices. Voter interest was aroused obviously by controversy over the proposed constitution and its provision for repeal of the Blaine Amendment ban on state aid to church-related schools.

This was reflected in another statistic reported by the board—that nearly 85 per cent of those who turned out voted on the constitution and on the bond proposal. In previous, comparable elections, only about half of the voters bothered to express their opinion on matters on the ballot's question line.

Numerous local offices were at stake and these customarily attract most of the attention. The board also reported officially that the voters had heavily rejected two proposed amendments to the present constitution that were listed on the ballot. The elections of Republican

Charles D. Breitel of Manhattan and Democrat Matthew J. Jasen of Buffalo to the Court of Appeals also were certified.

One of the amendments would have increased the borrowing power of the State Job Development Authority and the other would have authorized construction of a ski center in the Adirondack Mountain Forest Preserve.

These are the various official results reported by the board: Constitution—Yes 1,327,999. No 3,487,513. Blank or void, 845,900.

Bond Issue—Yes 2,795,577. No 2,006,318. Blank or void 859,517. Amendment One (Job Development)—Yes 2,045,499. No 2,388,676. Blank or void, 1,227,237.

Amendment Two (Ski Center) Yes 1,147,937. No 3,153,389. Blank or void, 1,360,086.

Both Breitel and Jasen ran with the endorsements of the Republican, Democrat and Liberal parties, and Jasen also had the Conservative Party endorsement, and the party ran its own candidate against him—Kenneth J. Mullane, a New York City lawyer.

Breitel polled a total of 449,007 votes, Jasen received 4,742,209. Mullane drew 432,641. There were 1,653,967 blank or void ballots in that category.

Greer Suggests Safety Tips on Christmas Trees

The holiday season is fast approaching and in order to help insure that all residents enjoy a safe Christmas, Captain Hugh Greer of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Kingston Fire Department offers the following suggestions.

Make sure that the Christmas tree you buy is fresh cut. Saw the trunk off at an angle at least one inch above the original cut. Use a stand that provides a water well. Keep this well filled at all times. To keep the tree moist add to each pint of water used one tablespoon of boric acid and one tablespoon of sugar. Use foil or flame resistant materials to cover the tree stand.

If you use an old sheet first dip it in a solution of nine ounces of pure borax plus four ounces of boric acid to a gallon of water then wring by hand, hang to dry and iron, if you wish. Check the wiring on all strings of lights for bare spots, bad sockets or plugs. On all displays use a fire retardant solution using the same formula as used with the sheet.

Just remember that a few minutes taken to observe good safety practices will insure that the entire family will enjoy a safe and happy Holiday Season, Greer added.

CRASHES ON ROUTE 215 — The two vehicles shown above were involved in separate highway accidents within a short distance of each other between Rifton and St. Remy. Salvatore E. Oliveri, 32, of Route 2, Box 211-c, Saugerties, was operator of the VW suburban (L) which was involved in a collision Sunday night with vehicles driven by Francis J. Roberts, 51, of New Paltz, and William C. Ashcroft, 19, of Rifton. Oliveri sustained cuts over his right eye. Dean G. Nace, 8-months, and Thomas Nace, 2, of Stuyvesant Street, this city, passengers in the Roberts car escaped injury, according to the sheriff's office. Oliveri was taken to a hospital here by Don's Ambulance of Rosendale. Oliveri was cited for passing in a no-passing zone. Douglas Freeman, 17, of Broadway, Port Ewen, escaped serious injury Saturday night when his car (R), overturned as he swerved and applied the brakes to avoid a deer. Both mishaps occurred on Route 213. The Freeman car tied up traffic until the damaged vehicle was towed away, according to Trooper John Crodelle, who investigated. (Lakeside Studio photos).

BOY SCOUT NEWS

Milton Scouts Recap 1967 Year Events

The Town of Milton, now the scene of the annual Boy Scout fund drive, has 64 boys in two Scouting units.

The two are Pack 73 and Troop 73, both sponsored by the Milton Elementary School Parent-Teacher Association. There are 39 boys in Pack 73, and 25 in Troop 73.

Troop 73 participated in the Fall Conservation Camporee at Camp Tri-Mount; the Trailblazer's Camporee at Lake Awosting and the Yukon Derby in New Paltz. The troop won first place in the camping award for the Fall 1967 Camporee.

During the year, Pack 73 had 19 achievements, while Troop 73 had 12 advancements and 49 merit badges that were given out.

The Rip Van Winkle Council

is seeking funds in its annual campaign to keep pace with a new high in membership.

"We'll close this year with a new high in boy memberships," said Oliver Tweedy, the Council president. "We hope to increase these memberships still further next year, but that will be impossible unless we receive support from the public in our current annual campaign."

Serving as chairman of the Rip Van Winkle Council campaign for 1968 operating funds in Milton is William Freer.

More Draft Arrests

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Arrests for draft law violations increased more than 300 per cent in eastern Pennsylvania this year, says U.S. Atty. Drew J. T. O'Keefe.

Fifty men have been indicted this year on Selective Service law violations such as failing to report for duty or failure to notify their draft boards of their status, O'Keefe reported.

This, he said, is a 321 per cent increase over 1966 when only 15 indictments were processed, and a 408 per cent jump over 1965.

Now Official

Proposed Constitution Beaten by 3-1 Margin

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — New York voters defeated the proposed new state constitution last month by more than two million votes and by a margin approaching 3-1, the official canvass of the Nov. 7 election showed today.

At the same time, the canvass showed that Gov. Rockefeller's transportation bond issue gained approval with a majority of 789,000 votes.

These and other official results of the balloting were certified by the State Board of Canvassers today at its customary post-election meeting.

High Turnout

The board reported that there was an unusually high turnout of voters—5,661,412—for the off-year election, which offered no contests for major statewide offices. Voter interest was aroused obviously by controversy over the proposed constitution and its provision for repeal of the Blaine Amendment ban on state aid to church-related schools.

This was reflected in another statistic reported by the board—that nearly 85 per cent of those who turned out voted on the constitution and on the bond proposal. In previous, comparable elections, only about half of the voters bothered to express their opinion on matters of the state aid to church-related schools. Numerous local offices were at stake and these customarily attract most of the attention.

The board also reported official rejection of two proposed amendments to the present constitution that were listed on the ballot. The elections of Republican

Charles D. Breitel of Manhattan and Democrat Matthew J. Jasen of Buffalo to the Court of Appeals also were certified.

One of the amendments would have increased the borrowing power of the State Job Development Authority and the other would have authorized construction of a ski center in the Adirondack Mountain Forest Preserve.

Greer Suggests Safety Tips on Christmas Trees

The holiday season is fast approaching and in order to help insure that all residents enjoy a safe Christmas, Greer of the Fire Prevention Bureau of the Kingston Fire Department offers the following suggestions.

Make sure that the Christmas tree you buy is fresh cut. Saw the trunk off at an angle at least one inch above the original cut. Use a stand that provides a water well. Keep this well filled at all times. To keep the tree moist add to each pint of water used one tablespoon of boric acid and one tablespoon of sugar. Use foil or flame resistant materials to cover the tree stand.

If you use an old sheet first dip it in a solution of nine ounces of pure borax plus four ounces of boric acid to a gallon of water then wring by hand.

These are the various official results reported by the board:

Constitution—Yes 1,327,999. No, 3,487,513. Blank or void, 845,900.

Bond Issue—Yes 2,795,577. No, 2,006,318. Blank or void 859,517.

Amendment One (Job Development)—Yes, 2,045,499. No, 2,388,676. Blank or void, 1,227,237.

Amendment Two (Ski Center)—Yes 1,147,937. No, 3,153,389. Blank or void, 1,360,086.

Matthews Deplores Council's OK on Tax

S. James Matthews, president of Kingston Chamber of Commerce, today indicated that he was "shocked" by the action of the Common Council at last night's meeting at which a 2 per cent sales tax was levied on all retail purchases by residents of the City of Kingston.

"Probably no one event in my lifetime will have a more deleterious effect on the future growth of Kingston than the quick action by the aldermen last evening," Matthews said.

"When the state and federal government present their budget these are usually accompanied by indication as to how the revenue will be used. The City of Kingston appears to have done things completely backward. We increase the taxes and then make up the budget.

"I was appalled, as were others in attendance by the fact that the city legislators passed the sales tax without even knowing how much revenue was needed or what sums would be realized from the new levy," his statement went on.

"Obviously, this figure could have been ascertained by contacting the State Department of Taxation and Finance, since the state imposes a 2 per cent retail sales tax. The speed with which the measure was acted upon leads me to believe that there was a deliberate attempt to throttle intelligent discussion on the new levy.

City Sales Tax...

it. Mrs. Elinor Bruhn, deputy clerk, read a few pages with Lyle finishing.

With the actual vote the aldermen became more vocal. Naccarato again termed the passage a hasty decision. He said Garraghan doesn't know what his deficit will be since he hasn't drawn up a budget. He said Garraghan is asking for more money than he (Garraghan) apparently needs. Naccarato once again stated that an intelligent vote could not be taken on the measure on such short notice.

Alderman Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-Fifth Ward) termed the sales tax "one of the best measures I've voted for in my tenure in the Council."

Takes Exception
Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) took exception to Naccarato's statement that an intelligent vote could not be made by the aldermen. "I for one, have had enough time to study this resolution. I read it over the weekend and I read it again when the city clerk read it. This measure is long overdue."

Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) said, "No taxes are popular. This is a daring step forward but a necessary step. We as councilmen, represent both factions, the taxpayers and the city employees. If you want increased services you have to pay for them."

Alderman Gallo: "As chairman of the Finance Committee I've studied this measure carefully. This plan had been in the talking stage for four years. It can help meet commitments that this body, itself, has made. We all hate taxes, but there comes a time when we must take action. If we don't take action either the county or the state will come in and grab all the money. Ulster County has offered no relief to the taxpayers of Kingston. This is a relief."

Alderman Howard said the tax was one of the most lenient ways to relieve the burden on property owners.

Machione said he didn't want to vote for a blanket tax without knowing how much it would relieve property owners.

William Davis (D-L-13th Ward) said, "Some people voted against this tax but voted for pay raises, career plans for firemen and policemen and pensions for them. Where's the money supposed to come from? As far as driving business out of Kingston, I can't buy that."

Poughkeepsie adopted a sales tax and it didn't drive their people to Kingston. In fact, I see plenty of Kingston shoppers down there. They go there because there's a better selection and better prices."

Commends Aldermen
Garraghan today commended aldermen who had voted for the sales tax, saying the people who elected them should be very pleased. "By voting for this sales tax they've saved real estate in Kingston," Garraghan said.

The mayor said he hopes the county now passes a sales tax and that the city and county can get together and see "who gets what."

Commenting on the endorsement for City Clerk Lyle by the Council, Garraghan said, "Bud certainly had it coming. He's done a great job. He'll be my clerk for another two years."

S. James Matthews said he was "terribly disappointed" at the lack of digging into the facts by the aldermen. He predicted a dark future for business in Kingston. "They can forget about that mall uptown," he said, "and start planting grass."

The measure now goes to the State Tax Bureau in Albany for review.

According to the Associated Press, supervisors in Albany and Fulton counties have joined 16 other Upstate County governments in approving county sales taxes.

Butter Prices
NEW YORK (AP) — (USDA) — Butter offerings adequate but closely held for an irregular demand. Prices unchanged.

Cheese steady, prices unchanged.

"A 28-page highly involved and technical measure was presented to the aldermen on Friday. Three days later the new tax was enacted," Matthews said. "The only apparent reason for the haste is a rumor that the State of New York might enact an increase in sales tax, and that some sort of advantage, although just what is obscure would accrue to the City of Kingston by acting now."

Matthews said the governor's budget will be submitted in five weeks, and it may very well contain additional aid to localities.

"It seems that we have reached a sorry state in the City of Kingston where such a far-reaching measure as the retail sales tax should be enacted with such haste on the basis of rumor alone," the Chamber president said.

The County Levy May Follow Shortly

Adoption of a two per cent sales tax by the City of Kingston Monday night may be followed shortly by a County sales tax.

Third ward Supervisor John C. Sangaline, (R), has prepared a county sales tax resolution which he will present to the Board of Supervisors at the Thursday night meeting.

What will happen to the sales tax resolution will be decided by the board. One action which may be taken is to refer the matter to the Tax Base Study Committee of which Twelfth Ward Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, (R), is chairman.

Since the Board operates on a committee basis some supervisors believe the matter of a County sales tax will be referred back to committee.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, chairman of the committee, has already come out with a statement that he is opposed to a sales tax at this time unless the question can be resolved with other adjacent counties after the sales tax question is given further study.

Other members of the Tax Base Study Committee are Hurley Supervisor Charles Relyea, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz of Ulster, Fourth Ward Democrat Joseph B. Scully and Sixth Ward Democrat Irving Bell.

In addition to the county sales tax matter which would require passage of a Local Law after a public hearing, routine business will come before the board Thursday night.

With time a factor, it is expected the 1968 preliminary County budget will be ready and a date set for the required public hearing. Since five days notice must be given of the public hearing and the deadline for adoption of a budget is Dec. 20, Chairman of the Board Peter Savago, New Paltz Republican, will present a resolution calling for the public hearing Wednesday, Dec. 20. A meeting of the Board of Supervisors, following the public hearing, would give opportunity to approve a budget the same date.

Fooling Around Rarely Pays Off

Q—I'm 54 and am ready to do something after years of piddling around, speculating and losing money. Whatever I bought went down and whatever I sold went up—I've had it. I'm now convinced that one should buy stock of proven growth and let time function and work for you. What do you think of life insurance stocks at present? They have come down and if you think they are cheap, I would welcome a recommendation as to a specific issue—M.K.

A—Piddling around means literally trifling with your money and that's exactly what you've been doing. I commend you warmly on your change of heart and on your selection of the life-insurance field. The group has come down sharply in recent years and still shows no sign of renewed investor favor. If you are patient, though, and buy and hold a high-grade stock, I believe you will be well rewarded over a period of 5 to 10 years. I suggest that you buy Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, which has had a good record of growth and stock-dividend payments for many years.

Matthews Deplores Council's OK on Tax

S. James Matthews, president of Kingston Chamber of Commerce, today indicated that he was "shocked" by the action of the Common Council at last night's meeting at which a 2 per cent sales tax was levied on all retail purchases by residents of the City of Kingston.

"Probably no one event in my lifetime will have a more deleterious effect on the future growth of Kingston than the quick action by the aldermen last evening," Matthews said.

"When the state and federal government present their budget these are usually accompanied by indication as to how the revenue will be used. The City of Kingston appears to have done things completely backward. We increase the taxes and then make up the budget.

"I was appalled, as were others in attendance by the fact that the city legislators passed the sales tax without even knowing how much revenue was needed or what sums would be realized from the new levy," his statement went on.

"Obviously, this figure could have been ascertained by contacting the State Department of Taxation and Finance, since the state imposes a 2 per cent retail sales tax. The speed with which the measure was acted upon leads me to believe that there was a deliberate attempt to throttle intelligent discussion on the new levy.

"A 28-page highly involved and technical measure was presented to the aldermen on Friday. Three days later the new tax was enacted," Matthews said. "The only apparent reason for the haste is a rumor that the State of New York might enact an increase in sales tax, and that some sort of advantage, although just what, is obscure would accrue to the City of Kingston by acting now."

Matthews said the governor's budget will be submitted in five weeks, and it may very well contain additional aid to localities.

"It seems that we have reached a sorry state in the City of Kingston where such a far-reaching measure as the retail sales tax should be enacted with such haste on the basis of rumor alone," the Chamber president said.

The County Levy May Follow Shortly

Adoption of a two per cent sales tax by the City of Kingston Monday night may be followed shortly with a County sales tax.

Third ward Supervisor John C. Sangaline, (R), has prepared a county sales tax resolution which he will present to the Board of Supervisors at the Thursday night meeting.

What will happen to the sales tax resolution will be decided by the board. One action which may be taken is to refer the matter to the Tax Base Study Committee of which Twelfth Ward Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, (R), is chairman. Since the Board operates on a committee basis some supervisors believe the matter of a County sales tax will be referred back to committee.

Supervisor Clarence C. Raichle, chairman of the committee, has already come out with a statement that he is opposed to a sales tax at this time unless the question can be resolved with other adjacent counties after the sales tax question is given further study. Other members of the Tax Base Study Committee are Hurley Supervisor Charles Relyea, Thaddeus Musialkiewicz of Ulster, Fourth Ward Democrat Joseph B. Scully and Sixth Ward Democrat Irving Bell.

In addition to the county sales tax matter which would require passage of a Local Law after a public hearing, routine business will come before the board Thursday night.

With time a factor, it is expected the 1968 preliminary County budget will be ready and a date set for the required public hearing. Since five days notice must be given of the public hearing and the deadline for adoption of a budget is Dec. 20, Chairman of the Board Peter Savago, New Paltz Republican, will present a resolution calling for the public hearing Wednesday, Dec. 20. A meeting of the Board of Supervisors, following the public hearing, would give opportunity to approve a budget the same date.

City Sales Tax...

it, Mrs. Elnor Bruhn, deputy clerk, read a few pages with Lyle finishing.

With the actual vote the aldermen became more vocal. Naccarato again termed the passage a hasty decision. He said Garraghan doesn't know what his deficit will be since he hasn't drawn up a budget. He said Garraghan is asking for more money than he (Garraghan) apparently needs. Naccarato again stated that an intelligent vote could not be taken on the measure on such short notice.

Alderman Clifford Sinsabaugh (D-Fifth Ward) termed the sales tax "one of the best measures I've voted for in my tenure in the Council."

Takes Exception

Joseph Epstein (D-Sixth Ward) took exception to Naccarato's statement that an intelligent vote could not be made by the aldermen. "I for one, have had enough time to study this resolution. I read it over the weekend and I read it again when the city clerk read it. This measure is long overdue."

Peter Mancuso (D-Eighth Ward) said, "No taxes are popular. This is a daring step forward but a necessary step. We as councilmen, represent both factions, the taxpayers and the city employees. If you want increased services you have to pay for them."

Alderman Gallo: "As chairman of the Finance Committee I've studied this measure carefully. This plan had been in the talking stage for four years. It can help meet commitments that this body, itself, has made. We all hate taxes, but there comes a time when we must take action. If we don't take action either the county or the state will come in and grab all the money. Ulster County has offered no relief to the taxpayers of Kingston. This is a relief."

Alderman Howard said the tax was one of the most lenient ways to relieve the burden on property owners.

Machione said he didn't want to vote for a blanket tax without knowing how much it would relieve property owners.

William Davis (D-L-13th Ward) said, "Some people voted against this tax but voted for pay raises, career plans for firemen and policemen and pensions for them. Where's the money supposed to come from? As far as driving business out of Kingston, I can't buy that. Poughkeepsie adopted a sales tax and it didn't drive their people to Kingston. In fact, I see plenty of Kingston shoppers down there. They go there because there's a better selection and better prices."

Commends Aldermen

Garraghan today commended aldermen who had voted for the sales tax, saying the people who elected them should be very pleased. "By voting for this sales tax they've saved real estate in Kingston," Garraghan said.

The mayor said he hopes the county now passes a sales tax and that the city and county can get together and see "who gets what."

Commenting on the endorsement for City Clerk Lyle by the Council, Garraghan said, "Bud certainly had it coming. He's done a great job. He'll be my clerk for another two years."

S. James Matthews said he was "terribly disappointed" at the lack of digging into the facts by the aldermen. He predicted a dark future for business in Kingston. "They can forget about that mall uptown," he said, "and start planting grass."

The measure now goes to the State Tax Bureau in Albany for review.

According to the Associated Press, supervisors in Albany and Fulton counties have joined 16 other Upstate County governments in approving county sales taxes.

Fooling Around Rarely Pays Off

Q—I'm 54 and am ready to do some investing after years of piddling around, speculating and losing money. Whatever I bought went down and whatever I sold went up—I've had it. I'm now convinced that one should buy stock of proven growth and let time function and work for you. What do you think of life insurance stocks at present? They have come down and if you think they are cheap, I would welcome a recommendation as to a specific issue—M.K.

A—Piddling around means literally trifling with your money and that's exactly what you've been doing. I commend you warmly on your change of heart and on your selection of the life-insurance field. The group has come down sharply in recent years and still shows no sign of renewed investor favor. If you are patient, though, and buy and hold a high-grade stock, I believe you will be well rewarded over a period of 5 to 10 years. I suggest that you buy Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas, which has had a good record of growth.

Drink for Safety

SEATTLE (AP) — Seattle Radio Station KOL announcers Dick Curtis and Bill Munson plan to drink and drink and drink until they're stone drunk while on the air Dec. 29.

A station monitor—strictly sober—will stand by to throw a switch in case the announcers get too carried away. Others will make sure Munson and Curtis get home safely.

A panel of experts from the State Patrol, National Safety Council and other organizations also will be there as part of a safety campaign to show and tell listeners how a person's reflexes are affected by liquor.

It is part of KOL's campaign against New Year's drunk driving.

Mrs. Gale Brownlee

Will Receive Scholarship

A 41-year-old flight instructor and charter pilot employed by Carroll Air Service at Kingston Airport, has been chosen to receive the first Doris Mullen Whirly-Girls scholarship. She is Mrs. Gale Brownlee, of Woodstock.

Announcement of the scholarship winner has been made by The Whirly-Girls, International Organization of Women Helicopter pilots. The $500 scholarship which will be presented annually, was established to honor Mrs. Doris Mullen of Joliet, Ill., who was fatally injured in an airplane accident in 1966.

Mrs. Brownlee, mother of a 10-year-old daughter, began flying four years ago and has accumulated 3,000 hours of flight time. She holds single-engine and multi-engine ratings, along with instrument and instructor ratings, and hopes to become a helicopter instructor.

The first Doris Mullen Whirly-Girls scholarship will be presented to Mrs. Brownlee at a Whirly-Girls dinner, Jan. 21, 1968 in Las Vegas, Nev. A certificate honoring the scholarship winner will be donated by American Aviation Publications.

Contributions toward the second scholarship award are now being accepted by the Whirly-Girls, 1725 DeSales Street, N. W., Washington, D. C. 20036. Mrs. Brownlee attended Kingston High School and Chiles School of Design, and worked at several famed wedding gown manufacturing establishments, as a combined model and assistant designer.

While in that phase of designing junior dresses for Bonwit Teller, and sport blouses and shirts which had been made in Kingston, she moved into another phase of modeling, commercial photography and television photography.

Mrs. Brownlee's husband was David J. Brown, who had the largest beauty salon in New York City at one time. She resides in Woodstock with her daughter, Ardis, who is familiarly known as Pixie. After receiving her commercial license, she joined the Civil Air Patrol. As a pilot instructor, she has among her students many prominent area residents. She has figured prominently in many air searches to sight wreckage of ill-fated aircraft in the Mid-Hudson Valley.

Clean Air Termed Major Part Of Christmas Seal Fund Drive

Air pollution has become a major TB-RD Association Christmas Seal program commitment which is to receive increased focus in Ulster County. The already heavy Association program in TB and the Respiratory Diseases is being adjusted also to meet this program need.

In reporting this, John M. Robbins, of Saugerties, president of the Ulster County TB and Health Association, pointed out that Association activities concerning cleaner air and cigarette smoking have been a segment of total program for several years, but now are blocked out for marked emphasis.

Robbins went on, "We are now governing our major program effort by the newly defined Four Areas of Program Emphasis: Chemoprophylaxis, Out-patient Services, Laboratory Services and Air Pollution. The problems of air pollution are of increasingly deep concern to the TB-RD Association in view of their effects on the community and area, and most particularly as they effect our health. Our organization's dedicated work in TB, Emphysema, Chronic Bronchitis, and the rest of the chest diseases now places us unalterably behind cleaner air activity."

"Air pollution - educational program work, by necessity is being developed on a broad, objective basis. All program efforts constantly will strive to relate action to the total pollution problem as it exists in our county area, its relation to the greater Hudson Valley and New York State pollution problem, and as air pollution must effect the future," Robbins said.

The Action-for-Clean-Air-Committee project under TB Association sponsorship has had its initial recognition from the New York State Action-for-Clean-Air Committee. Robbins pointed out, "The State Action-for-Clean-Air group was established and is supported by our State TB-RD Association along with the State Department of Health, Associated Industries of New York State, and the New York State Medical Society, and our group has its affiliation with it," Robbins continued. "The committee involves parallel working relationship with the new Division of Air Resources of the State Department of Health, and to the Air Pollution Control Board of New York State. Its Executive Director, Kenneth Kowald, an expert in pollution work, also serves as Cleaner-Air Consultant to our local program, and was the featured speaker at our Association's Air Pollution annual dinner session this year at the Gov. Clinton Hotel."

The Action-for-Cleaner Air Committee, Robbins reported, now developing its wide range membership and Clean-Air Program has also the official support of the Medical Society of the County of Ulster. Major program concentration is centered in a broad public educational campaign and a wide range of special projects. These latter are designed so that they may include legislative briefing session, medical symposia, special air pollution workshops, and air pollution seminars. An air pollution - curriculum in county schools already has been set in motion, and some discussion with school administrators, educators, and health personnel is underway. The committee planning also projects coordination with clean air organizations in areas surrounding Ulster County.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., special medical advisor to Action-for-Clean Air Program, and the 1967 Ulster County Christmas Seal chairman, warmly supported the association's clean air planning as reported by Robbins. He pointed out that the program is vital in chest disease concern, and as a community problem, and must have the interest and support of all concerned Ulster County citizens.

In reviewing the Association's past several years of Clean Air program work, Robbins noted that effective and extensive clean air pollution-RD educational materials have been provided to county schools, institutions, organizations, students, nursing schools and the public. In addition, the association's annual school press project has given emphasis to air pollution the past several years, and one Ulster County school paper last year won the National Certificate of Honor with its special air pollution edition. The association directly supported state air pollution legislation; took part in the air pollution seminar at Albany and the professional clean air workshop at Schenectady.

Concluding the report, Robbins stated that the Action-for-Clean Air Committee will announce a special session after the beginning of the year, and that its official affiliation with the state level action group, then will be further delineated.

Savings Bank Deposits Top Previous High

For the first time in the history of the savings banks of New York State, deposits have passed the $35 billion mark.

In releasing the figures for the industry, Dr. Austin S. Murphy, managing director of Savings Banks Association of New York State, pointed out that in November, a net inflow of regular deposits of $120,169,000 (after adjustment for passbook loans) for the state's 125 savings banks brought total regular deposits to $35,014,040,000, representing a deposit increase of 0.35 per cent for the month. This gain compares with that of $98,704,000 or 0.28 per cent for October 1967. The net increase in November before adjustments for passbook loans was $205,911,000.

The increase in regular deposits in November 1966 was $131,277,000, when total regular deposits amounted to $31,590,493,000.

Dr. Murphy also noted that in October and November of this year, the 122 of the state's savings banks offering Christmas Club accounts, paid out approximately $82,049,838 to 46,771 Christmas Club depositors.

Dr. Frederic W. Holcomb Sr., special medical advisor to Action-for-Clean Air Program, and the 1967 Ulster County Christmas Seal chairman, warmly supported the association's clean air planning as reported by Robbins. He pointed out that the program is vital in chest disease concern, and as a community problem, and must have the interest and support of all concerned Ulster County citizens.

Savings Bank Deposits Top Previous High

For the first time in the history of the savings banks of New York State, deposits have passed the $35 billion mark.

In releasing the figures for the industry, Dr. Austin S. Murphy, managing director of Savings Banks Association of New York State, pointed out that in November, a net inflow of regular deposits of $120,169,000 (after adjustment for pass-book loans) for the state's 125 savings banks brought total regular deposits to $35,014,040,000, representing a deposit increase of 0.35 per cent for the month. This gain compares with that of $98,704,000 or 0.28 per cent for October 1967. The net increase in November before adjustments for passbook loans was $205,911,000.

The increase in regular deposits in November 1966 was $131,277,000, when total regular deposits amounted to $31,590,493,000.

Dr. Murphy also noted that in October and November of this year, the 122 of the state's savings banks offering Christmas Club accounts, paid out approximately $82,049,838 to 646,771 Christmas Club depositors.

Approves Action Plan

The executive committee of the Kingston Area Council of Churches last week came out in support of the Neighborhood Concerned Declaration of Intent.

Neighbors Concerned is an informal inter-faith group which seeks to better the housing conditions for low income groups. The Rev. Dr. David C. Gause made the proposal at a meeting of the executive committee at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. The motion was passed unanimously.

The Rev. William A. Studwell, newly elected president of the church council, presided at the meeting. Reports were made on recent UNICEF collections made by some of the member churches. More than 10 churches issued incomplete returns of $650 with more results expected soon.

The committee will recommend to the assembly that the word "Protestant" be removed from the Preamble of the Constitution of the KACC.

The assembly of the KACC, consisting of all officers and delegates of member churches, will meet in February and on alternate months thereafter.

The executive committee will meet on the other months. These meetings will be held on the last Thursday of each month at 8 p. m. The next meeting of the executive committee will be held at the Redeemer Lutheran Church, Jan. 25 at 8 p. m.

A ministry to students in the area colleges was discussed. It is anticipated that further guidance will be provided by an informed spokesman at the February meeting of the Assembly.

Harry Thayer, manager of Station WGHQ, was commended for his forthright stand against the crass commercialism of business interests in the use of the Christmas season.

Ajournment followed a closing prayer by the Rev. Daniel Ogden of the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

Yule Scene In Quarryville

A huge Christmas scene on the front lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potter of Quarryville, which annually draws thousands of viewers from all parts of the Hudson Valley was illuminated this weekend.

The Potter home, a double split-level is situated along the High Falls Road off Route 32.

Potter said due to the size of the display he is forced to turn off the lights at 10 p. m. although he hates to disappoint those motorists who have come a long way to view the scene.

The Christmas display includes a nativity scene, two sets of Santas with sleigh and various assortments of elves, angels and choral singers. The display is over 100 feet wide running across the front lawn.

New Option

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A limited pass-fail option for all Harvard and Radcliffe students will take effect next September.

Under the plan students may choose one course each year to be marked only "pass" or "fail."

The new provision, approved recently by the Harvard faculty, is expected to encourage undergraduates to take courses in unfamiliar fields without fearing mediocre grades.

ON TIME—On Feb. 18th, Britain will get in step with the rest of Europe when it abandons Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) as its local time and puts its clocks forward one hour to run permanently on Central European Time. Here, a man checks his watch against the clock on a wall of the old Greenwich Royal Observatory (now a maritime museum) which is situated on the line of the zero meridian of longitude. The clock gives the exact time in GMT. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Has License Stolen

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A Cook County official with a heart made sure a burglar didn't ruin Ronald Kamen's wedding plans.

Kamen, 22, was having a pre-nuptial dinner recently with his father, Herbert, when someone broke into young Kamen's car and made off with his marriage license, a pair of plane tickets to Miami, Fla., two tickets for a Bahama cruise and clothing.

Sidney Marcovitz, administrative assistant to County Clerk Edward J. Barrett, heard about the misfortune and made a special trip to his office on a Sunday morning to issue a duplicate license.

The wedding took place as scheduled after the bridegroom bought new airline and steamship tickets.

Trucker Killed

HENRIETTA, N. Y. (AP) — A van-type truck skidded on a rain-slicked road in this Rochester suburb Monday and struck several trees, killing the driver.

Police said John Coakley, 45, of Henrietta, was hurled 27 feet from the wreckage. He was alone, they said.

Coakley lived at 44 Notre Dame Drive.

Woman Dies Of Seizure

A search for Christmas evergreens Sunday afternoon in Malden-West Camp Fire Company was alerted and a search party formed.

Coroner Hartley said today when a Canoe Hill woman missing from her home for two and a half hours suffered a heart seizure and later died.

She was Mrs. Pauline Sowles, 55, wife of Edward Sowles of Route 1, Box 33 in the Canoe Hill area of Saugerties.

Coroner Henry S. Hartley was called to the scene when the woman was found near her home by her husband and son, George Robert.

When Mrs. Sowles failed to respond to the famous singing "London Bridge, London Bridge, Is Falling Down,"

Inspired Songs

In the time of Shakespeare London Bridge was lined with houses and resembled a street. The houses were torn down when the bridge became unsafe and this destruction inspired the famous singing game of "London Bridge Is Falling Down."

Approves Action Plan

The executive committee of the Kingston Area Council of Churches last week came out in support of the Neighbors Concerned Declaration of Intention.

Neighbors Concerned is an informal inter-faith group which seeks to better the housing conditions for low income groups. The Rev. Dr. David C. Gaise made the proposal at a meeting of the executive committee at Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. The motion was passed unanimously.

The Rev. William A. Studwell, newly elected president of the church council, presided at the meeting. Reports were made on recent UNICEF collections made by some of the member churches. More than 10 envelopes issued incomplete returns of $650 with more results expected soon.

The committee will recommend to the assembly that the word "Protestant" be removed from the Preamble of the Constitution of the KACC. The assembly of all officers and delegates of member churches will meet in February and on alternate months thereafter.

The executive committee will meet on the other months. These meetings will be held on the last Thursday of each month at 8 p. m. The next meeting of the executive committee will be held at the Redeemer Lutheran Church, Jan. 25 at 8 p. m.

A ministry to students in the area colleges was discussed. It is anticipated that further guidance will be provided by an informed spokesman at the February meeting of the Assembly.

Harry Thayer, manager of Station WGHQ, was commended for his forthright stand against the crass commercialism of the Christmas season.

Agreement followed a closing prayer by the Rev. Daniel Ogden of the Port Ewen Reformed Church.

Yule Scene In Quarryville

A huge Christmas scene on the front lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Potter of Quarryville, which annually draws thousands of viewers from all parts of the Hudson Valley was illuminated this weekend.

The Potter home, a double split-level is situated along the High Falls Road off Route 32.

Potter said due to the size of the display he is forced to turn off the lights at 10 p. m. although he hates to disappoint those motorists who have come a long way to view the scene.

The Christmas display includes a nativity scene, two sets of Santas with sleigh and various assortments of elves, angels and choral singers. The display is over 100 feet wide running across the front lawn.

New Option

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — A limited pass-fail option for all Harvard and Radcliffe students will take effect next September.

Under the plan students may choose one course each year to be marked only "pass" or "fail."

The new provision, approved recently by the Harvard faculty, is expected to encourage undergraduates to take courses in unfamiliar fields without fearing mediocre grades.

ON TIME—On Feb. 18th, Britain will get in step with the rest of Europe when it abandons Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) as its local time and puts its clocks forward one hour to run permanently on Central European Time. Here, a man checks his watch against the clock on a wall of the old Greenwich Royal Observatory (now a maritime museum) which is situated on the line of the zero meridian of longitude. The clock gives the exact time in GMT. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Has License Stolen

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — A Cook County official with a heart made sure a burglar didn't ruin Ronald Kamen's wedding plans.

Kamen, 22, was having a pre-nuptial dinner recently with his father, Herbert, when someone broke into young Kamen's car and made off with his marriage license, a pair of plane tickets to Miami, Fla., two tickets for a Bahama cruise and clothing.

Sidney Marcovitz, administrative assistant to County Clerk Edward J. Barrett, heard about the misfortune and made a special trip to his office on a Sunday morning to issue a duplicate license.

The wedding took place as scheduled after the bridegroom bought new airline and steamship tickets.

Trucker Killed

HENRIETTA, N. Y. (AP) — A van-type truck skidded on a rain-slicked road in this Rochester suburb Monday and struck several trees, killing the driver.

Police said John Coakley, 45, of Henrietta, was hurled 27 feet from the wreckage. He was alone, they said.

Coakley lived at 44 Notre Dame Drive.

Woman Dies Of Seizure

A search for Christmas evergreens Sunday afternoon in Saugerties ended in tragedy when a Canoe Hill woman missing from her home for two and a half hours suffered a heart seizure and later died.

She was Mrs. Pauline Sowles, 55, wife of Edward Sowles of Route 1, Box 33 in the Canoe Hill area of Saugerties.

Coroner Henry S. Hartley was called to the scene when the woman was found near her home by her husband and son, George Robert.

When Mrs. Sowles failed to return from the wooded area, Malden-West Camp Fire Company was alerted and a search party formed.

Retiring Freeman Official Honored at Testimonial

A notable journalistic career of over a half century in Ulster County will come to a close Wednesday, Dec. 13 when Frederick Hoffman retires as a member of the Kingston Daily Freeman reportorial staff.

Hoffman became a member of the editorial staff of The Freeman in 1912. At that time his father, the late Abraham W. Hoffman, was The Freeman managing editor. In 1915, he was assigned to the uptown Freeman branch office where he since has specialized in court reporting in both county and supreme court.

He has been a vice president and director of Freeman Publishing Company since 1938.

Testimonial Fete

At a testimonial dinner Monday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel, members of The Freeman staff paid tribute to him as an able writer, fair in his judgment, honorable, conscientious and energetic, always upholding the highest standards of his profession. In his many years of newspaper work in Ulster County, he never violated a confidence or knowingly wrote anything untrue or misleading.

During his newspaper career, he covered many important criminal cases including several murder trials which attracted nationwide attention.

FREDERICK HOFFMAN

Among the many tributes and congratulatory messages read at the testimonial dinner was the following from County Judge Raymond J. Mino:

Lauds Devotion

Let it be spread upon the record of this session of the County Court of Ulster County, that tomorrow Fred Hoffman is retiring from active duty as the court reporter for the Kingston Daily Freeman. Both as a lawyer and as a judge, I have had the opportunity to observe Fred Hoffman for the past 30 years. I have found him to be a diligent and ethical newspaperman and at all times a gentleman. Fred Hoffman has been the only representative of the news media to actually attend court sessions. Because of the devotion to his profession and personal knowledge of what, in fact, transpired his reports of court proceedings have always been accurate and dignified and in the true tradition of his profession.

His presence at court sessions will be missed by all court personnel. The integrity of his reports also will be missed.

Tributes and congratulatory messages also were received from Sheriff William B. Martin, who certified him as an honorary deputy sheriff; Albert Spada, county clerk; Peter J. Savago, chairman of the Board of Supervisors; Attorney Vincent G. Connelly; Joseph Fitzsimmons, commissioner of Social Services; Dewese W. DeWitt, president of First Federal Savings and Joseph P. Torraca, district attorney.

Publisher's Tribute

Chester M. Spooner, vice president of Mid-Hudson Publications Inc., publishers of The Kingston Daily Freeman, expressed appreciation on behalf of the owners for his contribution to The Freeman throughout the years and extended their very best wishes for good health and happiness in the years ahead.

Besides reporting court proceedings, Hoffman also covered investigation of kickbacks in Ulster County, county departments, board of supervisors and for many years the board of education.

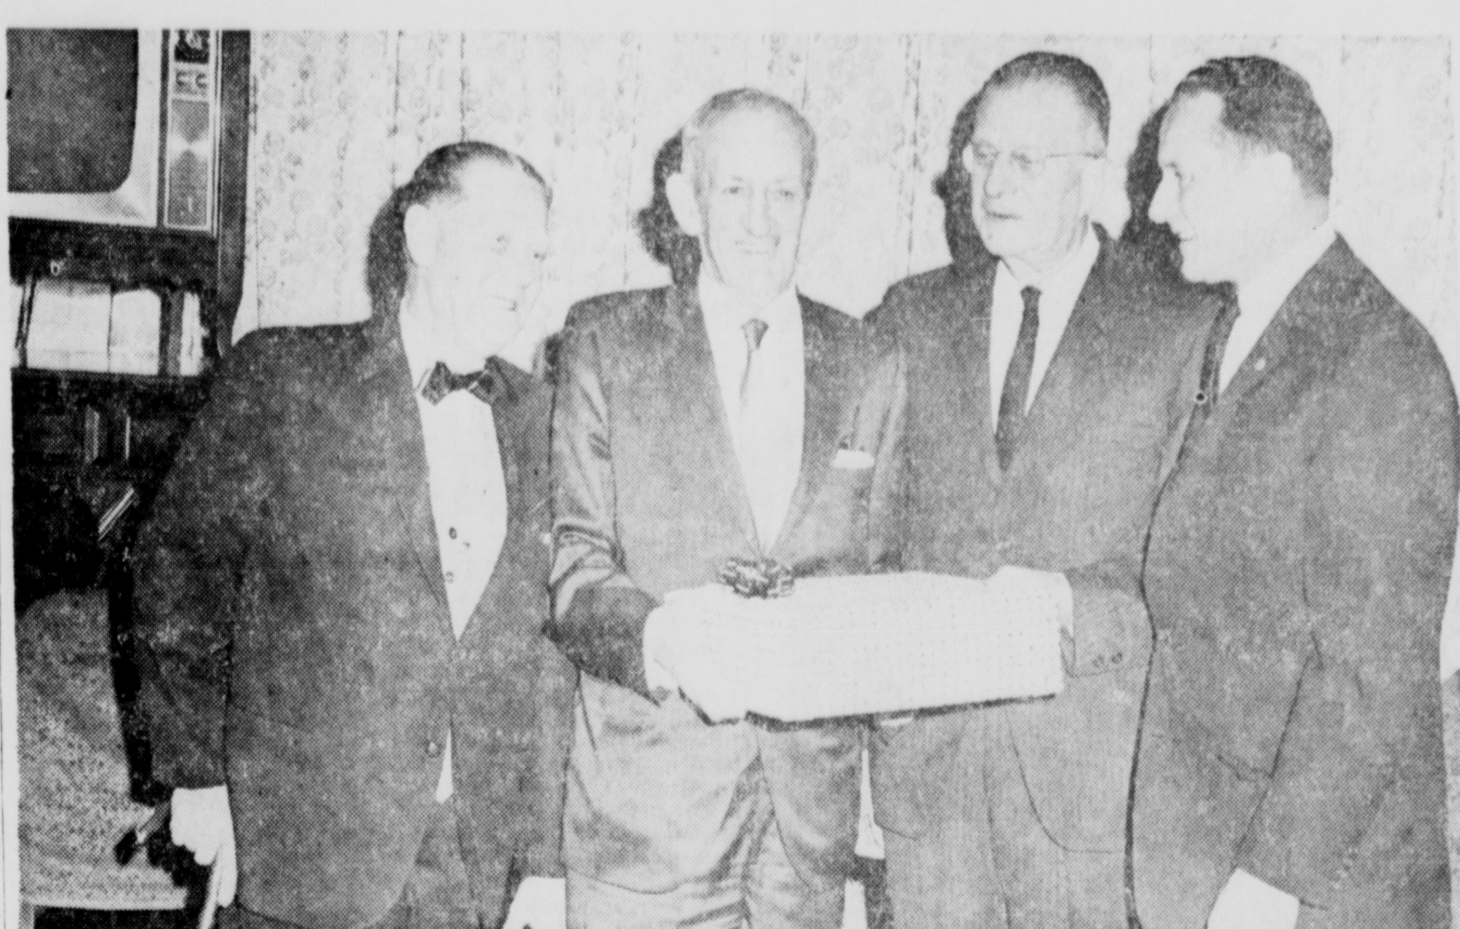

One of the most strenuous assignments was the Reuter probe of the alleged corruption of Kingston Police, which started in 1957 and continued for several years and the investigation of County which began in 1958 and ended in 1960.

A native of Kingston, he has seen many changes in the city and surrounding area and his lengthy career as a reporter gave him a deep sense of history and the changes it wrought down through the years.

He was the son of the late Abraham W. and Rebecca C. Shultis Hoffman. His father for many years was managing editor of The Freeman.

He served in the U.S. Army in World War I and with the AEF in France from 1917 to 1919.

Activities which have absorbed him outside his duties at The Freeman included chairmanship of Ulster County Chapter American Red Cross and member of Ulster Grange, No. 969, for over 50 years. He is a member of Fair Street Reformed Church and has served the church as elder and deacon and clerk of the consistory.

Postal Rate Increase

Boost for Federal Workers

By ROBERT T. GRAY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears certain to okay hefty pay boosts for federal workers at virtually the same time it approves a $4.1 billion cut in federal spending.

In Monday action on separate measures:

—The House voted 366 to 26 for a measure to slash spending $4.1 billion this fiscal year, sending the administration-backed bill to the Senate where speedy acceptance is predicted.

—The House sent to the Senate on a 326-62 vote a measure that would boost the salaries of postal workers 6 per cent and of other federal workers 4.5 per cent. The bill also provides for additional pay hikes on July 1 next year and July 1, 1969 at an eventual annual cost of $2.7 billion.

—The pay bill includes proposed increases in postal rates that would raise first-class stamps from 5 to 6 cents and air mail stamps from 8 to 10 cents.

Sees No Difficulties

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he anticipated no difficulties in speeding the spending cut measure to the White House, which called for the slashes as part of a proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on personal and corporate income taxes.

The administration advocated the budget cuts in hopes of persuading Congress to approve the tax boost but there's no chance of action on taxes before next year's session.

Before agreeing on the $4.1 billion figure the House rejected 213 to 183 a GOP proposal for slashes totaling $5.7 billion.

The bill approved would require federal agencies to cut personnel costs by 2 per cent and other controllable expenditures by 10 per cent.

The action came shortly before the House vote to raise salaries of federal workers more than 10 per cent over the next 19 months.

Congress itself would be exempted from the economy drive it is ordering for most other federal agencies. The federal judiciary wouldn't be affected, either.

Also exempt would be national defense programs, veterans' benefits, Social Security benefits, farm-price supports and health insurance payments.

Postal Rates Up Jan. 7

Under the postal-pay measure, also expected to win quick Senate approval, postal rates for all classes of mail would go up by next Jan. 7, generating new revenue of $900 million a year once they're all in effect.

The measure also would boost post-card postage from 4 to 5 cents and air mail cards from 6 to 8 cents. The per-piece postal rates for third-class mail would rise from 2.875 cents to 3.5 cents starting next month, then to 4 cents in July 1969. But a 3.8-cent rate would apply to the first 250,000 pieces mailed in any year.

Second-class rates, which cover newspapers and magazines, would jump next year from 1 cent to 1.1 cent under the minimum rate, then to 1.2 cents in 1969 and 1.3 cents in 1970.

Both the pay and postal rate boosts exceed President Johnson's requests but indications are he'll sign the measure.

Losely-Weber Nuptials Told

Miss Barbara K. Losely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Losely, Rosendale, became the bride of Lance Cpl. Walter H. Weber, U.S. Marine Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Weber, Rosendale, on Saturday, Dec. 2, at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, officiated at the double ring ceremony. White gladioli and chrysanthemums decorated the altar. Dr. John Parks provided traditional wedding selections.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of Chantilly lace and silk organza with an A-line skirt and detachable tubular train. Her silk illusion veil was shirred to a bridal crown of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of carnations.

Mrs. Beverly Graham, Rosendale, was matron of honor for her sister. She wore a floor-length powder blue gown fashioned with lace over an A-line fitted blue satin gown. Her headpiece was a blue velvet pillbox with a short flirtation veil and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink carnations.

Keith Thomson, Kingston, best man, and Miles Shaw, usher, were both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom.

After the wedding a reception was held at Kingston Maennerchor for 50 guests.

For her wedding trip the bride selected a white wool tunic ensemble with black accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from West Genesee High School, Syracuse, and is now employed by Ulster County Infirmary.

Doctor's Mailbag

Q—I am a boy, 19, height 6-foot-3 and weight 156 pounds. How can I gain weight?

Q—I am a girl, 18, I weigh only 85 pounds and I am 5-foot-3½. I feel left out of things because I am so skinny.

Q—I am a housewife, 5-foot-4½ and I weigh 105 pounds. How can I get back to 122, which I weighed three years ago?

A—There is but one formula for gaining weight: You must eat more calories than you use up as energy. The foods that will give you the most calories per pound are the easily digested fats—margarine, cream and butter. To start with, try getting one cubic inch of margarine three times a day, three eggs a day, one glass of half-cream-and-half-milk three or four times a day and a cubic inch of American or brick cheese every day, in addition to the other elements of a well-balanced diet. Avoid taking any drugs that are supposed to put weight on you.

Q—Why is it that seven to 10 days before I start to menstruate my breasts feel heavy and sore? Would the fact that one ovary was removed make this condition worse one month than it is the next? Also, at about this time everything I eat causes acid indigestion. Why is this?

A—The changes in ovarian secretions that occur in regular monthly cycles cause retention of water in the tissues. This normal physiologic reaction causes the fullness in your breasts. The severity of the sensation varies in different women and may vary from month to month in the same woman. The removal of an ovary would not cause the fluctuations in intensity of this symptom as the same variations are seen in women who still have two functioning ovaries.

Dear Heloise: If you have a glass top coffee table and also have a lot of small snatches of your children or grandchildren which you would like to display...

Remove the glass top, place the pictures on the table, then put the glass back on. Your pictures are displayed nicely and free from dust.

Hadassah Chapter Luncheon

More than 80 members of the Kingston Chapter of Hadassah and their guests recently enjoyed a luncheon and program climaxing Hadassah's drive on behalf of Youth Aliyah, international rescue and rehabilitation movement. Jack and Alice Marquardt of Glenford presented a program, "Masters of the Mind," using members of the audience to demonstrate extra-sensory perception, telepathy and clairvoyance.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Arnold Goldschlag, program chairman, and Mrs. Stanley Wyman, her co-chairman.

Mrs. Arthur Landelman presided over the brief business session. She introduced Mrs. Jack Judelson of Middletown, Hadassah regional vice president, who described Youth Aliyah's ever-expanding role in Israel. Newest of its far-ranging program is a series of mobile units, which will bring vocational education facilities to all areas of the country.

Mrs. Arthur Motzkin, chairman of the Youth Aliyah campaign, thanked her workers, including Mrs. Robert E. Davis, co-chairman; Mrs. Arthur London, hostess for a workers' breakfast Nov. 16; and Mrs. Harry Feldman, campaign treasurer. Contributions may still be sent to Mrs. Feldman at 104 Wall Street.

Campaign workers included Mmes. Arthur Field, Samuel Barnovitz, Nathaniel B. Gross, Charles Jacobs, Fred Strauss, Alvin Motzkin, Leon Gray, Max Eckdich, Stanley London, William Helmrich, Irwin Gellen, Sidney Wolff, Robert Yallum and Abe Camhi.

Special thanks were extended to Mrs. Gerald Cohen, chairman of Tuesday's luncheon, who was aided by the Mmes. Arthur Motzkin, Robert E. Davis, Arthur Landelman, Abe Camhi, Murray Greene, Joseph Horowitz and Gerald Goldberg.

Mrs. Robert S. Yallum reported on the City Beautification Commission's proposed memorial to the late Sophie Miller; an avenue of willow trees will be planted at the approach to the Kingston Point Park. Mrs. Yallum urged that all contribute to make this memorial possible. Contributions may be given to her or sent directly to The Freeman, earmarked for the fund.

Mrs. Stanley Wyman reported on plans for a bazaar and luncheon, to be held Tuesday, Dec. 12. A work session was held at 8 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 27, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Landelman, 232 N. Manor Ave.

Items to be sold at a boutique were made.

Hadassah also plans a special Hadassah Medical Organization benefit, which begins in January. A color television set will be awarded. Mrs. Herbert Kletke is chairman of the project.

Vice president in charge of fund raising is Mrs. Arthur London.

Those attending discussed the group's Donor event to be held in June. Anyone who has suggestions as to the event should make them known to any board member.

Hints from Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Friends:
Here's that woman knocking on your kitchen door again.

After years of trying to cut corners and save a few minutes, you'll just die when I tell you how to open a package of boxed pudding without breaking your fingernails, or getting mad trying to get the last drops out of that plastic sack inside. This is also good for cakes, gelatin dessert and just about anything that comes in a box.

Instead of trying to open the ends, lay the box flat and using a sharp knife, cut that box almost in half as if you were slicing bread. Only cut through the top and two sides, leaving the back intact.

Now, pick up the box and hold it over your mixing bowl then turn it upside down and bend it backwards.

Every iota of its contents will spill into your bowl with absolutely no effort whatsoever on your part!

This may not be new to you, but I nearly yelled apple-pandy when I learned this.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Violin Sonatas Published

A volume of six violin sonatas by Pietro Nardini, edited by Dr. Mildred Johnson of the Bennett College music faculty, has just been published by G. Shirmer, the first time since the eighteenth century that these compositions have appeared in print.

Dr. Johnson, associate professor of music at Bennett, is a noted violinist who has performed frequently in the mid-Hudson area. She has been a member of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic since 1960 and its principal violinist since 1962 and was featured soloist with the Hudson Valley Little Symphony in its concert at Marist College last month.

Dr. Johnson is also a well-known lecturer on music and last week was a panelist during the New York State School Music Association's conference at Kiamasha Lake. Dr. Johnson spoke on "Music in the Junior College for the Non-Music Major." Also on the panel with her were Dr. Marvin Rapp of Onondago Community College; Sister M. Eloise, academic dean of Maria Regina College, and Dr. Clarence Faulcon, chairman of the music department at Cazenovia College and V. Robert Heisey of the music faculty at Orange County Community College.

Doing the Right Thing

of the Emily Post Institute
THE IMPORTANCE OF
"GOOD" THANK-YOU NOTES

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of "Emily Post's Etiquette" has been sent to Mrs. Virginia Frazee of Palo Alto, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Post: Since weddings take place all year 'round, we will always have brides and thank-you notes. I've often wondered just how many brides are aware of a common courtesy they seem to lack when "siding" behind the almighty pen and paper.

When I wrote my thank-you notes for my wedding gifts, I included my husband's name in the body of the note and signed only my name. I did not use stationery already printed with a message and just sign our names and a mere "Thank you for the place setting" at the bottom, as some notes we have received. I tried to convey a genuine tone of appreciation, thinking of the time and trouble that may have been spent in the selection.

Please correct me if I'm too harsh, but there must be others in your audience who really enjoy reading a well-written, thoughtful thank-you note and, thus, are happy to have chosen something worthwhile. If you feel at all as I do, I'm sure you will enlighten many brides-to-be with your answer.—Virginia Frazee

Dear Mrs. Frazee: There are, I hope, many in my audience who will also enjoy reading a thoughtful note such as yours. Your parents took the time and trouble to teach you how to express appreciation, and I cannot add to your letter. I can only hope that those who read it will realize the importance of teaching the same principles to their children.

Exchanging Broken Shower Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: I was recently invited to a shower. When the bride-to-be opened the gifts, mine, which was an expensive item, was party broken. Whose responsibility is this? Is it up to me to take it back to the store, or is it up to the future bride to return it?—Sally

Dear Sally: Although it is the responsibility of the bride to exchange broken wedding gifts whenever she has time, shower gifts are a bit different. The days before a girl's marriage are invariably hectic and rushed, and it would be most thoughtful of the shower guest to offer to make the exchange. Also, since wedding gifts are generally sent, the donor never need know of the accident, whereas she can hardly miss it when the shower gift is opened in front of everyone.

No "No Gifts" on Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged to be married. I have been setting money aside to buy the necessary household items. This way I can buy what I need and want. When I send out wedding announcements, I would like to add, "NO GIFTS PLEASE," so that I won't have to settle for whatever they pick. Then, when the house is set up and relatives see what I have and don't have, they may then think of a gift, if they wish. Do you think this would cause hard feelings?—Shirley

Dear Shirley—I hope you won't put "NO GIFTS PLEASE" on your announcements. In the first place, announcements carry no obligation that the receiver send a gift. Second, you are free to exchange gifts if you wish, so you need not "settle" for anything. Third, many people enjoy choosing and giving thoughtful gifts and may be resentful if you deprive them of the pleasure. "NO GIFTS PLEASE" is permissible on anniversary or birthday invitations, but a wedding is one occasion where people want to contribute a share in furnishing the new home.

"So You're Planning to Give a Shower!" This booklet tells you everything you need to know for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

Violin Sonatas Published

A volume of six violin sonatas by Pietro Nardini, edited by Dr. Mildred Johnson of the Bennett College music faculty, has just been published by G. Shirmer, the first time since the eighteenth century that these compositions have appeared in print.

Dr. Johnson, associate professor of music at Bennett, is a noted violinist who has performed frequently in the mid-Hudson area. She has been a member of the Hudson Valley Philharmonic since 1960 and its principal violinist since 1962 and was featured soloist with the Hudson Valley Little Symphony in its concert at Marist College last month.

Dr. Johnson is also a well-known lecturer on music and last week was a panelist during the New York State School Music Association's conference at Kiamasha Lake. Dr. Johnson spoke on "Music in the Junior College for the Non-Music Major." Also on the panel with her were Dr. Marvin Rapp of Onondago Community College; Sister M. Eloise, academic dean of Maria Regina College, and Dr. Clarence Faulcon, chairman of the music department at Cazenovia College and V. Robert Heisey of the music faculty at Orange County Community College.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

THE IMPORTANCE OF "GOOD" THANK-YOU NOTES

The following letter has been chosen as the prize-winning one for this week. A copy of "Emily Post's Etiquette" has been sent to Mrs. Virginia Frazee of Palo Alto, Calif.

Dear Mrs. Post: Since weddings take place all year 'round, we will always have brides and thank-you notes. I've often wondered just how many brides are aware of a common courtesy they seem to lack when "hiding" behind the almighty pen and paper.

When I wrote my thank-you notes for my wedding gifts, I included my husband's name in the body of the note and signed only my name. I did not use stationery already printed with a message and just sign our names and a mere "Thank you for the place setting" at the bottom, as some notes we have received. I tried to convey a genuine tone of appreciation, thinking of the time and trouble that may have been spent in the selection.

Please correct me if I'm too harsh, but there must be others in your audience who really enjoy reading a well-written, thoughtful thank-you note and, thus, are happy to have chosen something worthwhile. If you feel at all as I do, I'm sure you will enlighten many brides-to-be with your answer.—Virginia Frazee

Dear Mrs. Frazee: There are, I hope, many in my audience who will also enjoy reading a thoughtful note such as yours. Your parents took the time and trouble to teach you how to express appreciation, and I cannot add to your letter. I can only hope that those who read it will realize the importance of teaching the same principles to their children.

Exchanging Broken Shower Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: I was recently invited to a shower. When the bride-to-be opened the gifts, mine, which was an expensive item, was party broken. Whose responsibility is this? Is it up to me to take it back to the store, or is it up to the future bride to return it?—Sally

Dear Sally: Although it is the responsibility of the bride to exchange broken wedding gifts whenever she has time, shower gifts are a bit different. The days before a girl's marriage are invariably hectic and rushed, and it would be most thoughtful of the shower guest to offer to make the exchange. Also, since wedding gifts are generally sent, the donor never need know of the accident, whereas she can hardly miss it when the shower gift is opened in front of everyone.

No "No Gifts" on Wedding Announcements

Dear Mrs. Post: I am engaged to be married. I have been setting money aside to buy the necessary household items. This way I can buy what I need and want. When I send out wedding announcements, I would like to add, "NO GIFTS PLEASE," so that I won't have to settle for whatever they pick. Then, when the house is set up and relatives see what I have and don't have, they may then think of a gift, if they wish. Do you think this would cause hard feelings?—Shirley

Dear Shirley—I hope you won't put "NO GIFTS PLEASE" on your announcements. In the first place, announcements carry no obligation that the receiver send a gift. Second, you are free to exchange gifts if you wish, so you need not "settle" for anything. Third, many people enjoy choosing and giving thoughtful gifts and may be resentful if you deprive them of the pleasure. "NO GIFTS PLEASE" is permissible on anniversary or birthday invitations, but a wedding is one occasion where people want to contribute a share in furnishing the new home. you everything you need to know for a bridal shower, a welcome party for a new neighbor, the local minister or anyone else. To get a copy, send twenty-five cents in coin to cover booklet and mailing expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper.

UCCC Senators Set School Record With 162 Points

Those incredible Ulster County Community College Senators smashed school scoring records to smithereens in a classic 162-72 rout of Northwestern, Conn., last night at the municipal auditorium.

Are the Senators ready for Thursday night's major test against unbeaten Sullivan Community (6-0) at the auditorium? You bet they are, if you'll just take a gander at the mathematical carnage they created against the Nutmegers:

1) Raised the school team scoring mark from 155 to 162.

2) Jumpin' Joe Uhl, who played only 26 minutes, shattered Brad Meyers' individual record of 38 with a 43-point harvest.

3) The 106-point second half total is an all-time school record and both the 106-point half and 162 aggregate may be new National Junior College Athletic Association records.

4) Extended their winning streak to nine straight and need a win over Sullivan Thursday to match the previous top mark for seasonal victories (10).

5) Boosted the team's offensive average to 113.5 and defensive average to 78.2.

Four Points a Minute

The 11 player, used by Coach Perry pooled their scoring wizardry to pile up points at a 4-point plus per minute rate. Bill DuBois missed the action because of illness.

Rod Chando was runnerup to Uhl with 20 points. Boines added 12, Henderson 11, Roselli 16, Derrenbacher 10 and Ty Quill 19.

Uhl was 19 for 39 from the field, as Ulster used a zone press to jump off to a 12-3 lead.

Then it was 22-11 and then came the deluge.

Ulster hit on 73 fields in 134 attempts, while the Nutmegers were going 26 for 84. All subs were in with 7:38 remaining in the first half and the Senators en route to a decisive 60-31 margin. With 12 minutes remaining in the second half, Coach Perry sent his players into a man-to-man defense.

Hanni set the pace with 11 rebounds as Ulster picked off 57 to 44 for Northwestern. Boines, and Henderson added nine each for the locals.

Defending Champions

Sullivan figures to give Ulster its sternest test of the season. The invaders won the Mid-Hudson Conference title last year and come in with an unblemished 6-0 record.

Gold and Green JCC Winners

Two Jewish Community Center senior basketball teams tried it with four players last night and the results were disastrous.

Dave Goldman (37) and Ed Basch (35) paced Basch's. Glen Hammer of Ballow's and Bruce Jacobs of the Reds hit 19 each.

Boozier Climbs In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Boozier bounced around the National Basketball Association for six years without setting the world afire, but expansion seems to have given him a hot hand.

The big forward of the Chicago Bulls, the league's new club last year, pumped in 112 points last week and jumped from seventh to third in the NBA scoring race with 682 points for a 22.7 average, statistics showed today.

Last year, Boozier averaged 18 points for the Bulls far more than he ever managed for Cincinnati, New York or Los Angeles.

Dave Bing of Detroit still leads the league with 748 points and a 28.8 average, ahead of Elgin Baylor's 731 and 25.2.

Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia leads in field goal percentage with 54 per cent while Jon McGlocklin of San Diego is tops in free throws with 88.1 per cent.

Nate Thurmond of San Francisco leads Chamberlain by one point, 675, although Chamberlain has averaged 24.1 to 22.5.

TOKYO — Yuzo Narumi, 1124, Japan, outpointed Ric Magramo, 113, Philippines, 10.

SYDNEY, Australia — Lionel Rose, 1174, Australia, knocked out Rocky Gattellari, 124, Australia, 13; Rose retained Australian bantamweight title.

LIVING LEGEND — It took Jim Ringo over 13 years to do it, but he finally found a way to get some attention for a center. Breda Kolff Touch Lingers

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

Bill Van Breda Kolff no longer coaches basketball at Princeton but he didn't leave the Tigers defenseless.

It was our second best defensive game of the season," Coach Pete Carril said Monday night after the 10th-ranked Tigers ran their record to 4-0 by thrashing Rutgers 83-54.

You might have difficulty convincing Rutgers it was only Princeton's second-best defensive effort.

Trailing 40-29 at halftime, the Scarlet was held to one point in the first 7½ minutes of the second half by Princeton's swarming man-to-man defense, taught by Van Breda Kolff, while Tiger shooters poured in 18 for insurmountable 58-30 lead.

Carril, who took over the Princeton helm after Van Breda Kolff resigned to coach the professional Los Angeles Lakers, had no trouble following Van Breda Kolff's defensive philosophy. He was captain of the first college team coached by Van Breda Kolff, at Lafayette in the early 1950s.

Thomforde Leads

Christ Thomforde led the balanced Princeton attack against Rutgers at Princeton, N.J., with 15 points, including 13 of 14 from the foul line.

The only other member of the Top Ten to see action Monday, No. 9 Indiana, also won.

The Hoosiers, trailing 42-41 at halftime, came on in the final 14 minutes and edged Kansas State 88-83 at Bloomington, Ind., boosting their record to 4-0. Earl Schneider scored 26 points for Indiana.

Unbeaten Marquette, with George Thompson scoring 22 points and Brad Luchini 16, ran up a nine-point lead in the first three minutes and coasted to its third victory, 87-61 over Air Force at Milwaukee, Wis.

Bonnies Keep Rolling

St. Bonaventure, 4-0, routed Xavier of Ohio 93-69 at Olean, N.Y., as Bill Butler scored 33 points and 6-foot-11 sophomore Bob Lanier added 30.

All five starters hit for double figures for Detroit in a 86-81 victory over West Virginia at Detroit. Bruce Dowdan led the Titans with 20 points, and Dave Reaser got 29 for West Virginia.

Notre Dame won its fourth game in as many starts, 79-59 over winless Southern Methodist, 0-5, at South Bend, Ind. Bob Arzenet netted 20 points and Bob Whitmore got 19 points and grabbed 20 rebounds for the Fighting Irish.

And Queens College beat City College of New York 82-75 for its first victory over the Beavers in 30 years. Les Brody of Queens, who finished with 19 points, hit on all seven of his shots from the floor in the second half to spark the victory.

In other big games, Wichita State outlasted Arizona State 106-105, Cumberland 122-105, Cincinnati 122-105, South Dakota 89-65, Purdue topped Oklahoma 78-66 and Chicago Loyola trounced St. John's Minn., 119-85. All were home-court victories.

Harris Wins and Loses

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Unbeaten Gypsy Joe Harris won and lost Monday night.

The unpredictable Philadelphia fighter scored a split 10-round decision over Miguel Barreto of San Juan, Puerto Rico, for his 33rd ring victory. Then, he went to his dressing room and lost a verdict to the Pennsylvania State Athletic Commission.

Commission Chairman Frank Wildman suspended Harris for 60 days starting Jan. 1. He delayed the suspension because of an exhibition Harris has scheduled this month with Young Walcott in Washington, D. C.

Harris, dancing the frug, bowing to his rooters and performing all the gyrations that have made him one of boxing's most unorthodox performers, edged Barreto with a slashing late round right and left hook attack to the body and face.

Judge Earl Vann scored Harris a 46-45 winner, and referee Zach Clayton voted for Harris 48-44. Judge Jimmy Weston felt Barreto's early body attack had stood up for a 46-45 verdict. The Associated Press scored Harris a 48-45 winner.

Hit With the Book

Immediately after the fight, Wildman told Harris and his handlers of the bald headed fighter's suspension. He said the action was the result of Harris being late for the weigh-in, failing to make the weight differential, jeopardizing the show, defying the commission and putting boxing in a poor light.

Pennsylvania has a rule which prohibits more than a 10-pound weight differential in all divisions except heavyweight. Harris weighed 161 pounds when he stepped on the scale at noon on Monday. Barreto was 148.

Wildman ordered Harris, the No. 1 welterweight contender, to take off at least three pounds

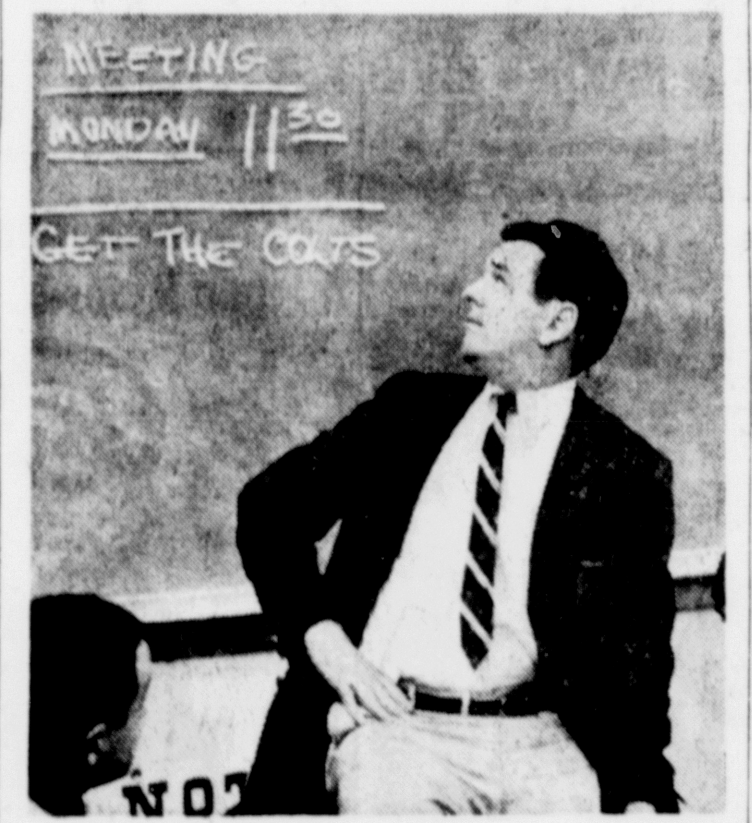

Weight-in Mess

Durham says he then telephoned the commission and asked the deputy secretary if he could come back with Harris at 4 p.m. and weigh-in again. "I was told it was okay and we went back and weighed 157½."

and return at 6 p.m. or the fight was off.

Comanager Yank Durham took Harris to the gym where he says Gypsy shadow boxed two rounds, skipped rope, sweated in a rubber suit and had an alcohol rub.

Durham says he then telephoned the commission and asked the deputy secretary if he could come back with Harris at 4 p.m. and weigh-in again. "I was told it was okay and we went back and weighed 157½."

THE MESSAGE — Coach George Allen looks over his shoulder at the blackboard which tells him the story in the Rams' dressing room. The Rams capitalized on a blocked kick to beat the Packers 27-24 in the final 34 seconds last Saturday. They are now planning for their showdown game against the Baltimore Colts Sunday at home. The Coastal Division championship is at stake. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Top Rated Quintets In Early Showdowns

Vanderbilt and Kentucky won't have to wait long before putting on the line their new, high-ranking positions in The Associated Press' major-college basketball poll.

In fact, both the Commodores and the Wildcats face other rated opponents tonight. Vandy, No. 3, goes against Davidson, No. 8, while Kentucky, No. 4, plays North Carolina, No. 7.

UCLA, once again with a solid lead in the weekly balloting, is idle this week. Houston, the runner-up, participates in the Bluebonnet Classic Wednesday and Thursday nights against George Washington, Mississippi State and Montana State.

Draw 34 Votes

The Bruins, 3-0 including victories over Wichita State and Iowa State last week, drew 34 first-place votes in the latest balloting by a national panel of 35 sports writers and broadcasters.

UCLA accumulated 349 points on the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third etc. Houston, which picked up the other vote for the top position, had 313 points.

Vanderbilt advanced from eighth place and Kentucky from the No. 9 spot. Louisville slipped two notches to fifth af-

Three New Teams

Davidson, Indiana and Princeton are the new teams in the Top Ten. They replaced Kansas, Dayton and Purdue, fourth, sixth and seventh, respectively, a week ago.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes in parentheses and total points on a 10-9-8-etc. basis:

1. UCLA (34) 349
2. Houston (1) 313
3. Vanderbilt 213
4. Kentucky 178
5. Louisville 142
6. Boston College 114

Boozier Climbs In NBA Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Bob Boozier bounced around the National Basketball Association for six years without setting the world afire, but expansion seems to have given him a hot hand.

The big forward of the Chicago Bulls, the league's new club last year, pumped in 112 points last week and jumped from seventh to third in the NBA scoring race with 682 points for a 22.7 average, statistics showed today.

Last year, Boozier average 18 points for the Bulls far more than he ever managed for Cincinnati, New York or Los Angeles.

Dave Bing of Detroit still leads the league with 748 points and a 28.8 average, ahead of Elgin Baylor's 731 and 25.2.

Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia leads in field goal percentage with 54 per cent while Jon McGlocklin of San Diego is tops in free throws with 88.1 per cent.

Nate Thurmond of San Francisco leads Chamberlain by one rebound with 675, although Chamberlain has averaged more per game, 24.1 to 22.5.

Len Wilkens of St. Louis leads in assists with 222 for 7.7 a game.

You won't find any all-Americans among them, but the mid-Hudson area can feel proud of its athletes performing in the college level this 1967 season.

Take Ken Johnson of Newburgh, a former two-time All-DUSO at Newburgh Academy and a linebacker with Coach Tom Cahill's 8-2 Army Cadets.

A competent observer who saw Johnson perform in the Army-Navy classic a few days ago said he was by far the outstanding linebacker in the Army debacle.

"He made key plays and interceptions all year," said our informant. He is a legitimate All-America. The Hudson valley should be real proud of him."

The man suggested that perhaps Johnson suffered from lack of proper ballhandling at the Point. "Under Cahill, there appears to be little in the way of buildup of individual players," the man observed.

SPORTS HAVE PLAYED a big part in Johnson's life since his first competition at the age of 10 in CYO basketball at Sacred Heart school in the Hill City.

After halfback and linebacker success at South Junior High, he compiled an impressive record in athletics at Newburgh Academy. He won three letters each in football, track and wrestling. He was twice co-captain in football and wrestling and once in track and field, in which he tossed the shot and discus and ran the hurdles and relays.

He was named the DUSO League's Player of the Year and his number, 64, was retired by the Academy, first time in the school's history.

UP ITHACA WAY, the annual sports awards were recently announced and a couple of former Saugerties High school stars did quite well.

Chuck Schirmer, a member of an outstanding football family, was given the Whistle Award by Ithaca College. This highly coveted award is reserved for the player who plays 60 minutes in every game.

Meanwhile, Coach Fred Seither's son, Fred, Jr., didn't rate with Schirmer as an iron man but he did receive the Attitude Award. This is presented each year to the member of the team who plays little but contributes a great deal to the over-all team effort.

Certainly, the village of Saugerties must be proud of these young men.

UP NEW ENGLAND WAY, Roland Augustine of Kingston, co-captain and center forward of the Cranwell Prep school soccer team, could well wind up as the top prep scorer in New England this season.

Augustine has accounted for 36 of the Cranes' 45 goals this fall. The 26 he registered in the WNEPSSA games ranks him as the third highest scorer of all time.

Overall, the Cranwell Prep Blue and Gold had a record of 10-3-1 and a league mark of 5-3-1. Over the 14-games schedule, only 19 goals were scored against the Jesuit school in Lenox, while Coach Al Vinatier's charges tallied 45.

It is reported that there is a rush on for Augustine by both Yale and Middlebury.

ANOTHER KINGSTON LAD, Roger Alan Ohlson was a starter on the Carnegie-Mellon University 1967 football team in Pittsburgh that scored impressive victories in the last two games to compile a 4-4 record.

A second year letterman, Ohlson played tackle on the Tartan squad that upset previously undefeated Westminster College, 41-34, and then smashed Washington and Jefferson, 56-16, to finish the season with a .500 mark. Ohlson was outstanding in both games.

The 19-year-old Ohlson is 6-1 and weighs 205 pounds. He holds an Alfred P. Sloan scholarship and at Carnegie-Mellon is enrolled in civil engineering.

The C-M-U football team is coached by the former Notre Dame and Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Joe Gaaparella, assistant professor of architecture, who has completed his fourth year as coach.

THESE ARE JUST a few of the mid-Hudson area athletes that come to mind. There are several others, to be sure. But these samplings indicate the high quality of athletes produced in the area.

While the All-America spotlights do not beat down on them, they have nevertheless played the game well while remaining academically strong. What more can you ask of a kid?

Ventriglia - Asare Spree Rips New York

Undismayed by a sparse turnout, the Kingston Sport Club Kickers bombed the visitors, 7 to 1, to launch the second half of the 1967-68 campaign on a triumphant note.

Meanwhile, down at Poughkeepsie, the Blue and White home team staged a spectacular upset with a 7 to 3 romp over Yonkers, the first round

Victory in CYO For St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's opened the CYO Intermediate basketball season last night with a 69-58 victory over Immaculate Conception.

Wesley Thompson led the winners with 24 points. Ralph Veytia potted 18 and Tony Arguevich 15. Bill Zeeh was high gun for Immaculate with 22. Tony Darvick rimmed 15 and J. Tatarzewski 11. Veytia was also outstanding on defense for St. Joseph's.

St. Joseph's eked out a 32-30 halftime lead after a 20-20 first quarter deadlock, then outscored the losers, 37-38, after the recess.

Michaels' Toe Is Key For Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The return of Lou Michaels' field goal kicking touch for the Baltimore Colts in time for Sunday's game at Los Angeles is akin to Ted Williams coming out of a batting slump on the eve of the World Series.

The comparison comes from Michaels.

He had suffered—and so had the Colts—during a spell when he made only nine of 25 field goal attempts. And, of all things, he missed two extra points.

Even a left-footed booter such as Michaels isn't supposed to be that erratic.

Last Sunday Michaels had a perfect day, three for three. It was his third straight Sunday without a miss and the 10 field goals in a row are a record by a Colt.

"Although I don't want to compare myself with these athletes," Michaels said, "I felt it wasn't any different than Stan Musial. Ted Williams or a great hitter going a couple of games without a hit."

"Sooner or later they would nail one and it'd be all over. I think that's how it was with me, and when I started hitting the ball good again a few weeks ago I knew I was all right."

The worst period was against Green Bay. Michaels missed one field goal, another didn't clear the line of scrimmage and on top of it all he missed an extra point, leaving the score 10-6 in favor of Green Bay with two minutes to play.

But, lo and behold, Michaels executed a perfect short kickoff, a Colt recovered and Baltimore scored the winning touchdown.

"I feel sure if it hadn't been for that outside kick they'd have run me out of the stadium," Michaels said.

Michaels was back in the groove Nov. 26 against San Francisco, kicking four field goals, one from 47 yards.

One of three he kicked the next week against Dallas traveled on a line 53 yards, only three less than the National Football League record set by Bert Reichichar when he was a Colt.

"All I hope now is that I'm just as big a week from today as I am now," said the 10-year veteran. "The game we've got coming up against the Rams will be the biggest one I've ever participated in, believe me."

The Colts need a tie or victory Sunday—even though they haven't lost a game—to take the Coastal Division title from the Rams.

Michaels suffered a strained neck and Walker a bruised elbow.

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Pat Dobson, a 26-year-old right-hander for the Detroit Tigers, has set a Winter League pitching record, striking out 21 batters in nine innings.

Dobson, who started once and pitched 27 times in relief for the Tigers last year, pitched his San Juan team to a 6-3, six-hit victory over Arecibo Sunday.

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Judge John G. Brosky Monday issued an injunction barring Larry Jones, one of the top scorers in the American Basketball Association, from playing with the Denver Rockets for the rest of the year.

DENVER (AP)—Denver sent Willis "Lefty" Thomas to the Anaheim Amigos Monday in return for Jeff Congdon in an Basketball Association trade.

Sports Briefs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals may have lost three top players to injuries last Sunday in a 20-16 National Football League defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Browns.

Running back Johnny Roland was a definite loss. Physicians performed surgery Monday to correct torn ligaments in his right knee.

Tackle Ernie McMillan and defensive lineman Chuck Walker were listed as doubtful Monday as the Cardinals took inventory for the season finale this Sunday against the New York Giants.

co-champions with Kingston. It was a field day for All-America Eugene Ventriglia and Elliott Obbie-Asare, the import from Ghana via State U (New Paltz). Each scored three goals and let Jim Reinhardt take care of the odd one.

Ventriglia hit at 15, 35 and 68 minutes. Asare connected at 42, 58 and 80, while Reinhardt bagged his at the 85-minute mark. West New York averted a shutout two minutes (88) from the finish.

Weather permitting, the Kickers host the rugged White Plains squad next Sunday at 2 p. m.

The Kingston lineup: Goalie, Liekosi; RFB, Weber; LFB, Biggers; RHB, Fros; CHB, Soddemann; LHB, Reinhardt; OR, Selematic; IR, Asare; CF, Ventriglia; IL, Forte; OL, Schwebel.

You won't find any all-Americans among them, but the mid-Hudson area can feel proud of its athletes performing on the college level this 1967 season.

Take Ken Johnson of Newburgh, a former two-time All-DUSO at Newburgh Academy and a linebacker with Coach Tom Cahill's 8-2 Army Cadets.

A competent observer who saw Johnson perform in the Army-Navy classic a few days ago said he was by far the outstanding linebacker in the Army debacle.

"He made key plays and interceptions all year," said our informant. He is a legitimate All-America. The Hudson valley should be real proud of him."

The man suggested that perhaps Johnson suffered from lack of proper ballyhooing at the Point. "Under Cahill, there appears to be little in the way of buildup of individual players," the man observed.

SPORTS HAVE PLAYED a big part in Johnson's life since his first competition at the age of 10 in CYO basketball at Sacred Heart school in the Hill City.

After halfback and linebacker success at South Junior High, he compiled an impressive record in athletics at Newburgh Academy. He won three letters each in football, track and wrestling. He was twice co-captain in football and wrestling and once in track and field, in which he tossed the shot and discus and ran the hurdles and relays.

He was named the DUSO League's Player of the Year and his number, 64, was retired by the Academy, first time in the school's history.

UP ITHACA WAY, the annual sports awards were recently announced and a couple of former Saugerties High school stars did quite well.

Chuck Schirmer, a member of an outstanding football family, was given the Whistle Award by Ithaca College. This highly coveted award is reserved for the player who plays 60 minutes in every game.

Meanwhile, Coach Fred Seither's son, Fred, Jr., didn't rate with Schirmer as an iron man but he did receive the Attitude Award. This is presented each year to the member of the team who plays little but contributes a great deal to the over-all team effort.

Certainly, the village of Saugerties must be proud of these young men.

UP NEW ENGLAND WAY, Roland Augustine of Kingston, co-captain and center forward of the Cranwell Prep school soccer team, could well wind up as the top prep scorer in New England this season.

Augustine has accounted for 36 of the Cranes' 45 goals this fall. The 26 he registered in the WNEPSSA games ranks him as the third highest scorer of all time.

Overall, the Cranwell Prep Blue and Gold had a record of 10-3-1 and a league mark of 5-3-1. Over the 14-games schedule, only 19 goals were scored against the Jesuit school in Lenox, while Coach Al Vinitier's charges tallied 45.

It is reported that there is a rush on for Augustine by both Yale and Middlebury.

ANOTHER KINGSTON LAD, Roger Alan Ohlson was a starter on the Carnegie-Mellon University 1967 football team in Pittsburgh that scored impressive victories in the last two games to compile a 4-4 record.

A second year letterman, Ohlson played tackle on the Tartan squad that upset previously undefeated Westminster College, 41-34, and then smashed Washington and Jefferson, 56-16, to finish the season with a .500 mark. Ohlson was outstanding in both games.

The 19-year-old Ohlson is 6-1 and weighs 205 pounds. He holds an Alfred P. Sloan scholarship and at Carnegie-Mellon is enrolled in civil engineering.

The C-M-U football team is coached by the former Notre Dame and Pittsburgh Steeler quarterback Joe Gaaparella, assistant professor of architecture, who has completed his fourth year as coach.

THESE ARE JUST a few of the mid-Hudson area athletes that come to mind. There are several others, to be sure. But these samplings indicate the high quality of athletes produced in the area.

While the All-America sportlights do not beat down on them, they have nevertheless played the game well while remaining academically strong. What more can you ask of a kid?

Ventriglia - Asare Spree Rips New York

That poor West New York soccer team must have thought it was under mortal attack at Oehler's Mountain Lodge.

Undismayed by a sparse turnout, the Kingston Sport Club Kickers bombed the visitors, 7 to 1, to launch the second half of the 1967-68 campaign on a triumphant note.

Meanwhile, down at Poughkeepsie, the Blue and White home team staged a spectacular upset with a 7 to 3 romp over Yonkers, the first round

Victory in CYO For St. Joseph's

St. Joseph's opened the CYO Intermediate basketball season last night with a 69-58 victory over Immaculate Conception.

Wesley Thompson led the winners with 24 points. Ralph Veytia potted 18 and Tony Argulewicz 15.

Bill Zeck was high gun for Immaculate with 22. Tony Darwak rimmed 15 and J. Tatarzewski 11. Veytia was also outstanding on defense for St. Joseph's.

St. Joseph's eked out a 32-30 halftime lead after a 20-20 first quarter deadlock, then outscored the losers, 37-38, after the recess.

The score: St. Joseph's (49) Immaculate (58)

Walker 7 12 Zeck 10 22 Argulewicz 15 18 Thompson 12 15 Darwak 15 22 Veytia 11 15 Tatarzewski 11 15

Michaels' Toe Is Key For Colts

BALTIMORE (AP) — The return of Lou Michaels' field goal kicking touch for the Baltimore Colts in time for Sunday's game at Los Angeles is akin to a batting slump on the eve of the World Series.

The comparison comes from Michaels.

He had suffered—and so had Colt fans—during a spell when he made only nine of 25 field goal attempts. And, of all things, he missed two extra points.

Even a left-footed booter such as Michaels isn't supposed to be that erratic.

Last Sunday Michaels had a perfect day, three for three. It was his third straight Sunday without a miss and the 10 field goals in a row are a record by a Colt.

"Although I don't want to compare myself with these athletes," Michaels said, "I felt it wasn't any different than Stan Musial, Ted Williams or a great hitter going a couple of games without a hit."

"Sooner or later they would nail one and it'd be all over. I think that's how it was with me, and when I started hitting the ball good again a few weeks ago I knew I was all right."

The worst period was against Green Bay. Michaels missed one field goal, another didn't clear the line of scrimmage and on top of it all he missed an extra point, leaving the score 10-6 in favor of Green Bay with two minutes to play.

But, lo and behold, Michaels executed a perfect short kickoff, a Colt recovered and Baltimore scored the winning touchdown.

"I feel sure if it hadn't been for that outside kick they'd have run me out of the stadium," Michaels said.

Michaels was back in the groove Nov. 26 against San Francisco, kicking four field goals, one from 47 yards.

One of three he kicked the next week against Dallas traveled on a line 53 yards, only three less than the National Football League record set by Bert Rechichar when he was a Colt.

"All I hope now is that I'm just as big a week from today as I am now," said the 10-year veteran. "The game we've got coming up against the Rams will be the biggest one I've ever participated in, believe me."

The Colts need a tie or victory Sunday—even though they haven't lost a game to take the Coastal Division title from the Rams.

Sports Briefs

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals may have lost three top players to injuries last Sunday in a 20-16 National Football League defeat at the hands of the Cleveland Browns.

Running back Johnny Roland was a definite loss. Physicians performed surgery Monday to correct torn ligaments in his right knee.

Tackle Ernie McMillan and defensive lineman Chuck Walker were listed as doubtful Monday for the season finale this Sunday against the New York Giants.

McMillan suffered a strained neck and Walker a bruised elbow.

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP)—Pat Dobson, a 26-year-old right-hander for the Detroit Tigers, has set a Winter League pitching record, striking out 21 batters in nine innings.

Dobson, who started once and pitched 27 times in relief for the Tigers last year, pitched his San Juan team to a 6-3, six-hit victory over Arecibo Sunday.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge John G. Brosky Monday issued an injunction barring Larry Jones, one of the top scorers in the American Basketball Association, from playing with the Denver Rockets for the rest of the year.

DENVER (AP)—Denver sent Willis "Lefty" Thomas to the Anaheim Amigos Monday in return for Jeff Congdon in a Basketball Association trade.

Moscow Circus Doing Well on U.S. Tour

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The circus has come to town, but it's different from any circus folks have seen hereabout, being so tall Russian.

On its second U.S. tour, the Moscow Circus is doing excellent business, thus gladdening the capitalistic heart of Morris Chalfen. He is the veteran Minneapolis-based showman who became sponsor of the Moscow

Circus' American visits through a happy booking accident.

It seems that one of Chalfen's "Holiday on Ice" shows was appearing in a Paris pavilion that the Russians sorely needed for one of their own presentations.

An East-West accord was reached, Chalfen agreed to remove his troupe in exchange for an American tour by the circus, which had long been sought by other entertainment importers.

"The Russians have more in costumes, as we do. Their individual performers," Chalfen said, "There are at least a thousand acts there, and they even have schools to develop new ones. They're the greatest tumblers and acrobats, but they're weak on aerialists."

Different Acts

"We have acts that the Russians have never seen—chimps, roller skates, etc. They have no walk-around clowns with crazy

Congress Authorizes Anti-Poverty Money

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-poverty boss Sargent Shriver has congressional authorization to spend $4.16 billion over two years—but his agency may wind up with far less money.

The bill sent Monday to the White House represents the most money ever authorized for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which Shriver heads, and marks the first time Congress has extended the program for more than one year.

But just after House passage of the bill, a House Appropriations subcommittee recommended that only $1.612 billion be provided to foot the anti-poverty bill in the first year, compared with the $1.98 billion authorized.

On Annual Basis

Another $2.18 billion was authorized for fiscal 1969 but because Congress only appropriates on an annual basis, the question of how much money actually will be available for the second year isn't at issue now.

The full Appropriations Committee was expected to uphold the subcommittee cut at a meeting today. The House appeared likely to go along with it later in the day.

The bill includes a controversial provision giving local public officials control of the OEO's Community Action programs.

Opponents of the move say it will breed vote-buying and patronage in city halls, and Shriver has pledged to keep close watch on results of the change.

Supporters of the anti-poverty program pinned their hopes for more money on the Senate, where it has had a more sympathetic reception. Should the Senate approve full financing of $1.98 billion, the outcome could be a compromise of about $1.78 billion.

That's the minimum amount Shriver said would be needed to keep the program at its present level.

Clears House

The authorization measure cleared the House on a 246-149 vote. Listed for it were 183 Democrats and 63 Republicans. Opposing it were 51 Democrats and 98 Republicans. The Senate passed it last Friday.

Getting the anti-poverty authorization bill to the President removed a big obstacle in the path of planned adjournment of Congress late this week.

Regular Firemen to Be Sworn As Fire Police in Emergency

The shortage of fire police in the Town of Woodstock was the basis of a directive from Fire Chief Duncan Wilson to have regular firemen sworn in as fire policemen so that they could be legally utilized in cases of emergencies.

The order came as a portion of Chief Wilson's report to the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company 3 of Lake Hill, which Wilson revealed a total of 12 fire calls for the month of November. He emphasized that any business pertaining to emergencies for the fire department must be directed to the fire dispatcher at the regular fire telephone in Woodstock. He also warned that any persons caught in the act of destroying the poles now attached to the fire hydrants in order to locate them in case of deep snow, would be prosecuted.

Wilson also said two sets of fire prevention slides would soon be available through the fire department for any organization desiring to view them.

The agenda of the fire company meeting also included a favorable report from the auditing committee, the submission of the present officers by the nominating committee for re-election for 1968, and the announcement that the Ladies Auxiliary was in the process of updating the present mobilization plan for calling firemen in cases of emergencies. It was pointed out that the current mobilization plan, as serviced by the Ladies Auxiliary, has proven a large help in times past.

The building committee, headed by Walter Stone, reported plans in the hands of contractors for an addition to the firehouse.

It was expected that the complete plans and costs would be available for the January meeting of the company, when possible action would be taken to acquire the addition to the firehouse.

Two fire drills were held in November, with two more, one held December 10 and another on December 27, at 7 p. m. Firemen on duty station check for December include F. Bollenbach, H. Eighmey, P. Eighmey and J. Flanagan.

The four-company meeting of the Woodstock Fire Department will be held at the quarters of Company 3, in Lake Hill, Monday, January 29, with the ladies' auxiliary planning to serve the refreshments.

Services at the Woodstock Christian Science Church will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday.

The subject of the sermon will be "Is the Universe, Including Man, Enveloped by Atomic Force?"

Church Guild Installation Set for Dec. 19

The Guild for Christian Service of the Woodstock Reformed Church will close its year with a meeting Tuesday, Dec. 19, at 8 p. m. in the church Fellowship Hall. Bible study will be led by Dr. Margaret Trindle. There will be a short program in keeping with the Christmas season.

Officers will give their annual reports and the following officers for 1968 will be installed: President, Maxine Wintgate; vice president, Alma Simpkins; secretary, Anna Cousins; treasurer, Elsie Shultis; the committee secretaries will be: Spiritual life, Geraldine Hicks; education, Ethel Martin; service, Adele Longendyke; organization, Ruth Harris. The Rev. Donald Hicks will conduct the installation service.

Members are reminded to bring their Christmas gifts for the elderly as arranged at the November meeting. A social hour will close the meeting. Hostesses are Shirley Doty, Elsie Shultis and Irene Webster.

Church School Christmas Play

Overlook Methodist Church will begin its observance of the Christmas season with its church school program Dec. 17 at 4 p. m.

The following teenagers, under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Churchill, will present the play, "Back to Bethlehem." 3,000 Honor Javits And Help the Fund

NEW YORK (AP) — Some of the country's most influential Republicans were among the 3,000 persons to turn out Monday night for a dinner honoring U.S. Sen. Jacob K. Javits.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon, perhaps the leading unannounced candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination, chose the occasion to make his first appearance at a

Otepka Gets Demotion and Reassignment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demotion, reassignment and a severe reprimand have been handed Otto F. Otepka, the State Department's chief security evaluator, authoritative sources report.

The decision by Secretary of State Dean Rusk means Otepka will not lose his job as originally ordered in November 1963 when he was accused of handing classified information over to a Senate subcommittee without authorization.

If Otepka accepts the ruling he will take a new job as a management analyst—a position not involving security matters and paying about $3,000 less a year than his previous job.

A State Department hearing officer, Edward Dragon, asked Rusk to take into consideration Otepka's defense that there is no uniform standard of behavior for government employees.

Otepka can if he wishes seek further redress by turning to the Civil Service Commission or the Courts.

Farm Bureau Increases, Credit 'Resnick Affair'

CHICAGO (AP) — An officer of the American Farm Bureau Federation said today the group's membership increased by nearly 50,000 families in 1967 and he said the gain was helped by what he termed the "Resnick Affair."

Roger Fleming, secretary-treasurer, spoke to some 5,000 farmers from 49 states and Puerto Rico who are meeting for the AFBF's annual convention.

Fleming said the organization's enrollment totaled 1,753,532 families—an increase of 49,624 families for the nation's largest farm organization.

Fleming said Rep. Joseph Resnick, D-N.Y., helped increase the membership by his

Quake Toll Reaches 115 Near Bombay

BOMBAY, India (AP) — The earthquake toll in southwest India rose to 115 today as search parties fanned out to isolated hamlets in the Western Ghats mountains. There were estimates as many as 200 may have died.

More than 1,600 injured persons were seeking treatment. Hospitals in Karad Sangli and Satara, the towns closest to the disaster area, were unable to take more patients.

The quake rocked the Koyanagar area 150 miles southeast of Bombay before dawn Monday. Many were killed when houses built of granite blocks collapsed on them as they slept.

Only a few tin sheds were reported left standing in Koyana, a town of 10,000 near the Koyana Dam. The dam, one of the largest hydroelectric projects in Asia, apparently was not damaged, but transmission lines to Bombay were broken and 700,000 factory employees were put out of work, perhaps for several days.

Among the dead were M. P. Sarnaik, executive engineer of the dam, and his wife.

Mild earth tremors were felt again early today in Poona and Bombay but there was no report of additional damage.

Convoy carrying medical personnel, relief workers, food and medicine proceeded slowly today over badly damaged roads into the quake area.

The quake, which was recorded by the New Delhi meteorological station at 7.5 on the Richter scale, rocked a 400-mile strip of India's southwest coastal area from Surat, in Gujarat state to Mangalore near the Kerala state border.

Nixon said he would vote for the New York Senator if there was a primary next year, then added, "If that has the effect of discouraging a primary fine."

Javits, who has supported Michigan Gov. George Romney for the GOP nomination prize, indicated he would support Nixon should he get convention endorsement.

Peterson Trial Begins

Frank Lee Peterson, charged by the Grand Jury with criminally receiving stolen property as a felony and concealing and withholding stolen and wrongfully acquired property as a felony, went on trial in County Court, Monday, before County Judge Raymond J. Mino and a jury.

Assistant District Attorney Albert I. Lonstein appears for the prosecution and Marshall Lipton for defendant.

The charge involves a color TV set which was allegedly taken last February from the Teleable Corporation of Ellenville. In addition to the color TV set, other TV sets and articles from the company of office were reported taken, Davis Winer, president of the company, testified.

Entrance to the office at 177 Canal Street was gained by forcing a rear door, Winer said. He identified the set later recovered by the police as the set which had been used as a monitor in the office and had been taken from the office.

Robert Regan of New Jersey was being jointly indicted with Peterson on the same charges. His case is scheduled for December 13, when he is to appear in court with his attorney.

Save a second. Spoil a life.

Car theft is often the first offense that later turns a boy into a full-time criminal. A lot of the fault is yours. You make car theft so easy. (Last year 76% of stolen cars were left unlocked; nearly half also had ignition keys in them.) Quite a temptation. You realize how great this temptation is when you know that 64% of people arrested for car theft are under 18. When you carelessly walk away from your unlocked car, you may be avoiding a 10-second job, but starting someone on a 10-year sentence.

Don't help a good boy go bad. Lock your car. Take your keys.

Moscow Circus Doing Well on U.S. Tour

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The circus has come to town, but it's different from any circus folks have seen hereabout, being totally Russian.

On its second U.S. tour, the Moscow Circus is doing excellent business, thus gladdening the capitalistic heart of Morris Chalfen. He is the veteran Minneapolis-based showman who became sponsor of the Moscow

Circus' American visits through a happy booking accident. It seems that one of Chalfen's "Holiday on Ice" shows was appearing in a Paris pavilion that the Russians sorely needed for one of their own presentations. An East-West accord was reached, Chalfen agreed to remove his troupe in exchange for an American tour by the circus, which had long been sought by other entertainment importers.

Loses Money

"But then I had to please the State Department and the unions here," he explains. "To carry out the cultural exchange idea and to provide jobs for American performers, I had to send a circus to Russia. I lose money on it; but I make it back on the fabulous business the Moscow Circus does in this country."

The American circus has enjoyed an enthusiastic reception in Russia, Chalfen said. Then why does it lose money? Because American labor costs are much higher than those of the Russian performers, he explained. Also, prices are lower—$3.30 to 50 cents vs. $5 to $1.50 here—and the circus buildings are smaller, 3,000 average capacity vs. 8,000 here.

How do the circuses in the two countries differ?

"The Russians have more individual performers," Chalfen said. "There are at least a thousand acts there, and they even have schools to develop new ones. They're the greatest tumblers and acrobats, but they're weak on aerialists."

Different Acts

"We have acts that the Russians have never seen—chimps, roller skates, etc. They have no walk-around clowns with crazy costumes, as we do. Their clowns get their comedy by telling stories." Chalfen believes the Russians will be sending more shows to this country despite the cultural exchange slowdown because of the Vietnam war. "It's good for both of us," he said. "We want this pipeline to the Russian people, and they want to reach us. We discover that the Russians have no horns, and vice versa."

Congress Authorizes Anti-Poverty Money

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anti-poverty boss Sargent Shriver has congressional authorization to spend $4.16 billion over two years—but his agency may wind up with far less money.

The bill sent Monday to the White House represents the most money ever authorized for the Office of Economic Opportunity, which Shriver heads, and marks the first time Congress has extended the program for more than one year.

But just after House passage of the bill, a House Appropriations subcommittee recommended that only $1.612 billion be provided to foot the anti-poverty bill in the first year, compared with the $1.98 billion authorized.

On Annual Basis

Another $2.18 billion was authorized for fiscal 1969 but because Congress only appropriates on an annual basis, the question of how much money actually will be available for the second year isn't at issue now.

The full Appropriations Committee was expected to uphold the subcommittee cut at a meeting today. The House appeared likely to go along with it later in the day.

The bill includes a controversial provision giving local public officials control of the OEO's Community Action programs.

Opponents of the move say it will breed vote-buying and patronage in city halls, and Shriver has pledged to keep close watch on results of the change.

Supporters of the anti-poverty program pinned their hopes for more money on the Senate, where it has had a more sympathetic reception. Should the Senate approve full financing of $1.98 billion, the outcome could be a compromise of about $1.78 billion.

That's the minimum amount Shriver said would be needed to keep the program at its present level.

Clears House

The authorization measure cleared the House on a 246-149 vote. Listed for it were 183 Democrats and 63 Republicans. Opposing it were 51 Democrats and 98 Republicans. The Senate passed it last Friday.

Getting the anti-poverty authorization bill to the President removed a big obstacle in the path of planned adjournment of Congress late this week.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen may be the kissingest senator—at least that's his rating after an appearance Monday night at the American Newspaperwomen's Club.

Dirksen bussed at least seven ladies, according to one reporter's count, as he smooched his way in to an evening marking his latest record album, "Everett McKinley Dirksen at Christmas Time."

The senator's producer, Arch Lustberg of Chappell and Co., told the gathering that a new album is in the works and added: "I don't think you'll ever get him to stop making records now."

Dirksen told them tongue-in-cheek, "The record business is a racket—all that sweat and agony!"

Realtors Meet Thursday Night

The regular monthly meeting of the Ulster County Board of Realtors will be held Thursday, Dec. 14, at 7:30 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel. Motions were made, seconded and approved at the November meeting of the board regarding changes in the by-laws. This will call for a final vote at the December meeting.

President John H. Sanglyn also said there will be a discussion of further changes in the by-laws at this meeting and requests all members attend.

Regular Firemen to Be Sworn As Fire Police in Emergency

The shortage of fire police in the Town of Woodstock was the basis of a directive from Fire Chief Duncan Wilson to have regular firemen sworn in as fire policemen so that they could be legally utilized in cases of emergencies.

The order came as a portion of Chief Wilson's report to the monthly meeting of Woodstock Fire Company 3 of Lake Hill, in which Wilson revealed a total of 12 fire calls for the month of November. He emphasized that any business pertaining to emergencies for the fire department must be directed to the fire dispatcher at the regular fire telephone in Woodstock. He also warned that any persons caught in the act of destroying the poles now attached to the fire hydrants in order to locate them in case of deep snow, would be prosecuted.

Wilson also said two sets of fire prevention slides would soon be available through the fire department for any organization desiring to view them. The agenda of the fire company meeting also included a plan for calling firemen in cases of emergencies. It was pointed out that the current mobilization plan, as serviced by the Ladies Auxiliary, has proven a large help in times past.

The building committee, headed by Walter Stone, reported plans in the hands of contractors for an addition to the firehouse. It was expected that the complete plans and costs would be available for the January meeting of the company, when possible action would be taken to acquire the addition to the firehouse.

Two fire drills were held in November, with two more, one held December 10 and another on December 27, at 7 p. m. Firemen on daily station check for December include F. Bollenbach, H. Eighmey, P. Eighmey and J. Flanagan.

The four-company meeting of the Woodstock Fire Department will be held at the quarters of Company 3, in Lake Hill, Monday, January 29, with the ladies' auxiliary planning to serve the refreshments.

Services at the Woodstock Christian Science Church will be held at 11 a. m. Sunday. The subject of the sermon will be "Is the Universe, Including Man, Enveloped by Atomic Force?"

Dear Abby

Get Help for Handicapped

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
1967 by Chicago Tribune
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

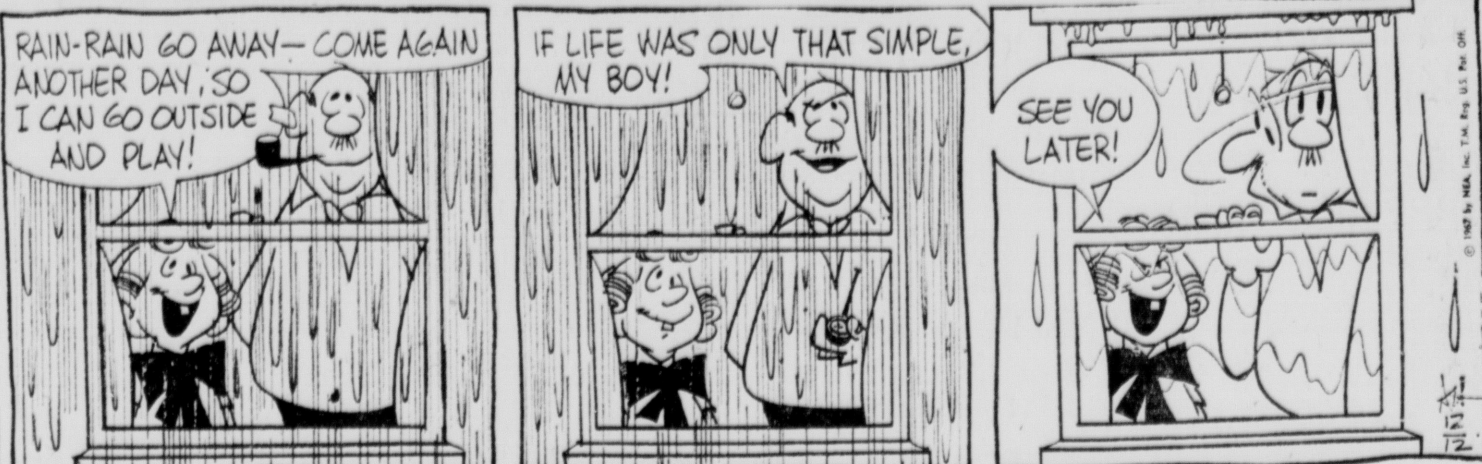

DEAR ABBY: I am a high school freshman and belong to a church group which meets every Friday night. There is a boy in this group who is sort of physically deformed and a little mentally unbalanced. (I am not saying this to be mean, Abby, he really is.) Everyone makes fun of him but me. My problem is, he keeps hanging around me asking me to do weird things, like telling him if he blinks his eyes. (He claims he can't blink his eyes.) Abby, I go to have a good time. I don't want to tell him to get lost or anything like that because I hate to hurt his feelings. But what can I do? He keeps following me around.

I have even considered dropping out of the group, but I don't want to because it could be a lot of fun if it weren't for this kid. How can I get rid of him nicely? PESTERED: DEAR PESTERED: That you would write with such a problem shows you to be an extremely sensitive warmhearted person. Surely this group has an adult counselor, and a few leaders among its peers. Why not try to organize a meeting to discuss this problem with them? It would be an act of genuine kindness (not only to the handicapped lad, but to all the young people) to point out the need for patience and understanding in such a situation.

DEAR ABBY: I am trying to plan my daughter's wedding, and my problem is that her fiancé has too many parents. His mother was married six times and his father was married four times. They have remained friendly with all their ex-mates, and not only that, there are half-sisters and half-brothers and stepchildren galore, not to mention grandparents on all sides. The other night my daughter started counting them and she quit at 48. If I invite all these folks to the wedding there won't be room for anybody else. Where does one draw the line? How can we tactfully get this message across to my daughter's fiancé? MOTHER OF THE BRIDE: DEAR MOTHER: Allow your daughter's fiancé "X" number

The late Charles Lockett of St. Louis was a rubber bridge player first and a duplicate bridge player second. His grandson, Roger Lord, played with Norbert Kremer in the national rubber bridge tournament at the Sands. They reached the semifinals when Roger jockeyed the opponents into a four-spade contract and Norbert made the killing lead.

It was the last hand of the match. Roger was vulnerable, his opponents not; but his opponents held a 750-point lead on the score. If Roger could make a game he would collect a 700-point rubber bonus. This bonus plus his point score would give him the match. Otherwise, he needed to pick up a 500-point penalty. This would also win the match because he would get a 300-point bonus for his leg on the rubber.

He didn't think he had much chance when he picked up a king and two jacks, and he passed. South chirped a spade and Norbert overcalled with two hearts. Roger raised to two spades and Roger jumped right to four hearts.

South looked hard at Roger and Norbert. South didn't really think that Norbert would be able to make four hearts, but after some more thought South decided that he would surely be able to take eight or more tricks at spades and that since he could afford a two-trick set he had better bid four spades and insure the match.

Roger doubled and Norbert made the brilliant opening lead of the deuce of diamonds. South went right up with dummy's ace. He didn't want to take a chance of losing the first trick. Then he made the mistake of taking the spade finesse. West made his singleton king and led a second diamond. Roger won and led the jack of hearts. West's ace picked South's king. The queen of hearts was the fourth defensive trick, a heart ruff the fifth and the ace of clubs the sixth. South lost 500 points and the match.

Nancy's Special Top-Drawer

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Nancy Sinatra, with only a casual assist from her father and his friends, moved into television's big time Monday night with one of the season's most imaginative and well-produced variety specials.

An Artful Blend
The NBC program, produced and directed by Jack Haley Jr., was an artful blend of interesting backgrounds—most of them taken on location up and down the California coast—and unusual camera work. Added to this were dandy musical arrangements, attractive singing and an extra—a fashion show, for Miss Sinatra's costumes and hairdos were in the mode and mood of young moderns.

Dean Martin strolled into view for one number with Nancy. The number used mannequins instead of human beings for background. Sammy Davis Jr. turned up for a number—perhaps the most forced bit in the show—and played a fashion photographer.

The famous father of the show's star sang at the show's end, after a long, superfluous and interesting preliminary in which we saw blow ups of baby pictures of both the senior Sinatra and his elder daughter.

From the opening number with the miniskirted Nancy singing at the wheel of a sports car, to the fade out, with her singing as a balloon carried her away, it was Nancy's show. And it was a very good one indeed.

It had style, pace and class, ranking with the first "Man and His Music" special of Frank Sinatra.

Earlier, and partly in conflict, there was CBS's second National Geographic Society special of the season, "Winged World." It was a fascinating study of birds. We saw close-up films of the woodpecker finch which uses a stick to dig food out of tree cracks, illustrating a discussion of whether birds have intelligence. We saw the shearwater of the British Isles, a bird with such keen homing instincts it can find its way back to its nest even when taken thousands of miles away.

Winged World Informative
Birds, observed narrator Alexander Scourby, can usually survive the onslaught of any of its enemies except one: Man. The program was informative and well photographed.

Danny Thomas' NBC hour was an amusing, goodhumored takeoff on the elaborate movie musicals of the 1930s, "The Royal Folies of 1933" had a lot of songs, dances, broad comedy and a plot about a prince falling in love with a show girl. It was a happy, entertaining hour.

On the serious side, NBC's early evening news program showed some film taken by a former hippie at what was described as a glue-sniffing party.

Most impressive was the agonized writhing of one young man in the resulting hangover. More of the candid film will be shown on subsequent Huntley-Brinkley programs.

Recommended tonight: "Mr. Dickens of London," ABC, 7:30-8:30 EST, a visit to 19th century London with Sir Michael Redgrave playing the part of Charles Dickens; "What About Ronald Reagan?" CBS, 10-11, documentary on the background and appeal of the California governor.

FAMILY TALK — Dr. Timothy Leary talks to his wife Rosemary Monday after he was arraigned on various charges concerning the possession and sale of dangerous drugs. The high priest of LSD pleaded not guilty to the charges which came after a raid Saturday on his Millbrook estate, and was released after posting $2,500 bail. (UPI TELEPHOTO, PHOTO.)

Leary Holds No Ill-Will, Just Irked by Haircut

By RAY TYSON

Dr. Timothy Leary, who surrendered Monday to Dutchess County law authorities on charges to conspire against state drug laws, yesterday told a hastily assembled press conference that he bore no ill-will toward his tormentors.

Merely Misguided

The silver haired LSD guru said, "I've been arrested so often by Sheriff Lawrence Quinn that we have become good friends." Leary said he felt the Dutchess officials were merely misguided.

Monday's arrest marked the third time within two years that the former Harvard University professor had been taken into custody by Dutchess County law enforcement agents.

In April of 1966 Leary was accused of possessing marijuana when sheriff's deputies raided his 64-room, neo-Bavarian chateau outside Millbrook. Later the charges were dropped.

During July of 1967 he was again arrested, accused of cashing a fraudulent check at a sporting goods store in Arlington, a suburb of Poughkeepsie. This charge, too, was later dropped. The check was for eight dollars.

During the conference, conducted at the posh Millbrook estate of multi-millionaire William Hitchcock, also charged with conspiracy against the drug laws, Leary noted that his only objection to the sheriff's office was that they had cut his son's hair against objections of both the defense and prosecution.

'Just Like Recruit'

He described his son, 18-year-old Jack, who was arrested Saturday on charges of possessing drugs, as a holy and good boy. Leary said, "They cut his beautiful long hair and made him look like a Marine recruit. I wish they hadn't done that."

Hitchcock, 28, son of the late international polo player Tom Hitchcock, turned himself over to Dutchess authorities late Monday afternoon. Accused of the same conspiracy charges, he pleaded innocent and posted $2,500 bail.

Hitchcock, who rents Leary the estate adjacent to his own, allegedly preferred to surrender alone. "I don't believe he wanted his picture taken with Leary," First Assistant District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt commented.

Leary was arraigned Monday in Millbrook at the Town Hall. Hitchcock appeared in Poughkeepsie at the County Court-house. Warrants for their arrest were issued Saturday following a raid on the Leary estate which supposedly netted a quantity of substances reputed to be LSD and marijuana.

Rosenblatt told The Freeman the raid was the aftermath of a six-month undercover investigation by an informant named Fenton O'Hare, publisher of an art magazine housed in Tarrytown.

In a sworn deposition, O'Hare said he undertook the job at the request of his brother, a priest at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Poughkeepsie. O'Hare declared that while an agent he had taken LSD at the Leary estate.

Leary told newsmen, "I can't imagine O'Hare was working directly for the Catholic Church. In fact I have wired Archbishop John McGuire asking that he disaffiliate the Church from this sworn report."

Leary said that O'Hare had come to the estate several months back pretending to be a student of religion. He added, "I don't believe he participated in religious services while here."

Leary likened the use of LSD and marijuana as sacraments to his religion, reminding newsmen that various churches used alcohol during Prohibition. He said his religion, the League of Spiritual Discovery, was a duly incorporated religion, entitled to the same courtesies extended other groups.

Leary ended his conference by announcing he and his bride of a month, the former Rosemary Woodruff, 32, would be married again Tuesday. He said their first ceremony was held in the desert by an Indian medicine man.

Miss Woodruff and Leary flew east Wednesday. They had intended to spend the winter in Leary's native California.

Sen. Percy, Wife Are Unhurt As Cong Mortars Hit Nearby

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, his wife and seven other Americans escaped injury today when Communist gunners opened up with mortars and small arms during a spur-of-the-moment, unescorted visit to the devastated village of Dak Son.

Some of the five mortar rounds crashed within 15 to 20 feet of the 48-year-old senator, who is a potential Republican presidential candidate, and four men inspecting the village with him, but no one was hit. The group took cover, and Percy got some small scratches on his arms as he crawled behind some woody huys.

Mrs. Percy had remained in the group's helicopter 75 yards away with the pilot and two crewmen. They flew her to a nearby town and returned with an escort of armed Army choppers to rescue the senator and his companions.

"This is closer to action than I got in three years of World War II," Percy, a U.S. Navy veteran, told a news conference after he returned to Saigon.

Meanwhile, the U.S. Command announced that 471 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese regulars—the equivalent of a battle-ready battalion—were killed in a six-day battle that ended Monday along the narrow coastal planes near the pivotal town of Bong Son.

Allied casualties were 33 Americans and 30 South Vietnamese soldiers killed, and 147 Americans and 71 South Vietnamese wounded.

The battle erupted when two companies of the helicopter-borne U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division began a sweep of the scrub land along the coast about 300 miles north-northeast of Saigon. Just to the north a battalion from the South Vietnamese 40th Infantry Regiment was pushing south.

Both allied groups ran into fortifications manned by the seasoned 22nd Regiment of the North Vietnamese 3rd Division.

Over the next six days the allied troops pushed forward, then pulled back while planes, artillery and helicopter gunships pounded the enemy over a five-mile stretch of the coast.

The Communists made a final stand in the fortified village of Truong Lam, which was overrun Monday. In it the cavalrymen found about 60 new graves in which the Reds had hastily tried to conceal some of their dead.

Many more of the veteran Communist troops evidently slipped away to the south.

The battle on the Bong Son plain was the latest in a series of stand-and-fight engagements provoked in recent days by American and South Vietnamese sweep operations. Otherwise, the Communist troops have stuck mainly to hit-and-run attacks except along the borders of Cambodia and Laos, where shorter supply lines enable them to make more large-scale assaults.

A pattern of widespread small skirmishes was repeated in today's war communiqué from U.S. headquarters. Air action in the north was again hampered by monsoon rains, but some improvement permitted 101 combat missions, the largest number in three weeks.

Percy, frequently mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate, had some time to spare after a visit to a resettlement village and asked the pilot of his chartered white helicopter to give him a look at Dakson, near the Cambodian border, where the Viet Cong massacred an estimated 200 Montagnard tribesmen last week.

The senator said he had asked that he be given no military escort for any of his field trips, and the thought of an attack "never really occurred to me." "We circled the village five or six times," Percy said, "there seemed to be no sign of life so we took the chopper in."

Leaving Mrs. Percy in the helicopter with the pilot, and two crewmen, the rest of the party got out and walked about 75 or 100 yards into the village. Percy had a .38-caliber snub-nosed revolver and Dennis Smith, a U.S. refugee official, carried a rifle.

Too Fast for Belts

The attack broke just as Percy was emerging from one of the bunkers in which many of the Montagnard tribesmen were trapped in the Viet Cong raid Dec. 5.

The helicopter flew Mrs. Percy to nearby Song Be and returned within 20 minutes, escorted by four or five other choppers. "That thing took off so fast we didn't have time to fasten our seat belts," the senator said.

Accompanying Percy, his wife and Smith were Scott Cohen, Percy's foreign affairs advisor, Fred Ward of Look magazine, and Kenneth Schmid, a friend of the senator from Chicago.

Queried by newsmen, a U.S. Embassy spokesman said some one will probably discuss Percy's future schedule with him and the possibility of a security escort, "but he is a senator and he has the right to go where he wants."

FAMILY TALK — Dr. Timothy Leary talks to his wife Rosemary Monday after he was arraigned on various charges concerning the possession and sale of dangerous drugs. The high priest of LSD pleaded not guilty to the charges which came after a raid Saturday on his Millbrook estate, and was released after posting $2,500 bail. (UPI TELEPHOTO). (PHOTO.)

Leary Holds No Ill-Will, Just Irked by Haircut

By RAY TYSON

Dr. Timothy Leary, who surrendered Monday to Dutchess County law authorities on charges to conspire against state drug laws, yesterday told a hastily assembled press conference that he bore no ill-will toward his tormentors.

Merely Misguided

The silver haired LSD guru said, "I've been arrested so often by Sheriff Lawrence Quinn that we have become good friends." Leary said he felt the Dutchess officials were merely misguided.

Monday's arrest marked the third time within two years that the former Harvard University professor had been taken into custody by Dutchess County law enforcement agents.

In April of 1966 Leary was accused of possessing marijuana when sheriff's deputies raided his 64-room, neo-Bavarian chateau outside Millbrook. Later the charges were dropped.

During July of 1967 he was again arrested, accused of cashing a fraudulent check at a sporting goods store in Arlington, a suburb of Poughkeepsie. This charge, too, was later dropped. The check was for eight dollars.

During the conference, conducted at the posh Millbrook estate of multi-millionaire William Hitchcock, also charged with conspiracy against the drug laws, Leary noted that his only objection to the sheriff's office was that they had cut his son's hair against objections of both the defense and prosecution.

'Just Like Recruit'

He described his son, 18-year-old Jack, who was arrested Saturday on charges of pos-

League of Spiritual Discovery, as a holy and good boy. Leary said, "They cut his beautiful long hair and made him look like a Marine recruit." I wish they hadn't done that.

Hitchcock, 28, son of the late international polo player Tom Hitchcock, turned himself over to Dutchess authorities late Monday afternoon. Accused of the same conspiracy charges, he pleaded innocent and posted $2,500 bail.

Hitchcock, who rents Leary's estate adjacent to his own, allegedly preferred to surrender alone. "I don't believe he wanted his picture taken with Leary," First Assistant District Attorney Albert Rosenblatt commented.

Leary was arraigned Monday in Millbrook at the Town Hall. Hitchcock appeared in Poughkeepsie at the County Court-house. Warrants for their arrest were issued Saturday following a raid on the Leary estate which supposedly netted a quantity of substances reputed to be LSD and marijuana.

Rosenblatt told The Freeman the raid was the aftermath of a six-month undercover investigation by an informant named Fenton O'Hare, publisher of an art magazine housed in Tarrytown.

In a sworn deposition, O'Hare said he undertook the job at the request of his brother, a priest at St. Peter's Catholic Church in Poughkeepsie. O'Hare declared that while an agent he had taken LSD at the Leary estate.

Leary told newsmen, "I can't imagine O'Hare was working directly for the Catholic Church. In fact I have wired Archbishop John McGuire asking that he disaffiliate the Church from this sworn report."

Leary said that O'Hare had come to the estate several months back pretending to be a student of religion. He added, "I don't believe he participated in religious services while here."

Leary likened the use of LSD and marijuana as sacraments to his religion, reminding newsmen that various churches used alcohol during Prohibition. He said his religion, the

Sen. Percy, Wife Are Unhurt As Cong Mortars Hit Nearby

SAIGON (AP) — Sen. Charles Percy, his wife and seven other Americans escaped injury today when Communist gunners opened up with mortars and small arms during a spur-of-the-moment, unescorted visit the Illinois Republican made to the devastated village of Dakson.
